Residents, interns in L.A. vote to go back to work

But talks to improve patient care continue

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Residents and interns of the Los Angeles County hospital system voted overwhelmingly Friday to return to work while continuing negotiations to improve patient care.

Doctors met at three county hospitals Friday morning to vote on the back-to-work resolution.

"At all three hospitals there was an overwhelming majority who voted in favor of going back to work, showing good faith and continuing negotiations with the county," said Dr. James MacIntyre, vice president of the Joint Council of Interns and Residents. Doctors were advised to return to their posts as of 4 p.m. Friday, MacIntyre said.

A marathon negotiating session with a state mediator Thursday night produced what county spokesmen called some progress on both sides. About 250 interns and residents paid an unscheduled visit to county supervisors Thursday, waiting three hours before supervisors would let them air their grievances.

Spokesman for the county health services reported that 411 of 1,023 interns and residents scheduled were not on duty Friday. USC-County Medical center was again the hardest hit with 385 of 699 doctors scheduled to work out on strike. Doctors were also out at Martin Luther King, Harbor General hospitals and Rancho Los Amigos facility.

Another negotiating session has been scheduled by the county for May 3, provided the doctors return to work, a county spokesman said. The 11-hour meeting Thursday resulted in both sides making "some reasonable concessions," the spokesman said. "We're hopeful that the membership will agree that we have made sufficient movement to continue with the negotiatins process."

County officials still maintain they will follow standard county procedures to fire any doctors who remain on strike for more than three days, but doctors say any settlement must contain a provision for striker amnesty.

Talks between the county and doctors broke down earlier this week. Doctors say patient care and loss of benefits are major issues

The interns and residents want the county to put $5 million into a patient care fund set up as an experiment last year, but so far the county has offered $100,000. The fund, which was bankrolled at about $1 million this year, was used to purchase equipment for the hospitals. Spokesman for the doctors say they hope to use the fund for hiring personnel and purchasing other equipment this year.

Loss of traditional benefits, such as meal privileges, is also at issue in the strike.

THE PEACEFUL PARADE

Thousands of Bostonians marched in Boston Friday deploring violance and urging peace. This crowd of marchers gathered at Boston Common where prayers by leaders of all faiths were given after a week of racial beatings. The march was led by Sens. Edward M. Kennedy and Edward W. Brooke, Gov. Michael Dukakis and Mayor Keven H. White.

Californians criticize austerity program,

Postmen picket, hope to upgrade service

By The Associated Press

Pickets went up at post offices throughout California Friday as mail carriers protested what they claim is a conspiracy to destroy public control of the U.S. Postal Service.

Union spokesmen stressed the action is not a strike and that all picketing is being done by off-duty workers.

Workers say the campaign has been organized to explain why service deteriorates as the cost of postage increases.

Postal union officials said Friday was chosen for the demonstration because it is expected that the postal subsidy bill would be out of the U.S. Senate by the end of April. The union also said postal management in the Western Region, primarily California, is planning a 12 per cent cutback in services which includes elimination of Saturday delivery by May 31.

"We want the public to know the postal employes want to give better service to the people," said Los Angeles Letter Carriers Union vice president Carleton Tyler. "But because of the austerity program that the post office is undertaking, we're not able to give the level of service that we believe every American citizen is entitled to."

The union ran an item in Thursday's Fresno Bee which charged "It's management that has been cutting downtown business deliveries and now talks of cutting home deliveries to three days a week."

One picket arrived at the main post office in Fresno wearing a Revolutionary War era costume.

Spence Burton, vice president of the San Francisco Letter Carriers Local, said postal workers are not protesting for their own benefit.

A GREETING FOR MOTHER

Victoria Fyodorova Pouy, right, greets her mother Zoya Fyodorova with a kiss at New York's Kennedy Airport Friday evening. Anti-busing rally to draw 40,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — Anti-busing groups from around the country are assembling in the nation's capital for a march and rally that organizers say could draw up to 40,000 persons.

The protest, to include a 1½-mile-long parade today from the Washington Monument to the Capitol where a rally will be staged on the west steps, is being sponsored by a Louisville, Ky., antibusing group.

But a spokesman for that group — Union Labor Against Busing — said Friday night that members of antibusing groups in as many as 20 other states are also participating.

The demonstration is aimed at persuading Congress to pass laws to ban the use of forced busing to achieve school desegregation, but the rally is more likely to be seen by thousands of Bicentennial tourists than by members of Congress who are still on their Easter vacation.

The demonstration comes a day after a crowd estimated at 100,000 marched through Boston streets to protest a week-long spree of racial beatings and stonings.

Both Boston and Louisville have been torn by racial tension since court-ordered school desegregation plans requiring extensive cross-busing were put in force last fall.

The ULAB, the largest of a number of Louisville antibusing groups, staged a similar protest in Washington last October, drawing about 8,000 persons.

Jack Shore, president of the group and chief organizer for today's march, said this demonstration is better organized than the first.

He said it has been three or four months in planning, while "last time we only planned three weeks ahead of time."

Shore said the Washington rally was planned because "we've been told by the politicians at the local level that there wasn't anything they could possibly do to stop court-ordered busing."

Racial beatings in Boston

100,000 marchers protest violent week

BOSTON (AP) — A crowd estimated at 100,000 marched through downtown Boston on Friday to protest a week of racial beatings and stonings, but the poor whites and blacks responsible for much of the trouble were noticeably absent.

The mile-long procession, led by politicians and clergymen, ended with a prayer session on the steps of City Hall. The marchers, almost exclusively white, were mostly well-dressed workers who had been given time off from their jobs in government and business office buildings.

While they walked, two victims of the violence remained hospitalized. One, a man, had severe brain damage, and the other, a girl, a skull fracture. Both are white and were attacked by gangs of blacks in separate incidents during the past week.

The current wave of unrest began two weeks ago when a black lawyer was beaten during a white antibusing demonstration and escalated in recent days with racial beatings and stonings in poor black and white neighborhoods. It was the latest outburst in a city wracked by racial tension since busing for integration began two years ago.

Friday's "Procession Against Violence" came one day after 22 people were hurt in a bomb blast at the Suffolk County Courthouse. That incident has not been linked with the racial trouble.

White antibusing groups boycotted the rally, and few blacks showed up, either.

Early to bed but set clock

WASHINGTON (AP) — You should be going to bed an hour earlier than usual tonight — at least according to your clock.

That's because, when you hit the sack tonight, it will be time to set your clock ahead an hour, marking the arrival of Daylight Saving Time.

The change gives you more hours of light in the afternoon and evening to enjoy the summer weather outdoors and it officially takes effect at 2 a.m. Sunday, continuing until 2 a.m. Oct. 31.

The Senate approved a bill to extend daylight time to seven months this year and next, from mid-March to mid-October. But inaction in the House kept the plan from becoming law.

Weather

Night and morning low clouds becoming mostly sunny in the afternoon today and Sunday. Highs both days near 70; overnight lows in the mid-50s. Sunrise Sunday 6:08 a.m. Sunset Sunday 7:30 p.m.

Russian actress finds her daughter again

NEW YORK (AP) — Russian actress Zoya Fyodorova arrived here Friday night for a tearful but joyous reunion with her only child, a daughter born of a World War II romance with an American naval officer.

The 64-year-old Miss Fyodorova and her daughter Victoria fell into each other's arms at Kennedy Airport when the older woman arrived from the Soviet Union to await the birth of her first grandchild. The mother wore fur-trimmed brown coat and hat.

"I have a lovely daughter and am so happy to be here," Miss Fyodorova told newsmen, in an interview partly in English and partly in Russian, which was translated by an employe of Aeroflot, the Soviet airline.

Asked whether she would see her wartime lover, retired Adm. Jackson R. Tate, Miss Fodorova said she hoped it might be possible.

"It is a little to early to answer that question" her son-in-law said.

"I love my father but I cannot go through my mother's heart," added Victoria. "That is a private matter between them."

Nixon's future bright, says younger brother

SEATTLE (AP) — Ed Nixon, younger brother of the former president, says Richard Nixon has recovered from phlebitis, probably will publish a book in about a year, and "his future is bright."

Ed Nixon, at 46, 17 years younger than Richard, said in an interview with KING television news here Friday, "I'm hopeful that in the next few years, as the years proceed now, he will be able to get back into the kind of statesman-like work that he's been so good at."

Nixon did not say what such work might involve.

The younger Nixon said the entire family had generally recovered from the Watergate trauma that was capped by Nixon's August 1974 resignation.

"We Nixons are fairly resiliant when it comes to emotional distress," he said. He added that his biggest problem during that period was answering questions "from people who don't understand the underlying facts."

He did not explain the comment further.

He also said his two children, both in high school now, weathered the experience well.

"I haven't had to explain very much (to them)," he said.

Want black woman president

Students free 14 college trustees

ATLANTA (AP) — Spelman College students released 14 college trustees they had locked in a room for 26 hours after the trustees agreed Friday to discuss student demands for a black woman president.

Faculty member Millicent Dobbs Jordan, a spokeswoman for protesting students, teachers and alumnae at the predominantly black woman's college, said the trustees agreed to meet with four students and two representatives each from the administrative staff, faculty and alumnae.

Mrs. Jordan, aunt of Atlanta Mayor Maynard Jackson, said the board would discuss the possibility of organizing a new search committee and rescinding its appointment Thursday of Dr. Donald Stewart, a black who is now a dean at the University of Pennsylvania.

The lockin began Thursday when the trustees named Stewart to succeed Dr. Albert Manley, also a black. The protesters lashed the board room doors shut with a rope after learning that the board had ignored demands for a black woman president.

An estimated 500 to 600 students at the 1,200-student campus spent the night in the halls outside the room.

"We're going to make the trustees believe that Spelman women mean business," vowed Jeta Edwards, a senior majoring in philosophy.

Some faculty members and alumnae brought food to the students. The captive trustees — seven men and seven women — apparently sustained themselves on snack food they had brought to the board meeting. The demonstrators supplied trustees with drinking water, bedsheets, toilet paper and trash cans intended for use as toilets.

On Friday morning, the students allowed Manley and Board Chairman Francis B. Rogers to re-enter the board room and negotiate with trustees. Both had been allowed to leave Thursday because of poor health.

Manley is retiring at age 68 after 23 years as president. He was preceded by four white women presidents.

Soliah story backed

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — A masseuse testified Friday that Steven Soliah was with her in San Francisco the night before and the night after a Sacramento bank robbery in which he is charged, but said she couldn't remember the morning of the robbery.

"I don't have a specific recollection of that morning — of that period," Emily Toback testified at Soliah's trial in U.S. District Court.

Soliah had testified he was at Miss Toback's house, 95 miles from Sacramento, when the Crocker National Bank branch in suburban Carmichael was robbed the morning of April 21, 1975. A woman customer was killed by a shotgun blast during the robbery.

Both sides rested shortly after Miss Toback's testimony. The case, which has lasted seven weeks, could go to the jury on Monday after closing arguments. If convicted, the blond, 27-year-old housepainter could get life in prison.

His testimony Thursday had included a description of his life with Patricia Hearst.

Miss Toback, a brunette wearing a pants suit, described her job as "corrective massage." U.S. Atty. Dwayne Keyes asked her if she worked at a massage parlor.

"The title of the place is Body and Mind Clinic," she replied.

Striking rubber workers to apply for food stamps

CLEVELAND (AP) — Negotiations recessed for the weekend Friday while most of the 60,000 striking United Rubber Workers drew their last full paychecks and many began applying for food stamps.

Before the bargaining rooms here emptied Friday, federal mediator Gayle Weinriter said, "We made some progress."

Peter Bommarito, URW international president, agreed it was "a healthy discussion" but added that if Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. didn't come closer to meeting what the URW has sought, the URW was likely to start raising its demands.

At many union headquarters among the Big Four's 47 U.S. plants, URW teams were preparing to help members seek food stamps.

Strike benefit payments of $35 a week were not to begin until the first week of May but would continue for two weeks after the strike ends.

With $6 million in reserve that would be used up in three weeks, the union already has planned a special convention to replenish its funds and also hopes to borrow, perhaps from such other unions as the United Auto Workers, which has given such help in the past.

The strike began with Tuesday's midnight expiration of master contracts with Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., B.F. Goodrich Co. and Uniroyal Inc. The URW concentrated its efforts on Firestone in the belief it was most likely to produce a pact that would set the pattern for the rest.

An award ceremony will follow at the festival site, Grand Avenue and Diamond Bar Boulevard.

More than 100 units will participate in the parade, Mrs. Bishop said, including 16 bands, 21 equestrian units, floats and novelty acts.

Philbin currently hosts KABC-TV's "A.M. Los Angeles" and is entertainment editor for Channel 7 "Eyewitness News." He hosts the ABC network game show titled "The Neighbors." He is married, lives in Hollywood and has two children.

He's going for a walk—2 years around the U.S.

By JON MORRIS
PB Staff Writer

Rick Ronshausen figured his mother was "crazy" when she suggested that he walk to New York.

But today, Ronshausen doesn't feel it was such a bad idea.

The 22-year-old San Dimas man is leaving this morning on a 6,000-mile backpacking journey across the country that he estimates will take about two years.

"It's no publicity stunt," said Ronhausen. "I felt this was a good way to travel, and the United States is the best country to travel in."

Carrying a 90-pound backpack on his trip, Ronshausen plans to keep a daily journal while traveling and to later write a book.

He will take a bus today to Eureka and begin his backpacking from there. Ronshausen hopes to reach Loring Air Force Base in Maine, his final destination, by May 1, 1978.

Ronshausen will visit 48 states, but very few main roads or highways. He plans to travel along various rivers, staying 20 miles from a main road to avoid being robbed or attacked.

His heavy backpack includes two-month food supply, clothing, maps, binoculars, sleeping bag and tent.

Ronshausen plans to visit relatives along the way, and his mother and sister will join him for a few weeks in Utah this summer.

Basically, Ronshausen, former janitor at San Dimas Community Hospital, had the itch to travel and that's why he's going. "I talked casually about backpacking and my mother said, why not walk to New York?"

Ronshausen thought about it for a year, and finally decided to make the journey.

After the trip, he plans to write a book. "I think I'll call it the 6,000-mile man."

Candidates

Who's facing whom in state primary, general elections?

By L. T. ROGERS
Asst. City Editor

Area voters will have a "feast or famine" in selecting political party nominees for state and federal offices at the June primary elections.

Some ballots will contain multiple party choices while others list only one party nominee.

Those candidates winning their party's nomination will then face opposing party selections at the November general election.

One area candidate will go through both the primary and general elections without opposition. He is Rep. John Rousselot, a Republican who represents the 26th Congressional District. No Democratic candidates had filed for the office.

Other districts where candidates will have no party opposition in the primary but will meet in the general election are:

— 35th Congressional District where Rep. Jim Lloyd, a Democrat and incumbent, is challenged by Covina Mayor Louis Brutocao, a Republican.

— 25th State Senatorial District where state Sen. H. L. Richardson, a Republican now representing the 19th Senatorial District, is challenged by Ronald Barbatoe, a Democrat and West Covina attorney for the reapportioned district.

— 62nd Assembly District where Assemblyman William Lancaster, a Republican and incumbent, is challenged by Sandy Baldonado, a Democrat and Covina economic analyst.

In the 33rd Congressional District, however, Democrats will have to select a candidate from three party hopefuls. They are Dr. Philip Megdal, a Norwalk dentist, Merl T. Doty, a Downey educator, and Ted Snyder of Whittier, a community college administrator.

The Republicans have only one candidate, Rep. Del Clawson, the incumbent.

Both Democrats and Republicans will have multiple choices in the 33rd state Senatorial District where three Democrats and four Republicans are seeking their parties endorsements.

The Democratic candidates are Norwalk Councilman Cecil Green, Santa Fe Springs Council member Betty Wilson and Gerald Olivet of Whittier, a governmental affairs adviser.

Seeking the Republican nomination are Phil Ortiz, a Downey business executive; Andy Harrison, a Whittier tour bus driver; Assemblyman William Campbell of Hacienda Heights now represents the 64th District; and Angel L. Soto of Cerritos, an aircraft maintenance mechanic.

In the 64th Assembly District, three Democrats, four Republicans and one member of the American Independent Party are seeking the seat being vacated by Campbell.

The Democrats are George Aames, Rowland Heights, an attorney; Stan Carroll, Whittier, community college teacher; and James E. Gonsalves, La Mirada, a county supervisor's deputy.

The Republicans are Sue Ellen Blevens, Whittier, educational counselor; Councilman Wayne Grisham, La Mirada; M. David Stirling, Hacienda Heights, counselor-at-law; and Jarrold Lawson Jr., Hacienda Heights, sales consultant.

Lone candidate for the American Independent Party is Larry A. Breazeale, Rowland Heights, a welder and ironworker.

In the 65th Assembly District, two candidates will vie for the Republican Party nomination. They are Clyde R. Stephens, Pomona, a quality control engineer, and Don Donnelly, Pomona, a fireman and employe relations representative.

Assemblyman Bill McVittie of Upland, the Democratic 65th District incumbent, is without party opponents.

However, Assemblyman Terry Goggin, Democratic incumbent in the 66th Assembly District, must face councilman John M. Bareno of Rialto, an educator and philosopher, in the June primary.

The winner will then meet Tamara J. Wolfingarger, a Fontana businesswoman, the only Republican candidate, in the November general election.

Sheriff stations to be modified

Two local sheriff's stations will undergo modifications this spring and summer to control temperatures in microwave rooms that house sensitive electronic equipment in dispatch systems.

The substations at Industry and San Dimas are among 16 throughout Los Angeles County slated for the improvements.

First District Supervisor Peter Schabarum says present environmental conditions at the stations are detrimental to the costly equipment and jeopardize the system's efficiency.

The county is expected to call for bids next month.

Time to spring —ahead

Spring forward!

Daylight Savings Time comes to the valley at 2 a.m. Sunday and residents are advised to set their watches and clocks forward one hour if they want to stay within the system.

Morning will come an hour sooner but the sun will stay around an hour longer in the evening. Daylight time will stay around until next October, when Americans will set their time back one hour for standard time.

Death on beach

CORONA DEL MAR (AP) — A 52-year-old Newport Beach man has shot and killed a fellow worker during a stroll on the beach, then turned the gun on himself, police said.

Authorities said both men were dead on arrival at a local hospital. Walter Andrew Ebert fired two shots into the face and body of William A. Bement, 51, of Anaheim, before firing his .38-caliber revolver once at his own head.

Building record in Chino

Building activity in Chino continues to set a record pace, with nearly $10 million in valuations recorded for March, the biggest month in the city's history.

A total of $9,927,590 was recorded last month for 941 permits, pushing valuations for the first three months of 1976 to $18,066,819. That total is more than $12 million higher than the same period of 1975, which was a record year.

As usual, single family homes accounted for the major part of valuations for March. Permits for 240 homes were given, for $8,876,937 in valuations, according to city building official Ben F. Joy.

"Our record building shows no signs of slacking off," said Joy. "Permits were given in March for homes which will make up eight new housing tracts in the city."

Other valuations were for two commercial buildings, $129,169; an agricultural building, $3,798; swimming pools, signs and miscellaneous, and additions and repairs. The commercial structures include a new optometry building at 12536 10th St., for $93,169; and the interior of the Dos Pesos restaurant at 12027 Central Ave., for $36,000.

Masons laud work of special ed teachers

Thirty special education teachers in Pomona's public schools — those who teach children who have physical, emotional and mental impairments — were honored this week by two Masonic lodges.

As spokesman for the lodges — Pomona Masonic Lodge 246 and Compass Lodge 590 — Glenn A. Dellenbach praised the men and women as being "very special and very dovoted, with understanding, energy and dedication."

"These people dedicate their lives to make other lives richer and more meaningful," said Dellenbach. "Today special education teachers help young persons with problems find jobs. This is a wonderful thing."

As their names were read, the teachers stood and were applauded by the capacity audience at the school board meeting. They were Donna Stevenson, Mary Breiner, Richard Richardson, Alma Rogers, Jane Estupinian, Dorothy Heard, Yolanda Segura, John McCahan, Delaine Sanders, Woodrow Davis, Ron D'Alessando, Joe Corey, Lynn Underwood, Ann Goulding, Sonya Davis, Jerry Duffy, Elinor Hamilton, Collette Felder, Marlee McWain, Julie Ritchev, Rita Isaacson, Mitzie Mayer, Dorothy Walker, John Hauk, Stephanie Timms, Charles Porto, Nancy Anderson, Bonnie Thompson, Bob Wojahn and Al Henry.

Rubylee Gracy, coordinator of special education in the district, also was honored.

Dellenbach said certificates of appreciation would be mailed to each one by the Masons.

The occasion was the Masons' annual observance of Public Schools Month. Officers of both lodges were present and were introduced. Dellenbach read a proclamation issued by Pomona City Council claiming this week as Public Schools Week in Pomona.

During April all 21 elementary schools, 10 secondary schools and the adult school in the district are holding open houses.

Valley briefs

Slaying suspect to take stand

Samuel Jones, accused of slaying an Ontario drug counselor on Nov. 25, is expected to take the witness stand in his own defense Monday in West Valley Superior Court.

In opening the defense Thursday, Jones's attorney, Ted Hewett, said that only two defense witnesses would appear, one Jones himself. He said that Jones will explain what happened on Nov. 25 and the preceding dates that should clarify the questions raised in the case.

Jones is accused of slaying Raymond Meras, an Ontario drug counselor. Meras was found dead on Nov. 26 of what was described in the trial as a gunshot wound of the head. Police arrested Jones and another Ontario man, Francis Anthony, for investigation of murder in the case.

Since their arrest, Anthony pleaded guilty to being an accessory after the fact in the murder and became the key prosecution witness. The prosecution alleges that Jones killed Meras in the course of a robbery.

The jury was recessed by Judge Clifton L. Allen Thursday afternoon, explaining that he and the attorneys would be working on jury instructions until Monday when they would be recalled.

CIM inmate stabbed twice

A 20-year-old California Institution for Men inmate was listed in good condition in the prison hospital Friday after being attacked and stabbed twice Thursday afternoon.

Inmate David M. Guillen, who was convicted of second degree burglary in Los Angeles and arrived at CIM only Tuesday, suffered a stab wound of the neck and hip, prison authorities said.

Guillen, said authorities, was unable to give correctional officers a description of his assailants.

Correctional officers moving the inmates back into their cells following an afternoon headcount were unaware of the incident until Guillen walked up to them and asked for medical treatment.

Authorities said no weapons were found in a special "shakedown" inspection at the hall.

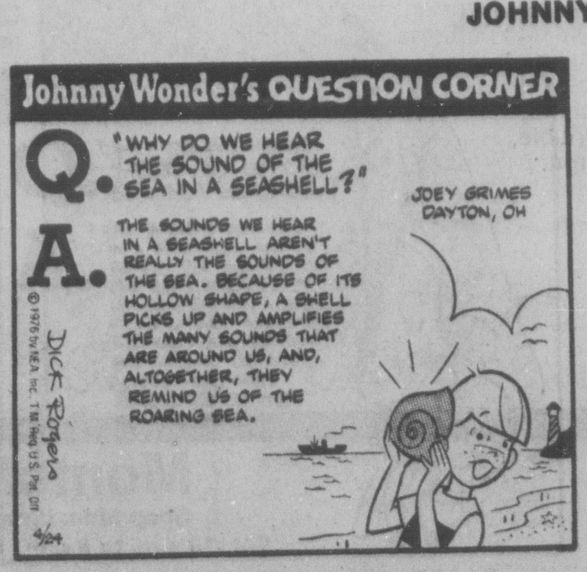
JOHNNY WONDER



Perhaps you have had the fun of holding an empty seashell close to your ear and imagining that you heard the roaring of the sea.

Of course, the sounds you hear in a seashell are not really the sound of the crashing waves or the roaring of the sea. This is just a pretty notion.

The sounds that you hear are really the many sounds that are always being made around you.

The hollow body of a seashell, like the body of a violin or guitar, acts like a resonator — something that makes noises resound or echo back and forth.

The seashell picks up the many sounds around you. Some of these sounds are so faint that you may not hear them at all without the seashell.

The smooth inner surfaces of the hollow shell cause the sounds to resound, or echo, within the shell. This amplifies, or strengthens, the many sounds, so that, altogether, they make a sound that reminds us of the roaring of the ocean.

A pocket radio, camera, World Almanac globe or other fine prize will be awarded to the first youngster sending in a question used here. Send your question and your age to Johnny Wonder, (c/o this newspaper), Box 1335 (DA), Santa Cruz, CA 95061.

Juries giving doctors better break

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California juries are being kinder to doctors this year than in the past, giving them favorable verdicts in nearly four out of five malpractice cases, a study says.

The report last week by Jury Verdicts Weekly magazine said doctors won 66 per cent of malpractice trials in 1974, 73 per cent in 1975 and 79 per cent in the first three months of this year.

The figures don't show the disposition of many large malpractice suits, which are settled out of court. But some lawyers say settlements are becoming fewer and harder to get.

Rodney Klein, a Sacramento attorney who handles malpractice cases, says insurance companies are being told by their lawyers "to go to trial where liability will be difficult to prove.

"On a close case, they won't settle," Klein says. "They are forcing the cases to trial."

The survey said doctors won 142 of 215 malpractice trials in California two years ago, 157 of 215 last year, and 38 of 48 in the first three months of this year.

The figures may reflect jurors' reactions to publicity about the hardships doctors are suffering because of soaring malpractice insurance rates.

"There are cases which were lost because jurors were taken in by the alleged crisis," says Ralph Drayton, another Sacramento lawyer who handles malpractice cases.

Klein says he has encountered many a juror who feels "that if he brings a verdict against one doctor, it will cause hardship against the whole medical profession by raising their insurance premiums."

The legislature, meanwhile, is pondering several malpractice bills which would cut doctors' premiums to an average of $4,000 a year but raise them in the future.

Other proposals would take malpractice cases out of the courts altogether, sending them to an arbitration panel.

Some doctors reportedly are now requiring patients to sign a form before treatment agreeing to arbitration in case of a malpractice complaint.

But some doctors apparently are having second thoughts about arbitration.

Dr. David Rubsamen of Berkeley, a lawyer and physician who writes a monthly newsletter about malpractice, says recent trends in jury trials justify a "wait-and-see attitude (about arbitration) for another year or two."

"Physicians have been receiving much better treatment from juries in the past year," he writes.

"This has been seen in the very large number of marginal cases which the defense has won and in the comparatively lower verdicts awarded in cases which are lost."

Predicter of quake wouldn't be afraid

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Caltech scientist who cautiously predicts Southern California is due for a major earthquake within the next year said he would not be afraid to live near the projected epicenter of the projected quake.

Only common-sense personal precautions should be taken, Dr. James Whitcomb of the California Institute of Technology said, as he stressed the experimental nature of his method in making the quake prediction.

He said his only precaution was to remove hi-fi loudspeakers from the walls of his home and place them on the floor.

"Given the uncertainity of the method, I don't think we can call upon more drastic action than that," the geophysicist said at a news conference.

Whitcomb also noted that his forecasting method, having to to with the changes in speed of sound waves traveling through the potential quake area, seems to be losing favor in Russia — where it was developed some 10 years ago.

But a sociologist who headed a National Academy of Sciences study of earthquake prediction and public policy last year said Whitcomb's prediction should spur a number of actions.

"There is no way at this stage of the state of quake forecasting that we will have a 100 per cent certain tag," said Dr. Ralph Turner, a professor at UCLA.

"We have to go ahead and start acting."

Turner said the most immediate concern should be updating or demolishing vulnerable buildings constructed before anti-earthquake codes were instituted in 1933.

He claimed efforts to do so by the city Building and Safety Department has been slowed by a lack of legal muscle and money.

"Most of the people who will be killed will be killed in buildings that collapse, and most of them will be ones we've known for years are not safe."

Whitcomb was asked at the news conference why he made his prediction public if he could not be more certain about its reliability.

"Our field is so visible to the public that even if we wanted to, we could not keep these tests quiet," he replied. "Therefore we must live with the fact that this test is going to be visible and we must label it as such...it is only a test and that's all I'm saying."

Pays high price for his vodka

MOSCOW (AP) — A drunken tractor driver who slammed his machine three times into a store that wouldn't sell him vodka has been sentenced to four years in jail in the city of Kirov southwest of Moscow, Izvestia has reported.

The government newspaper said the tractor first sheared off the store's front steps, then took a corner off the building and finally became wedged in its front door.

"This saved the terrified customers and the resolute salesman," Izvestia said.

Records fall at Relays as local athletes shine

By MIKE BROSSART
PB Staff Writer

One national junior college record fell along with several meet standards Friday in the first day of the three-day Mt. San Antonio Relays.

Action will continue today beginning at 8 a.m. with the marathon and will end at about 5:15 p.m.

The invitational events will highlight today's schedule, with such featured performers as Don Quarrie and Dave Taylor in the sprints, other Dave Roberts in the pole vault, Tom Woods and Rory Kotenik in the high jump, Bill Schmidt and Kathy Schmidt in the javelin, Willie Banks and Arnie Robinson in the long jump and Mac Wilkins in the discus. A host of track clubs and university track powers will compete, including the latest addition to the field, San Jose State.

Fullerton Junior College trimmed two-tenths of a second from the national JC distance medley record with Barry Hyde, Phil Wingard, Armando Cendejas and Jose Saavedra covering the 440, 880, 1320 and mile in 9:50.8. The foursome finished one second behind UC Irvine in an Open Division race.

MSAC's Marcus Gordien broke his own meet record in the junior college discus and just missed surpassing Steve Brown's national standard of 194 feet, 10 inches. Gordien, who held the national record himself earlier in the year, hurled the discus 194-8½ Friday to surpass the Relays record of 184-7½ which he set last year as a San Bernardino Valley College student.

Brown, from Fullerton JC, posted a 190-9½ to finish second to Gordien. The two are expected to continue their year-long record-setting duel today in the invitational discus.

Gordien saw another of his Relays records broken Friday when Mark Malone of El Cajon Valley High hurled the discus 55.80 meters, the equivalent of 183 feet, 1 inch. Gordien set the old mark prep of 182-3 while at Claremont High in 1973.

Another JC meet record was erased when Keith Taylor of Harbor went 51½ in the triple jump and Jim Knaub of Cal State Long Beach set the only college division record of the day with a pole vault of 5.20 meters (17-1).

Three local athletes besides Gordien — MSAC's Andre Hall and Steve Miller and Ganesha High's Lloyd Jones — won invitational events. Hall captured the JC 110-meter high hurdles with a wind-aided 14.3 while Jones won the same event in the prep division in 14.4 seconds. Miller won the JC high jump by clearing 6-8½.

Jones' win came in a good race. Al Sanford of Loyola also clocked a 14.4, Tom Lewis of Muir finished in 14.6 and Pomona's Ernest Jarnigan and Fontana's Paul Wilson both ran 14.7.

Pomona High won Friday's invitational 880-yard relay in 43.2 seconds with a foursome of Terry Andrews, Charles Cole, Jim Donaldson and Karsem James.

The Red Devils won five relays or relay heats besides that one. Jim Middleton, Marty Johnson, Darnell Shaw and Jarnigan won their heat of the 480 high hurdles shuttles in 1:01.6; Anthony Miley, Michael Jones, Cole and Andrews combined to win a mile relay race in 3:26.5; Andrews, Cole, Donaldson and James captured the 440-meter relay in 43.2, and Sharon Miller, Monique Gregoire, Pam Green and Barney Carral combined for wins in the girls' sprint medley and mile relays.

Ganesha's Floyd Eddings, Richard Harry, Carl Bailey and Jones won a mile relay in 3:22.6 and Garey's Tori Shepard, Larry Jones, Stan Webster and Morris Cole combined for a 3:23.6 to win yet another four-lap relay.

Montclair's foursome of Tony Valverde, Arnold Mello, Danny Valge and Mike Roza won a heat of the sprint medley relay in 3:36.0, edging runnerup Pomona.

Webster finished second in the invitational long jump to Fontana's Wilson, the defending state champ. Their wind-aided marks were 23-¾ and 24-5, respectively.

A meet record was set in the JC invitational long jump, strangely, by the fourth-place finisher. Ned Armour of San Diego Mesa went 24-4½ with allowable wind while three better marks were wind-aided and could not replace the meet record. Bruce Smith of Ventura won at 25-3½ and Citrus' Harold Carter was second at 24-7¾.

Carter, Mike Damiels, Calvan Dupleasis and Dave Sharp won a heat of the JC sprint medley relay in 3:19.3 while MSAC's Steve Zak, Edgar Orange, Don Reeves and Raymond Reeb won a 400-meter relay in 42.1. Mark Booth of the Mounties placed second in the javelin at 200-8.

Pomona-Pitzer's Steve Smith won a heat of the college division 110 high hurdles in 14.4 and Cal Poly's Paul Nelson won the 400 intermediates in 54.5, through Pomona-Pitzer's Dan Orr was third in another heat in a slightly better 54.4. Poly placed second in both the 440 and 880 relays and Pomona-Pitzer won the distance medley and was runnerup in the mile relay.

Pomona High's Hank Zibell was a disappointing fourth in the invitational shot put behind John McKenzie's 64-¼. Notre Dame's Kevin Hall won the high jump at 6-6¾.

L.A. Rams sign 2 free agents

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Wide receiver Glen Cotton of Fresno State and defensive back Pat Manus of Cal Poly San Luis Obispo were signed Friday as free agents by the Los Angeles Rams.

Cotton, 24, stands 6-foot-2 and weights 200. He caught 53 passes the past two seasons at Fresno State.

Manus, 6-2 and 195 is 22. He was a second team all California Collegiate Athletic Association player last season.

Cubs nip punchless Dodgers

By BILL LANGLEY
PB Sports Editor

LOS ANGELES—The frustrated Dodgers wasted several golden opportunities Friday night in suffering a 4-3 loss to the Chicago Cubs in 11 innings.

But it was nothing compared to what the Cubs wasted in what should have been an easy victory for the visitors.

Chicago pounded out 13 hits against four Dodger pitchers and had six walks but stranded 15 men on base. L.A. "only" left 10.

The Cubs used three back-to-back singles after two outs in top of the 11th to pull out the win against loser Al Downing, who was making only his second appearance of the season.

After Downing retired the first two batters in the 11th, Jerry Morales beat out an infield single. Andy Thornton followed a single to left to advance Morales to third and Manny Trillo brought Morales home with the winning run with a bloop hit to left.

Paul Reuschel retired the Dodgers in order in the bottom of the 11th to pick up his first victory of the season.

It was a rough night for the Dodgers before another big crowd (41,231 on Ball Night). L.A. is 0-3 at home and 3-9 for the season.

Dodger starter Burt Hooton didn't have it again Friday for his third subpar performance. The Cubs pounded their former teammate for three runs and eight hits in his five innings. If anything, Hooton was fortunate not to allow more runs.

Rick Monday opened the game with a double and scored on an infield out by Bill Madlock. Andy Thornton quickly made it 2-0 when he belted Hooton's first pitch of the second inning into the leftfield seats.

The Dodgers cut it to 2-1 in the bottom of the fourth after Chicago starter Rav Burris walked Ted Sizemore and Dusty Baker to open the frame. Joe Ferguson's single eventually scored Baker.

Chicago got its two-run lead back in the fifth when Thornton scored on Ferguson's error when the Dodger catcher couldn't hang on to John Hale's throw after Steve Swisher singled. The throw was at the plate in plenty of time but Fergy didn't have the ball when he tagged Thornton.

The Dodgers got a gift run in the sixth thanks to a pair of walks plus a balk call of reliever Oscar Zamora to bring Steve Garvey home.

An error by shortstop Dave Rosello led to the tying run in the seventh when Steve Yeager singled and continued to third when Rosello booted Sizemore's grounder. Yeager scored on Baker's ground out.

The Dodgers wasted a big chance in the ninth against Mike Garman. With one out, Bill Buckner and Sizemore hit back-to-back singles. Buckner then stole third but Garman stuck out Baker and got Garvey on an easy grounder.

DODGER DATA — Don Sutton (0-3) will face Bill Bonham (1-1) in this evening's 7 p.m. contest while Rick Rhoden (1-0) will face Steve Stone (0-0) at 1 p.m. Sunday. Pittsburgh and St. Louis come in next week.

The Cubs have a team earned run average of 6.50. Chicago pitchers have allowed 81 runs and 143 hits in 12 games.

MSAC's Pokorski heads for Fullerton

Tom Pokorski, a star forward for two years at Mt. San Antonio College, has signed a letter of intent to Cal State Fullerton.

Pokorski, a 6-foot-7, 215-pounder, is expected to step into a starting role at CSF, according to Titan coach Bobby Dye. Pokorski was a two-time All-South Coast Conference pick while at MSAC, and helped the Mounties to a share of the SCC cage crown this past season.

The Edgewood High graduate is also a pitcher in the Boston Red Sox farm system.

Mountie coach Gene Victor also announced that the other four graduating sophomores on the MSAC squad are being highly sought after by four-year schools.

Center Duaine Harding is expected to go to either San Jose St. or UC Irvine, while forward Kirk Christ (a Walnut High product) is considering either UCI or Cal Poly San Luis Obispo. Guard Jeff Nelson (from San Dimas High) will probably attend either UC San Diego, Redlands or La Verne.

Giants reset Dodger rain out

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco Giants announced Wednesday that a rained out game with the Los Angeles Dodgers will be made up Aug. 1 as part of a Candlestick Park doubleheader.

Cavs outlast Spartans

By SEAN SULLIVAN
PB Correspondent

Senior shortstop Ron Candelaria singled in the tenth inning and eventually scored as Montclair High retained its share of the top spot in the San Antonio League with its 5-4 victory over the Damien Spartans Friday afternoon.

The multi-inning thriller was highlighted by the fine pitching performances of Cavalier lefthander Rich LaBarge and Spartan hurler Todd Bell.

Both pitchers played relief roles as Bell took over from sophomore Rich Bustos (who looked impressive in his 4 1/3 innings of work) and LaBarge replaced Art Salazar in the sixth.

LaBarge, who started the game in centerfield, doubled in the fifth and scored on sophomore catcher Kent Gurney's single. Spartan skipper Matt Kolodge then looked to Bell for assistance.

But the Cavs picked up two more runs in the frame to make it 4-3 Montclair. Mike Corbo ripped a double down the leftfield line enabling Gurney to score and he eventually crossed the plate himself with the go-ahead run on an error by Spartan shortstop Bob Alexander.

Rightfielder Ken Normington led-off the sixth with a three-bagger off the fence in centerfield and scored on a wild pitch to even up the score.

Bell blanked the Cavs for the next four innings on six strikeouts and only gave up three walks, while his counterpart, LaBarge, let his defense do the work for him as the host's infield accounted for ten put-outs, including two timely double plays, in the final four frames.

After Candelaria singled in the tenth, third baseman Kelly Cardin moved him to second with a sacrifice bunt. LaBarge then followed by grounding out to Ed Enriquez at third base with Candelaria holding at second.

Second baseman Rick Adams then tapped a fly to shallow rightfield where second baseman Ricky Gonzales could not find the handle, enabling Candelaria to cross the plate with the winning run.

The initial tally came in the third frame as Enriquez singled, stole second, and scored on Ruben Lopez' basehit.

The hosts countered in their half of the frame as Cardin singled, went to second and third on two fastballs and scored on Adams' single.

Adams collected three hits in the contest as well as hitting the fly ball that enabled Candelaria to score.

The visitors picked up two more in the fourth as designated hitter Tony Cimino walked, Mark Schlesinger singled, and catcher Pete Fox ripped a single to score them both to put the Spartans in front 3-1.

Next Tuesday the Cavs host Garey and Damien travels to Ganesha. Both games are slated for 3:15 p.m. starts.

Angels find error costly in 4-2 loss

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Brewers rallied for three runs in the eighth inning, two of them unearned on a two-out throwing error by California shortstop Orlando Ramirez, and defeated the Angels 4-2 Friday night.

Don Money opened the inning with a double. One out later George Scott singled Money to third and he scored the tying run on Darrell Porter's sacrifice fly. After Sixto Lezcano singled, Kurt Bevacqua grounded to Ramirez but his throw to first was wild as two runs crossed.

The Angels had gone ahead in the top of the eighth when Bobby Bonds ripped a Jim Slaton pitch into the bullpen in right-center for his first home run of the season.

The Brewers took a 1-0 lead in the first inning on Scott's home run over the center field fence.

The Angels tied the score in the third on a single by Ramirez that scored Dave Chalk.

Angel pitcher Gary Ross took the loss despite 10 strikeouts.

The Brewers threatened in the second inning on one-out singles by Hank Aaron and Bobby Darwin. The threat was quelled on a double play as Charlie Moore struck out and Aaron was thrown out attempting to steal third.

The Angels threatened on Chalk's leadoff double in the fifth but Slaton retired the next three men on two grounders and a fly.

In the bottom of the fifth, Aaron collected his second hit, a leadoff single, and advanced to second when right fielder Bonds dropped Moore's high fly. Ross struck out Pedro Garcia and retired Money on a ground ball.

Slaton began to have control problems in the sixth, issuing consecutive walks to Bonds and Bill Melton, but Joe Lahoud flied out on a 3-0 pitch with runners on first and third to end the inning.

Mustangs move into first

By TIM CLARK
PB Correspondent

Walnut head coach Terry Murphy is confident. He should be. His Mustangs are coming on strong.

Murph's high-powered Walnut club moved into first place Friday afternoon at the Mustang diamond by suffocating Hacienda leader Bonita 2-0. Both teams now own identical 8-3 marks in league action.

It took only one inning (the fifth) for Walnut to polish off the Bearcats and their toughluck hurler Dave Drury. The Mustangs scored the games' only two runs on three hits and a costly throwing error.

Drury pretty well kept things under control through the first four innings, silencing the Mustang attack with only 49 pitches. But Rick Hunt, who struck out in his first appearance at the plate, led off the fifth by smashing Drury's first offering deep to right, good enough for a triple.

Following an out on a short fly ball, Keith McDermott (Walnut's No. 9 batter) singled crisply up the middle, scoring Hunt for a 1-0 lead. Drury then proceeded to load the bases by giving up a double to Ed Kimura and walking Jim Ziegler intentionally. Dave Olivas then hit a bouncer down the third base line, which the Bearcats' Bill Bumstead fielded easily and three home to catcher Scott Johnson.

But Bumsteads' throw was wild, skidding across the plate and rolling to the backstop. McDermott slid in home for run No. 2, and that was all she wrote (Bob Cordova ended the inning with an ground out).

McDermott was the game's only performer to collect two hits, and has been coming through in the clutch for the past three weeks (The senior center-fielder was the big spark in Walnut's unbelievable upset win over Chaffey in the Pomona Elks tournament last week.

The Mustangs Butch Long (5-3) was very impressive on the mound for the hosts, allowing only two hits (a clean single by Johnson in the third and a questionable infield hit by Steve Benoit in the fifth), recording four strikeouts and tossing only 89 pitches.

"We are exactly in the position that I thought we would be in by now," said Murphy. "We've been getting stronger and stronger with each outing, and out confidence is building progressively too. The winning attitude on this team is just super, these guys really wanted this one and decided that they were just going to bear down and execute."

"I'm glad I've stuck it out with Keith (McDermott) this year. There's no question about his defensive and base-running abilities, and now he's finally putting it together at the plate . . . he's really come alive the last couple of weeks. It's also nice to have a leader with an excelent attitude. Keith supplies this, he's a real leader and a real winner."

While Walnut is red-hot, Bonita continues to be a review in inconsistency. The Bearcats have now dropped five of their last seven games. Senior Drury deserves a better fate. The All-League outfielder has now dropped three decisions in a row on the mound (from 3-1 to 3-4), yet his ERA remains an excellent 1.14!

Johnson's safety gave him a four-for-five (.800) week, to go along with two walks, four stolen bases and an RBI. The 6-2, 190 lb senior is now batting .436 on the year, with 15 RBI and 18 stolen bases (four short of the school record). Johnson also gunned down a Mustang attempted steal.

Walnut will invade San Dimas Tuesday at 3:15 p.m. Curt Burkhart and the Saints shut out the Mustangs, 1-0, the first time around, noted Murphy with a glint in his eye. Bonita will battle it out with Sierra Vista at the Bearcat diamond on Tuesday, at 3:15 p.m.

Broncs' Scolinos reaches milestone

By BRENT SHYER
PB Correspondent

Cal Poly Pomona baseball coach John Scolinos reached a major milestone in his collegiate coaching career Friday afternoon at Pomona's Kellogg Field.

The Broncos handed skipper Scolinos his 700th victory in style, with a come-from-behind 5-4 win over rival Cal Poly San Luis Obispo.

"It never even dawned on me about this 700 deal," said the mild-mannered manager. "Really, I'm representing all the ball players I have had over the years — it is a tribute to them."

Trailing 4-2 going into the bottom of the ninth, the Broncos didn't give up and came back to tie the contest.

With one out in the frame, Ken Hellyer lined a shot off of the Mustangs' starting pitcher Sam Solis for a base hit. Kevin Jenkins followed with a single to left field advancing Hellyer one base.

Bob Fehrenbach went in to run for Jenkins, and San Luis Obispo brought in relief pitcher Doug O'Brien (2-1). O'Brien walked pinch-hitter Dale Biggs to fill the bases.

Pomona product Ray Pekarcik hit a hot grounder to third, where third baseman Tom Mosich took his eyes off the ball and the play resulted in a two-base error to knot the score.

O'Brien got out of the ninth-inning jam, but got right back into trouble in the decisive tenth stanza.

The Broncos top hitter, Dennis Sherow (.376), started things off with a walk. He advanced to second on a fielder's choice and came home with the winning tally on a blooper to left field by Hellyer (his third single of the game).

The Broncos, who are just one game behind UC Riverside and Cal St. Northridge 16-4), will host a key doubleheader today starting at noon at Kellogg Field. Pomona is 5-5 in California Collegiate Athletic Association play, while San Luis Obispo has a 3-7 mark. Overall, the Broncs have upped their record to 25-22-1. UCR downed the Matadors 4-3 in the other CCAA contest Friday.

The first game will pit San Luis Obispo's Dave Pencile (1-4) against Poly's Gil Molina (2-2). The nightcap will feature Mike Regus (6-4) and Bruce Freeberg on the mound.

Bruce MacPherson went the distance for the Broncos in picking up his eighth victory (8-6). He allowed 12 hits and all four runs but showed great determination because he did not have his best stuff.

The Mustangs took a 4-1 margin in the sixth inning. Consecutive singles by Denny Martindale and Ozzie Smith got the rally going. Paul Desjarlais ripped a double down the first base line scoring Martindale. A sacrifice fly by Joe Budiselich, his second of the game, plated Smith. Mike Ongarato's single tallied one more.

A sacrifice fly by Clay Harris tied the game in the last of the sixth.

Skipper Scolinos' successes started some years back at Pepperdine. During his 14-year tenure there, he compiled 325 victories. Now he has racked up 375 triumphs in his 15 years at Cal Poly (700-530).

Only Rod Dedeaux of USC has more wins as an active coach.

"This was a real memorable win — 700th, 10 innings, come-from-behind, and all that," commented Scolinos. "It has been this team's trademark not to give in and come back."

Scolinos would love to pick up two more wins today in the twinbill and move toward his 800th!

Thompson true Nugget

DENVER (AP) — David Thompson's super-human feats sometimes belie the fact that he's a rookie, subject to the same self-doubts and uncertainties as other mortals.

The 6-foot-4 Thompson, one of basketball's most exciting talents, tossed in 34 points to lead the Denver Nuggets over the Kentucky Colonels 127-117 Thursday night.

The triumph gave Denver a 3-2 edge in their best-of-seven American Basketball Association playoff series, with Game Six scheduled Sunday in Louisville. A seventh game, if necessary, would be played here Wednesday night.

Thompson was the ABA's Rookie of the Year this season and won Most Valuable Player honors in the league's All-Star game. He averaged 26 points a game during the regular season, third best in the league, and the spectacular leaper seemed to come up with a new dunk every game.

But he also was subject to periods of intense self-scrutiny when he may have questioned his remarkable talents. Such apparently was the case when the Nuggets dropped behind in this series 2-1. Thompson, in tears, left the dressing room early still in his uniform and changed in his hotel.

If his confidence was shaken, it was restored in the fourth game, won by Denver 108-106 on a last-second basket by guard Chuck Williams.

Although saddled with six fouls, Thompson stayed in the game in the late stages and was supposed to be the man to get the ball for the game's final shot. When he couldn't get open, he passed off to Williams, setting up the winner.

"Any time you win a close game like that, it has to give you confidence, a psychological lift," he said following his 34-point effort the next night. "It carried over to tonight's game."

While Thompson was entertaining the 17,088 spectators Thursday night, Denver was getting strong bench play from forwards Gus Gerard and Byron Beck, who scored 14 and 13 points, respectively, and were key factors in the Nuggets' third-period explosion.

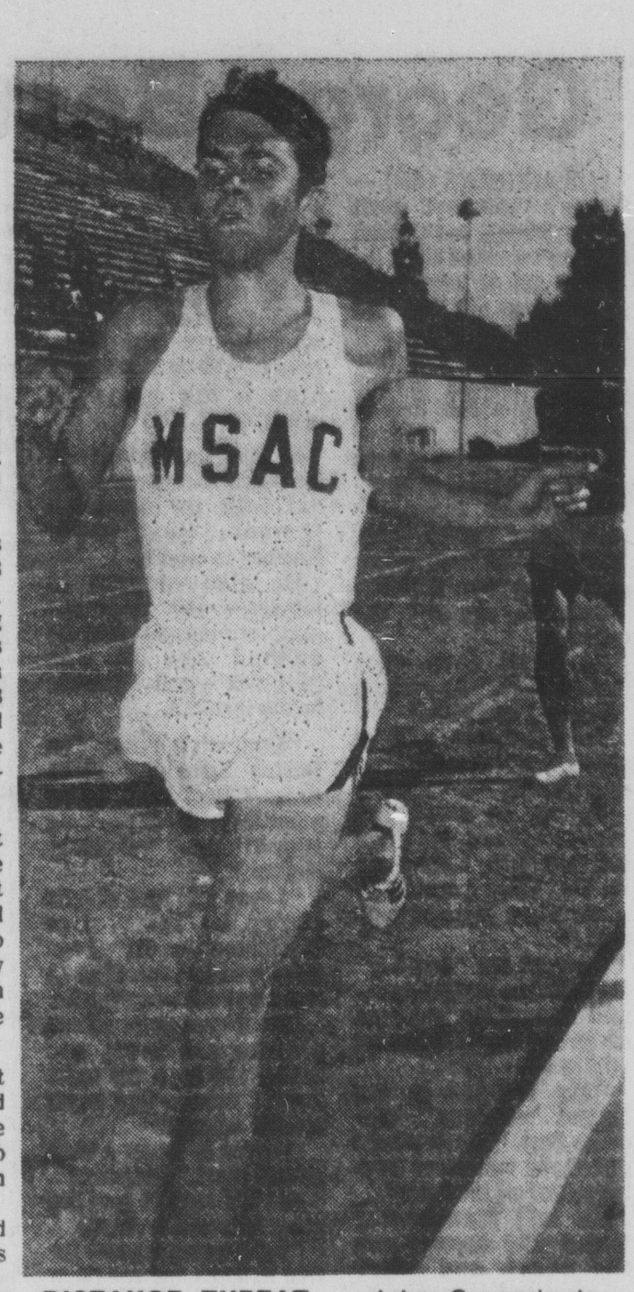
Denver hit 73 per cent from the floor in the period, including its last nine shots that helped stretch a two-point lead to a 12-point advantage. Many of the baskets came on breakaways, and the Colonels didn't recover.

"Denver just blew us out in the third quarter," said Kentucky Coach Hubie Brown. "We let the tempo of the game get away from us."

But Brown remained confident of his team's chances.

"There's not that much difference between these two teams," he said, noting that two of Denver's victories have come by margins of two and three points. "We're anxiously looking forward to Sunday, and we feel we'll be back here Wednesday night."

Artis Gilmore had 26 points and 12 rebounds to lead the Colonels, but guard Bird Averitt's production was missing. Averitt, bothered by an aggravated tonsilitis condition, played only 26 minutes and scored eight points. He had been averaging 23.5 points per game in the series.



DISTANCE THREAT — John Gregorio is shown competing for MSAC in 1971, when he won the state JC mile title. He will be featured in today's 5,000-meter run at MSAC Relays.

Gregorio back in Relays

By MIKE BROSSART
PB Staff Writer

John Gregorio last competed in the Mt. San Antonio Relays in 1971, the year he won California's junior college mile championship.

He'll be back in the Relays today as the featured attraction in the first invitational event of the day, the 5,000-meter run at noon.

Gregorio, a former distance star at Ganesha High, where he graduated in 1969, and at MSAC, where he won the state title, is hoping to use today's race as a stepping stone to the United States Olympic Team for the Montreal Games this summer.

He will try to make the American squad in both the 5,000 and 10,000. That means he may have to run each race twice within eight days — beginning with the 5,000 prelims Saturday, June 19, and ending with the 10,000 finals the following Saturday — against the top distance men in the country.

"I like to double," said Gregorio. "It's not as bad as it sounds.

"I feel that my chances of making the team are very good. I'm in the best shape I've ever been in and my training's coming along nicely. I hope to peak just in time for the 5,000 prelims. The only problem is that there are so many other guys trying to make the team and only three of us will."

Gregorio is glad the trials will be held in Eugene, Ore.

"I've run several times up there and I've done pretty well," he said. "I ran the Pan Am trials and the AAU finals there. I'm pretty superstitious about that — I feel I can't go wrong on that track."

Gregorio went to the University of Colorado at Boulder after he left MSAC, and he graduated, after taking an extra year to earn a teaching credential in physical education, in 1975. He's been affiliated with the Colorado Track Club since 1973, when he finished his eligibility at the university, but he's returned to MSAC this spring to run under the supervision of John Norton, the Mounties' head track coach.

"I ran under Coach Norton at MSAC," said Gregorio, "and he knows me. He can tell when I'm really tired and when I'm just sluggish or lazy. I have complete confidence in him."

The respect is mutual. "John is a super guy and a pleasure to coach," said Norton. "He's one of those guys who is making a lot of sacrifices to make it to the Olympics."

One of the sacrifices Gregorio has made is leaving his wife Nancy in Boulder while he trains in Walnut.

"I just decided that since I've always wanted to make the Olympics, I'd have to give it everything I could, and that includes coming out here to train," Gregorio said. "She couldn't come because she has a contract to teach physical education in Denver, but the separation will only be for a couple months. Fortunately, she knows how I feel about running because she's involved in athletics, too.

"At least when I'm 50 I'll be able to look back and know that I either made the Olympics or there were three guys better than me. I'm giving it everything I can."

Gregorio has competed at the Drake Relays rather than the MSAC meet since he left Walnut in 1971.

"It's a different experience at Drake," he said. "The whole town is really behind the meet. They close school on Friday and send all the kids to the track.

"I guess it's different here because there are so many professional sports teams around. But I like the MSAC Relays and you don't have to worry about snow like you do in Drake.

"Usually, for distance running, you go to Drake," Gregorio continued. "But this year they have some great competition at MSAC."

The 19-member field for today's 5,000 includes Ted Castenada, Gary Tuttle of the Beverly Hills Striders and Domingo Tibaduiza of the University of Nevada at Reno, who has already been selected as a member of the Columbian Olympic Team.

"I've been running with Castenada since 1971," Gregorio said. "He was at the University of Colorado and now he's with the Colorado Track Club. I run better with Ted in a race."

Last year at the AAU championships in Eugene, Castenada covered 5,000 meters in 13:33 to edge Gregorio, who finished in 13:38. Those times represent lifetime bests for both runners.

"Ted and I are right around 50-50," said Gregorio. "We each win about half the time when we compete."

While he is hoping to make the Olympic team at 5,000 meters, Gregorio figures his best show is actually the 10,000. His best time in that event is 28:35.

He switched from the mile to the longer races soon after his arrival in Colorado.

"I won the state JC title with a 4:07 and got it down to 4:01 at Colorado," he said. "That's about the time that 3:55 started coming in sixth so I figured it was time to get out of the mile."

Gregorio is looking forward to today's stiff competition. "I hope to really be pressed," he said. "I'd like to run a good 5,000 before the trials.

"But like Tibaduiza said, we all want to win and only one of us will."

La Verne can take two steps to title

La Verne College can take two more steps today toward clinching its fourth SCIAC baseball title in five years.

The Leos, 10-2 in conference play and 16-14 overall, host Caltech, 1-11, in a noon doubleheader. If the Leopards can sweep the series, two games today and another Tuesday, they will clinch the championship no matter what second place Claremont-Mudd and Whittier do in their remaining games.

In other games, Pomona-Pitzer, 3-12, travels to Occidental, 7-5, for a pair and the other teams all play non conference foes.

Claremont-Mudd, 17-10 overall, is at UC Irvine for a twinbill. Whittier is at LIFE Bible for two and Redlands travels to the University of San Diego for a pair.

At La Verne, coach Ben Hines will send Jim Vallone (6-6) and Long Joe McLaughlin (3-0) against Caltech. McLaughlin will be making his first appearance since April 3.

The big (6-6, 215 pounds) righthander has had a "tender" throwing arm. The long layoff probably didn't help his control any. In 50 innings this season, McLaughlin has allowed 50 hits and 31 walks which explains his 5.07 earned run average.

Vallone, a lefthander, has the best pickoff move on display in small college baseball. The slim MSAC transfer picked off four base runners in his last outing against C-M.

Catcher Tim Burzette will try to extend his hitting streak to 26 today. Burzette hasn't been blanked since the fourth game of the season.

At Irvine, coach Bill Arce will use Joe Maiberger (9-3) and Mitch Katlin (1-0) against UCI. Wynn Moore (.470), Gregg Thompson (.379) and Jon Begerow (.347) lead the Stags although Begerow's average has plummeted of late.

Begerow was hitting a sizzling .412 as of April 3. His average has dropped 65 points in the last seven games.

Pomona-Pitzer will be playing its first game since April 9 when the Sagehens won two games from LIFE. The 'Hens got together for their first practice Tuesday.

Coach Mike Riskas will start Nick Dialynas (1-5) and Ken Creager (4-5) against the Tigers.

Lawn bowlers set tourney

The Claremont Lawn Bowls Club will be celebrating its Golden Jubilee on Thursday, April 29. Fifteen teams from clubs throughout Southern California will take part in a tournament at the Larkin Park Lawn Bowling Greens located at 763 W. Harrison Avenue in Claremont. The public is invited to view the festivities, which will take place from 10:00 a.m. until 3:00 p.m.

Also as a part of the club's jubilee, a match will take place between the Pomona College Alumni and teams of students from the Claremont Colleges. That match will be held at 10:00 a.m. on saturday, May 1.

Rankin tops golf leaders

NEW YORK (AP) — Judy Rankin's victory last weekened in Phoenix, Ariz., was worth $14,000 and contributed to her domination of the LPGA money winning's list released Thursday.

Miss Rankin leads the top 10 with $56,891 and is followed by Betty Burfeindt, $24,511; Jan Stephenson, $24,470; Sandra Haynie, $19,191; Jane Blalock, $18,460; Kathy Whitworth, $18,425; JoAnne Carner, $17,624; Sandra Post, $14,112; Sandra Palmer, $13,914, and Pat Bradley, $11,693.

Gullett slow coming around

CINCINNATI (AP) — Ready or not, here comes Don Gullett.

Cincinnati Reds Manager Sparky Anderson has grown impatient watching Gullett along the sidelines trying to get himself ready to resume his role as the club's pitching ace.

He has finally decided to throw Gullett into the starting role, ready or not, at Montreal on Sunday.

"We opened on April 8. That's 17 days. It's a matter now that you got to get him in there, period," Anderson said. "You got to do something."

Anderson is extremely upset with the young lefthander. Gullett did not throw over the winter and reported to spring training late.

His arm has been slow coming around and, with pitching problems the Reds have had, it has been a point of major concern.

Gullett made his 1976 debut Wednesday. He wasn't impressive. The fast ball he threw was slow. He pitched an inning and started another one. He gave up two singles and a walk and was bailed out by Rawly Eastwick.

"I felt strange," admitted Gullett, who despite being sidelined for two months with an injury, finished last season with a 15-4 record.

Anderson can wait no longer. His pitching staff has been inconsistent, despite the continued presence of the Reds offense which has carried over from last year.

Even the Reds' bullpen has not been its "old reliable" self.

"I'm feeling my way around, I admit it," said Anderson.

He has also announced that rookie Pat Zachry, who has been used as a relief pitcher so far, will be making a start against the Expos.

The Reds' front office is also concerned about Gullett for another reason. He remains unsigned.

For a quiet country boy who never has caused any trouble, he is now a figure of controversy.

Through it all, Gullett said all he wants to do is pitch.

"It's always my desire, whether the team is up or down, to go out and do the job to the best of my ability," he said.

He added that he is not thinking about his contract problems, the negotiations are being handled by attorney Jerry Kapstein.

He admitted he has not thought about what he would do if he ended up playing out his option with the Reds.

"Whatever happens, happens," he answered.

Now, with a fast ball that isn't fast, he is being shoved into a start.

And what happens, happens.

MIAMI (AP) — No adults allowed.

That's the policy of a girls' softball league which uses teenage coaches, umpires and even scorekeepers in an attempt at eliminating the problems parents often cause baseball's Little Leaguers.

"This is for recreation, not competition," says Bob Koltnow, an attorney who serves as commissioner of the eight-team operation.

Koltnow said he organized the league four years ago after his daughter, Karen, now 14, started playing softball. One afternoon, Karen received a call from her adult coach, and her mother, Carol, happened to catch part of the conversation.

"The coach was a Marine," Mrs. Koltnow said, "and he was yelling at a 9-year-old girl like a drill sergeant."

The next year, Koltnow started a new league. Now, it's a family operation, with Karen and her 13-year-old sister, Sara, serving as umpires, and 16-year-old brother Billy serving as league statistician and official scorer.

Mrs. Koltnow acts as her husband's assistant, checking out the teams and numerous details if her husband is late arriving at the field.

"I think the boys' leagues should be run the same way — no adults," said Koltnow. "But that will never happen. The adults are involved in that program. They never would give it up.

"When I retire as commissioner over here, I know they'll go adult. But I think it's the wrong way."

The bleachers at one diamond recently were moved from the left field foul line to a place almost directly behind home plate, but Koltnow had another site in mind.

BEST OF THE AZTECS — George Best bounces a ball on his knee during a practice session with the Los Angeles Aztecs recently. The British star turns 30 next month.

George Best turns 30

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Soccer's "bad boy" turns 30 next month, but George Best isn't worried about it.

"I've got at least three good seasons left," he said as he finished a practice session with the Los Angeles Aztecs of the North American Soccer League.

He came to the Aztecs after a starring but stormy career with England's Manchester United team, leaving with detractors calling him "over the hill."

Best shrugs off the criticism.

"I don't care what anyone says," he retorts. "I know I can play."

He's confident he'll be able to perform at top form well into his 30s. "I like to play as an attacking player, up front, but if I'm reasonably fit after three (in the NASL) I could play a few more years at midfield."

Best got his "bad boy" tag from the British press, who religiously reported his on and the field and his affairs off.

"My temper is my biggest weakness," concedes Best. "That's what's gotten me into more trouble on and off the field."

He left Manchester United after disputes with the coach and other players. Best says he made suggestions the others didn't like.

"I thought they were buying bad players. I told them; I missed a few games..."

Best ended up a free agent and signed with the Aztecs, a team co-owned by rock star Elton John.

George doesn't mind clowning around with Elton or the hoopla surrounding sports events in the United States, but says, "I'd rather just play."

The style of play here and in Europe is similar, he said, and he expects soccer to "take off" at the box office over the next decade.

"The signs are there now," he said. "Already there were 50,000 at one game.

"One reason I came here is I'm interested in promoting the game. It's exciting, a bit of a challenge."

He says more American boys are learning the game, which will provide a homegrown talent pool—and will ease some of today's language barriers.

"When a Mexican starts yelling at an Englishman in Spanish, it's a little difficult," he said with a wry grin.

Best was a natural at soccer, and was such a standout in his native Belfast that he was recruited by Manchester at 15 and turned pro at 17 "for nothing, about $80 a week."

Neither he nor Aztec officials will disclose his current contract, but it's enough to finance a new home in Manchester for his parents, twin sisters and brother. Best says he was never involved in the turbulent Irish political scene, but wanted his family to move.

Best lives in a Hermosa Beach house with fellow Aztec Bobby McAlinden, an ex-member of Manchester's city team. Both turn 30 on May 22 and plan a big party to celebrate.

Running on sand outside his beachfront home is one antidote to his Irish temper, Best says. Another is tennis.

He also escapes to movies— the interview was terminated when he dashed off to see "Lipstick"—and true-life crime thrillers.

"I must've read 'The Boston Strangler' three times," Best said, listing other favorites as "In Cold Blood" and "Helter-Skelter."

"I love any sort of quiz show, IQ tests. I'm fascinated by it," says Best, who left school at 15 and says he'll never return.

He believes great soccer players are born, not made, and says the sport doesn't require that much mental acumen.

"Soccer is really a very simple sport," Best says.

But it's easy to spot the other naturals, he says.

"I can watch a game for five minutes and see them thinking that much quicker," he said.

Best said he used to scoff at the notion he'd one day coach, but he's changed his mind.

Right now he contributes plays and ideas to the Aztecs and says he has a great rapport with coach Terry Fisher, who, at 26, is younger than the mentors Best was used to in England.

"I'm given a free role to do as I please." Best said, crediting his balance and ambidexterity with part of his ability.

"I can use both feet equally," he said. "I'm naturally rightfooted, but I practiced so much when I was young that I can now kick harder with my left."

He's also been remarkably injury-free for the aggressive forward position he's played throughout his career, having had only one operation, for torn cartilage.

"I was lucky to be born with a gift," Best says. "I've never been coached properly, but I think it is a gift, a skill, something that never leaves you."

Best also has a reputation as a ladies' man, but he says that notorieity was largely a creation of English journalists.

"The British press got me into more trouble with girls," he complained. "Some enjoyed it, of course, but I was taking an Irish actress out who hated publicity and the press finished it for us."

In England, he said, ever since Manchester won the European Competition Cup in 1968, his face has been well-known and he attracts attention wherever he goes.

On the day of the interview, Best's chin was covered with beard stubble and his dark hair was mussed by the wind. Only his long-lashed grey-green eyes gave a hint of his reputed sex appeal.

"It's a lot different over here," he mused. "The fact that I can walk down the street without people recognizing me.

"The nice part about LA," he said, "is that people accept me for myself here."

St. Louis loses A.D.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Larry Albus, athletic director at St. Louis University, resigned Thursday to become full-time commissioner of the young Metro Six Conference.

The six league schools, Cincinnati, Georgia Tech, Louisville, Memphis State, St. Louis and Tulane, voted unanimously to appoint the 35-year-old Albus as the first full-time conference commissioner after he served as part-time commissioner the past year — the league's first.

Roster completed for California team

INGLEWOOD — Darrell Allums of Lynwood High School, Doug Widtfeldt of La Mirada High School, and Francois Wise of Balboa High School (San Francisco) are the final players selected to the California All-American's roster that will play the Soviet Union Junior National team in Los Angeles for the Farrell's Basketball Classic II.

The game is set for Sunday evening, May 2, at The Forum. Tip-off time is scheduled for 7 p.m.

Darrell Allums, 6-foot-8, was considered to be one of the strongest players in the CIF this past season. A punishing performer on the boards, Allums led Lynwood High School in Lynwood to the 3-A CIF title and a 29-3 seasonal mark. The 230-pound center averaged 18.4 points and 17 rebounds per outing. Allums was also a 3-A CIF first-team choice.

Doug Widtfeldt, 6-foot-8, of La Mirada High School in La Mirada was one of the least publicized players in the CIF this past season, but ranked as one of the area's finest. The slender forward led La Mirada to a number one ranking in the 3-A division through part of the season before being edged out by eventual champion Lynwood in the San Gabriel Valley League. A 3-A first-team selection, Widtfeldt averaged 25.2 points.

Francoise Wise, 6-foot-6, of Balboa High School in San Francisco is considered by many scouts to be the next Adrian Dantley. The muscular 220-pound forward propelled Balboa to the very prestigious championship of the San Francisco section of the CIF. Wise, the brother of all-pro great Willie Wise, is called by his older brother "the best of the Wise brothers. Certainly much better than me at the same stage of our careers." Francois averaged 26 points per outing and was named the San Francisco CIF Player of the Year. In addition, he was an honorable-mention All-America.

These players finalize a roster that includes Johnny Nash and Michael Wiley of Long Beach Poly, Kurt Rambie of Cupertino, James Wilkes and Ron Baxter of Dorsey, Kiki Vandeweghe of Palisades, Rich Branning of Marina, Gig Sims of Redondo Beach, and Marcus Hamilton of Verbum Dei.

Tickets for the Farrell's Basketball Classic II may be purchased at The Forum, Ticketron, and all Mutual Ticket Agencies.

Phil Rizzuto quits show

NEW YORK (AP) — Phil Rizzuto, one-time star shortstop for the New York Yankees, will conclude his CBS radio network sports show Friday, the network announced Thursday.

The reasons gven for the action were Rizzuto's heavy schedule as a member of the Yankees play-by-play broadcast team and personal business committments.

Cubs make changes

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cubs Thursday recalled pitchers Oscar Zamora and Ken Crosby from their Wichita farm club.

Ralston sees close races

LOS ANGELES — Dennis Ralston, player-coach of the Los Angeles Strings, predicts closer races in both divisions of World Team Tennis in 1976.

"The competition will be so much better than in the previous two seasons," said the former U.S. Davis Cup coach. "Every team in the league has improved from a talent standpoint and I certainly feel the Strings will be one of the top teams in the league."

Ralston's optimism stems from the recent play of his front-line players.

"Rosie Casals is playing very well and she'll have an extremely important role for us this year," said Ralston. Casals finished third in last week's Virginia Slims championships with wins over Terry Holladay, Sue Baker, Virginia Wade and Martina Navratilova. Her only loss was to runnerup Chris Evert.

"Dianne Fromholtz will also be a key for us," continued Ralston. "She has split her last six sets with Evert which will be a big boost for us when we play Phoenix (the Strings' home opener May 12 at The Forum)."

On the men's side, Ralston has two of the biggest hitters in the world in Vijay Amritraj, the young star from India; and Bob Lutz, who has already qualified for the WCT finals in Dallas this year.

"Vijay and Bob are both capable of playing singles and blowing an opponent off, 6-1 or 6-2. I'll use the player who is hot and has a good record against the other team's singles player that night."

Lutz, Amritraj and Ralston are all world-class doubles players, giving the coach a pleasant problem.

"We'll be constantly striving to put the best doubles team on the court," said the coach. "I figure Rosie will play mixed doubles with any of the three of us."

Despite his confidence in his own team's ability, Ralston realizes winning the Western Division will be no easy task.

"It will be difficult. I think on paper you have to favor Phoenix and the Golden Gaters."

Phoenix, of course, has added Evert and returns solid veterans Tony Roche, Andrew Pattison and Kristien Shaw. Collegians Butch Walts (USC) and Stephanie Tolleson round out the team.

The Golden Gaters are the defending division champions and they have improved themselves with the acquisition of Francoise Durr. Betty Stove will team with Durr on the female side while Tom Okker and player-coach Frew McMillan will handle the men's side. Jeff Borowiak and Raquel Giscarfe are solid backup players.

"San Diego has one of the strongest men's team in WTT, but they'll need some help from their women to win," evaluated Ralston.

The Friars have the incomparable Rod Laver, South African Cliff Drysdale and Australian Ross Case. Player-coach Drysdale has but one female signed to date, the highly touted 19-year-old, Terry Holladay.

The Hawaii Leis have Ilie Nastase, the gifted and controversial Romanian. Player-coach Butch Buchholz also has the great Australian doubles player, Owen Davidson, and two steady females in Helen Gourlay and Marcie Louie.

"The Eastern Division should be just as rough as the West," said Ralston. "I'd have to favor Pittsburgh and New York on the strength of their women, but the other teams are all capable."

The Triangles are the defending World Team Tennis Champions and have the same powerhouse team that won the playoffs a year ago.

Led by the flawless Evonne Goolagong and aided by a solid men's team of Mark Cox and Vitas Gerulaitis, the Triangles should be formidable every night of the 44-match season.

Billie Jean King returns for what might be her final season with the New York Sets and her supporting cast is the best she's had in WTT. Virginia Wade will team with BJK in doubles and player-coach Fred Stolle has two good, young men in Sandy Mayer and Phil Dent.

Cleveland's Nets have improved themselves with the addition of Martina Navratilova. She figures to be the key for player-coach Marty Riessen's squad. Riessen also has Haroon Rahim, Bob Biltinan, Wendy Overton and Rayni Fox.

STRINGS NOTES — Ralston recently won a singles tournament in New Mexico by defeating Sherwood Stewart in the finals . . . "it's been so long since I won a singles championship, I can't even remember the last time," joked the String's coach.

The Strings have now sold more than 1,500 season tickets, a huge increase over a year ago . . . "We're extremely excited about the season and are thrilled the fans have taken such an interest," said General Manager Bart Christensen.

The Strings' first four home matches (Phoenix, Golden Gaters, New York and Pittsburgh) figure to generate plenty of interest with such stars as Evert, Okker, King and Goolagong arriving at The Forum.

Group ticket information for Strings' matches ($1 off per ticket for 20 or more people) is available by calling the Strings' office at 829-5391.

Rams highlight film available to groups

LOS ANGELES — In 1975 the Rams won their third straight NFC Western Division Championship, thus etching the title of the club's current highlight film, "Hat Trick in the West," now available for showing to groups in Southern California.

Service clubs, church, fraternal and youth organizations wishing to borrow the 30-minute, all-color motion picture may reserve it by calling the Rams office (277-4700) or by writing to The Los Angeles Rams Football Co., 10271 W. Pico Blvd., Los Angeles, 90064. There is no charge for 24-hour loan of the film.

After recapturing a few memorable moments from the 12-2 title-winning team of 1973 and the 10-4 division champion '74 squad, the NFL Films-produced movie concentrates on coach Chuck Knox' '75 Rams that completed the "Hat Trick" by finishing with still another 12-2 record.

Featured in the film is an exciting live sound segment in the 35-23 playoff win over St. Louis, spiced by narrator Dick Enberg's actual KMPC play-by-play calls and on-the-field chatter of players and coaches.

In addition to the big victory over the Cardinals, the film also highlights the club's spirited 10-3 night-game victory over the World Champion Pittsburgh Steelers.

Other features in the film include footage showing the brilliant running style of Lawrence McCutcheon, the brutal defensive play led by MVP Jack Youngblood, the precision passing combination of James Harris to Ron Jessie and Harold Jackson, the lateseason heroics of reserve quarterback Ron Jaworski, the all-around play of running back Jim Bertelsen and the heads-up ball-hawking of the improving Ram Secondary.

Rise in church vitality since early America

NEW YORK (AP) — Although present-day Christians are inclined to romanticize fondly about church vitality in early America and to bemoan the increasing secularization of modern culture, religious affiliation today is far greater than in the period of the nation's origins.

Historians point out that church membership has gone upward almost steadily through the 200 years of U.S. history, not down, and that it now constitutes a proportion of the population six times greater than in the country's early years.

The idea that American church activity once flourished and has "subsequently declined is false and the historical perspective involved is unsound," says the Rev. Dr. Franklin H. Littell, a religious historian of Philadelphia's Temple University.

America in its early years "was overwhelmingly unchurched and heathen, regardless of pretensions and public claims," he writes in his book, "From State Church to Pluralism." However, he also notes that requirements for church membership then were much stiffer than now.

This is the sort of probing, factual look at the nation's religious heritage that is scheduled next week, April 25-30, in Philadelphia at an ecumenical Bicentennial conference on religious liberty, sponsored by Protestant, Orthodox, Roman Catholic and Jewish bodies.

The program involves historians and religious liberty experts from across the country.

A church historian of New York's Union Theological Seminary, the Rev. Dr. Robert T. Handy, says that no more than 10 per cent of the U.S. population belonged to churches in the post-Revolution period, although greater disciplines for church membership then meant participants doubtlessly exceeded formal membership.

Nevertheless, the present-day religious affiliation involves about 62 per cent of the population, showing an immense growth compared with the small minority included in the earlier period.

From 16 per cent of the population in 1850, religious affiliation has grown almost steadily, with only brief lags, hitting 36 per cent in 1900, 49 per cent in 1940, 60 per cent in 1954 and an all-time high of 64 per cent in 1963. Although 62 per cent now, the slight dip is no more than previous brief sags in the steady climb.

From 1800 to 1976, "more people joined the Christian church than ever before in her history," Dr. Littell says. The late great church historian, Kenneth Scott Latourette, says of the separation of church from state:

"The fashion in which millions of Christians have voluntarily contributed financially to the propagating of their faith at home and abroad has in magnitude been without precedent in the history of Christianity or of any other religion or set of ideas."

Critical of mandatory retirement

CHICAGO (AP) — The United Methodist Board of Global Ministries has gone on record in opposition to mandatory retirement, calling it "an unjust system which discriminates against older persons strictly on the basis of chronological age."

There should be a flexible retirement system, the board said, "based on performance capability and desire to work."

Methodist women to join in Trinity centennial rite

The United Methodist Women will join the celebration of the Trinity Church's centennial year by presenting a special worship service Sunday at 10:30 a.m.

The speaker will be Mrs. Marilyn Mabee, conference president of the United Methodist Women. Her topic will be "Where in the World Are the Women?"

Mrs. Mabee is from the United Methodist Church in Oxnard. She has been director of music there 5½ years. She has served in many positions on the district and conference levels.

Mrs. Ruth Lenz, president of the United Methodist Women in Pomona, Mrs. Adele Allen, Mrs. Bonnie Fuhrman and Mrs. Alice Naugle will assist in the order of worship. All past presidents will be honored. A patio reception will follow the service. Members of the Mary Friendship group will serve.

MARILYNN MABEE

Since 1893, women of the Methodist church have been a part of an organization committed to work, prayer, study and missionary service.

The first Women's Foreign Missionary Society was organized in Boston in March of 1869 by eight women. This group was responsible for sending Isabella Thoburn to India. She established the first school for girls in Lucknow. Growing along with the missionary societies was the Ladies Aid Society, whose function was to aid the local church.

In 1907 in Pomona, Mrs. Ferdinand Davis organized 10 women to assist in the church. Out of this group emerged a Ladies Aid, and Home and Foreign Missionary societies. Through the years the groups have grown. In 1939 a union of five women's groups was combined into the Women's Society of Christian Service with the Wesleyan Service Guild meeting evenings for employed women.

In 1968, the union of the Methodist Church with the Evangelical United Brethren Church took place, strengthening both groups.

The years 1971-72 were history-making years in the life of the women's mission movement. The Women's Division voted there would be "one new inclusive organization for women, with a new name."

It combined the Women's Society of Christian Service and the Wesleyan Service Guild.

In June 1973, Trinity WSCS had a special service celebrating the past, and an observance for the future, affirming the belief in unity of purpose.

As always, the women were encouraged to be interested in mission, locally and worldwide, to assume leadership in various areas of the church and the society, and to be interested in women and their concerns throughout the world.

They now are United Methodist Women, one new inclusive organization for women in mission.

The last president of the Home Missionary Society was Mrs. Gertrude Genung. Mrs. Lorraine Rickenberg was the 1st president of the Women's Society of Christian Service. Mrs. Lois Williams was the first United Methodist Women's president.

Mrs. Lois Williams, United Methodist woman representative to the Centennial Committee, coordinated Sunday's program.

Church council offers Bicentennial musical

The Pomona Valley Council of Churches is participating in the Bicentennial by presenting a musical drama, "Song for a New World" to all interested churches in the valley.

The production, written by Don Mueller, will be presented May 2 at 7:30 p.m. in the First Baptist Church of Ontario.

The drama tells the story of Roger Williams and his wife, Mary. Through music and dialogue, the drama follows Williams as he decides to leave England in search of religious freedom. The story tells of the Puritans and their understanding of the meaning of freedom.

Participants in the drama include Ted Soto, who plays the leading role of Roger Williams. Cynthia Walker is his wife, Mary. Others sharing both musical and speaking roles include: Allene and Jess Clay, Laura and John Davidson, Tammy and Arthur Woodman, Otto Janca, Delwin Harbour, Barbara Totman, Greg Brendel, Dorothy Harbour and Michael Emmons.

The play is co-directed by Linda Walker Irby and Audrey Lightbody. Assisting with the production will be Al Grainger and Dorothy Roberson.

The performance is open to the public with a free will offering.

Campus chorale to sing

The Rolling Hills Covenant Campus Chorale will present its new musical, "Sonlife," on Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the sanctuary of the First United Methodist Church of Ontario.

The appearance is sponsored by the Junior High Fellowship of the church.

The singing group is composed of 40 college-age men and women who have traveled extensively in the past five years presenting musical programs around the country.

In addition to special performances, the chorale performs regularly in the Sunday morning services at the Rolling Hill Covenant Church.

Chaffey singers

The Chamber Singers at Chaffey High School in Ontario will perform April 29 at 8 p.m. in Lyman Hall of the Thatcher Music building at Pomona College in Claremont.

Change in Catholic spirit

NEW YORK (AP) — Noting that the words, "minister" and "ministry" are used increasingly in the Roman Catholic Church, the national Jesuit magazine, Amercia, says it reflects a "transformed experience" of church service.

It used to be that "priests did the important ministry" and others simply aided the priests, the magazine says editorially, but now Catholics have begun recapturing the "call of all Christians to a spirit-led ministry of service."

RESOLUTION NO. 2-76
INTENTION TO SELL CERTAIN REAL PROPERTY LOCATED AT 905 HARVARD AVENUE, CITY OF CLAREMONT, COUNTY OF LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA

WHEREAS, the real property hereinafter described and located at 905 Harvard Avenue, City of Claremont, County of Los Angeles, California is not needed as a school site or part of a school site, therefore be it

RESOLVED, that the Board of Education of the Claremont Unified School District, in pursuance to the provisions of Sections 16051-16065 inclusive of the Education Code, does hereby declare its intention to sell at public offering the following described real property:

The South 70 feet of Lots 1 and 2, and the South 70 feet of the East 9.50 feet of Lot 3, Block 4 Claremont Tract, in the City of Claremont, County of Los Angeles, State of California, as per map recorded in Book 15, pages 87 and 88 of Miscellaneous Records in the office of the County Recorder of said County.

BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED, that it is the intention of this Board to sell the said property in accordance with the provisions of the Education Code of the State of California, and upon the following terms:

1. The minimum bid acceptable is $25,000.
2. Acceptance and award shall be on the basis of the highest amount paid to the district exclusive of interest paid if terms are requested by the bidder. This amount shall be determined by deducting commission, if any, from the gross bid. The Board reserves the right to reject any and all bids.
3. Bids shall be made on a form prescribed by the District available at the Education Center, Claremont Unified School District, 2080 North Mountain Avenue, Claremont, California 91711.
4. A broker's commission may be paid in an amount not to exceed 6% of the highest acceptable bid, and as outlined in Sections 16057, 16061 and 16062 of the Education Code.
5. If a broker's commission is involved in the sale, the District shall be liable to pay the commission only after the close of escrow.
6. Before accepting any written proposal the President of the Board shall call for oral bids in accordance with Section 16061 of the Education Code.
7. Each bidder smitting a written or oral bid shall supply with his bid a certified or cashier's check in the amount of $2,500. The checks of unsuccessful bidders will be returned, but the check of the successful bidder shall be retained until escrow instructions are executed by the Claremont Unified School District and the successful bidder. The check shall then be deposited into escrow as part of the purchase price of the property along with an additional check to bring the total down payment to 10% of the successful bid. In the event the successful bidder refuses or fails to enter into an escrow, the bid deposit shall be retained by the Claremont Unified School District.
8. The Board shall have the right, within five (5) days of execution of an "Agreement to Buy and Sell", to demand of Buyer evidence of financial responsibility which evidence shall be delivered to the Board within five (5) days of demand. If Buyer should fail to deliver satisfactory evidence of responsibility or (if the Board shall determine upon such evidence and any other information within fourteen (14) days of delivery that Buyer is not responsible, the Board shall have the right, in its discretion, to reject the bid and cancel the Agreement to Buy and Sell and will return the bid security.
9. In the event that a bid is rejected pursuant to paragraph 8 hereof or the Agreement to Buy and Sell is cancelled, the Board may, in its discretion, offer the property to other qualified bidders in the order of their bids and may enter into an Agreement to Buy and Sell with a bidder willing to do so, at a price not lower than his bid price.
10. The sale shall be consummated by the signing, at the time the Board of Education accepts the bid, of an "Agreement to Buy and Sell", by the Claremont Unified School District, as "Seller", and by the bidder who submits the highest acceptable bid, as "Buyer", which form of agreement is on file in the district administration office.
11. A preliminary Title Report will be available for inspection of interested parties prior to the date for the opening of bids in the Education Center, Claremont Unified School District, 2080 North Mountain Avenue, Claremont, California 91711.
12. The Agreement to Buy and Sell shall contain the following terms and conditions. The Buyer may add other terms and conditions or may substitute other terms and conditions as may be mutually agreeable provided that the Board shall determine that the Agreement to Buy and Sell is not rendered less favorable to the District thereby.

I ESCROW
(a) Within twenty (20) days after execution of the Agreement to Buy and Sell an escrow shall be opened at a mutually acceptable bonded escrow company.
(b) Within five (5) days of opening of escrow, the Seller shall deposit Buyer's bid security.
(c) The term of the escrow shall be sixty (60) days. If at the end of such period Buyer requests Seller for an extension, Seller may, if satisfied that Buyer has proceeded in good faith and that an extension would probably enable the escrow to close, grant an extension or extensions totaling not more than sixty (60) days.
(d) Buyer shall pay for recording of the Deed and one-half of the escrow fee. Seller shall pay for one-half of the escrow fee and for all of the Policy of Title Insurance and for Revenue Stamps.
(e) Upon failure of the escrow to close, as specified in (c) above, the Seller may cancel the Agreement to Buy and Sell.
(f) In the event of Buyer's failure to comply with these conditions, Seller shall be entitled to rescind the Agreement to Buy and Sell and the deposit less all costs of escrow and advertising incurred by the Seller shall be returned to the Buyer.

II TERMS
Should the acceptable bid provide for an installment purchase the following shall constitute the terms and conditions:
(a) The down payment shall be the bid deposit of $2,500 plus an additional amount to bring the total deposited to 10% of the successful bid.
(b) Buyer shall deliver to Seller through escrow its negotiable instrument consisting of a Note and Deed of Trust for the remaining principal balance.
(c) The balance of the purchase price shall be paid within three (3) years from the date of the close of escrow as follows:
(1) Buyer shall make at least three (3) equal annual payments on the principal plus accrued interest on the unpaid balance of the purchase price. The first payment shall be made on the first anniversary of the close of escrow. Interest shall accrue on the unpaid balance of the purchase price at the rate of 8% per annum commencing with the close of escrow.
(2) Buyer shall have the right to prepay any amount without penalty. Any payment shall be credited first to payment of accrued interest.
(d) Buyer shall agree to and indemnify and hold harmless the district, its officers, agents and employees from every claim or demand made and every liability loss, damage or expense of any nature whatsoever which may be incurred by reason of liability for damages for (1) death or bodily injuries to persons, (2) injury to or loss or theft of property, (3) design defects, or (4) any other loss, damage or expense sustained by the Buyer or any other person upon the property or in connection with remodeling or improvements to the property.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that a special public meeting of the Board of Education of the Claremont Unified School District be held at its usual place of meeting in the Board Room of the Education Center at 2080 North Mountain Avenue Claremont, California on May 3, 1976 at 6:30 P.M., at which time and place sealed bids will be opened and considered together with oral bids in accordance with California Education Code Sections 16060-16065, inclusive.

Ramona Pageant: where the desert is its stage

Shelby Lyman on chess

A letter to Bobby Fischer

Dear Bobby,

Life is short and time's a-fleeting. A great chessplayer who does not play chess becomes a phantom of himself.

History leaves no man unscathed. Nor is there absolute protection for anyone from unfair slurs and exploitation by others. But these annoyances should run off your back like water.

The play is the thing. Bring your great fighting spirit back to the chessboard. Millions will cheer you on, game by game, win lose or draw.

Sincerely yours,
Shelby Lyman

BEGINNER'S CORNER — Hint and explanation: Albert's last rank is weak and the defending black bishop itself vulnerable.

A chicken comes home to roost

Immediately after the World Championship match of 1972, "Church's Fried Chicken First Chess Tournament" was held in San Antonio, Texas. Anatoly Karpov, Tigran Petrosian, and Lajos Portisch shared first place.

Bobby Fischer who attended briefly as a spectator derisively referred to the play of his fellow chess professionals as "chicken chess".

Since then, ironically, Fischer, a great fighter when he does play, has not himself made a single move over the chessboard. And Karpov has gone on from triumph to triumph-unto the world championship itself.

Here is Anatoly's first round win over countryman Raphael Vaganian in the recent tournament in Skopje Yugoslavia. Karpov played a brilliant game with a beautifully conceived pawn sacrifice and a wonderfully executed attack on Vaganian's king.

Karpov is one chicken with something to crow about!

Doc Peirsol

It happened in Pomona

In trying times such as we are now experiencing, wouldn't it be nice if improving the welfare of Pomona could be as easily accomplished as it was in 1892? That was the year, according to an editorial in The Pomona Weekly Times, when this city's greatest problem was a lack of concern on the part of local citizens about how our community might appear to strangers. Never one to beat around the bush, the Times' Editor not only announced the problem but also presented the cure all in the very first sentence of his article.

"Every person interested in the welfare of this Valley and City should become a committee of one to improve the Pomona exhibit at the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce," he wrote. "Nearly everything there has an ancient look — so ancient as to be unattractive in every sense. The exhibits on display from other localities are better, and thus ours is made to appear to the worst advantage. Our exhibit of fruits is limited in variety and not bright and fresh; and we have no corn, wheat, pumpkins, vegetables, alfalfa, etc., as most others have. In so far as the exhibits in the Chamber of Commerce influence the movements of home seekers, any one of the many displays there would get their attention before that of Pomona."

But in all justice to our pioneer forefathers, there is some reason to suppose that maybe they weren't as lacking in civic pride as that 1892 Times editorial would seem to indicate. In fact, you have only to check the same day's newspaper and you will find that in certain areas Pomona's civic leaders were going all out to improve this city's image.

"Pomona has a brand new street sprinkler," the item reads, "a $400 one. It throws water in all directions but backwards."

Antique wise Q. and A.

By DOROTHY HAMMOND

QUESTION: Can you tell me what these hanging scales were used for and their value? We found the scales among some of my grandfather's keepsakes. Their overall length is 11⅛ inches, and the large oval center measures 3x3⅛ inches. With the exception of the halfmoon brass portion attached to the center oval which indicates the poundage, all parts are iron. The wieght range is from 20 pounds up to 400 pounds, and the only marking is the world "Germany". Your help in identifying these scales will be appreciated. C.A.L.

ANSWER: You have an interesting example of "hider's" scales, used on the Western frontier for weighing animal skins — usually buffalo. The hides were in great demand during the last century for blankets, robes and clothing. Today, hider's scales are an extremely popular Western collectible with prices ranging from $35 up to the $50 figure in the Western states.

QUESTION: I would like information about my old wooden Schoenhut doll (girl) which has sleepy eyes and is 16 inches tall, and dressed. I would like to know what such dolls are selling for and anything you can tell me about it. Mrs. M.M.D. (Northeast)

ANSWER: Schoenhut dolls like you describe in excellent condition are being priced around the $300 figure.

Albert Schoenhut — a German emigrant — began producing wooden toys and dolls at his Philadelphia factory in 1872. According to family tradition, Albert's grandfather, Anton, had been a carver of wooden dolls in Wurttemberg at the end of the 18th century and was succeeded in the business by Albert's father, Frederick Schoenhut.

Albert, born in 1850, came to America when he was 17 years old. After working for others here, he established his own toy factory, and his first order was from Strasburger, Pfeiffer & Co. It is believed that the first dolls produced by Schoenhut were the circus clowns for the Humpty Dumpty Circus.

Although Albert filed the application for his swivel, spring-jointed dolls in 1909, the patent was not granted until 1911. Labeled "All-Wood Perfection Art Dolls," his dolls were advertised to be the strongest and most indestructible dolls ever made. Their wooden parts were painted in enamel oil colors, and were guaranteed washable.

By 1912, many new models were added to the line, and by 1913 infant dolls with curved limbs — called natural arms and legs — appeared for the first time.

Albert Schoenhut died in 1912, and was succeeded by his six sons. During the depression of the '20s, the quality of the Schoenhut dolls declined, when steel joints replaced rubber cord for stringing, and later the dolls had cloth bodies instead of wooden; however, wooden heads were retained. The business was discontinued in 1925.

RAMONA PAGEANT . . . a traditional attraction as spectacular as ever

Ramona (Susan Hunter) pleads with Senora Moreno (Judy Oltman), while Felipe (Charlie Riendeau) watches the scene.

Early California lives again in the Ramona play. Here Alessandro (Frank Sorell) leaps at the Sheriff (White McColery).

Alessandro (Frank Sorell) questions Juan (Watson Gilmore Jr.) in a scene from the Ramona Outdoor play.

"My story begins over 100 years ago," says the peppery, white-haired Spaniard, Juan Canito, overseer of the Camulos Rancho, peering at the 6,000 people seated on the side of a mountain near Hemet.

Thus opens the Ramona Outdoor Play, sometimes known as the Ramona Pageant, a two-city theater piece whose tragic love story, historical authenticity and spectacular pageantry have made its name known throughout the world.

The dramatic presentation opens in the amphitheater at 2:30 this afternoon, to play at that hour Saturdays and Sundays for three weekends.

The story of the pageant began in 1920, when the late Burdette Raynor was named secretary of the Hemet Chamber of Commerce and sought a way to attract people to the tiny community. Long an admirer of Helen Hunt Jackson's sentimental novel, "Ramona," he obtained dramatization rights, contracted with pageant expert and writer Garnet Holme to adapt it to the stage, and saw the first presentation in 1923. Since then more than 1.2 million people have viewed the production.

It is quite a production. The pageant is staged on the side of a small canyon, with astonishing acoustical properties, south of Hemet. The acre of stage is studded with the boulders, cactus, vines, scrub oak and brush of the California desert. Across the "stage" gallop mounted horsemen; a flock of sheep is sent baa-ing down the "aisle" in clouds of dust. A Spanish fiesta held at the reconstructed ranch house involves dozens of costumed actors, singers, dancers and musicians.

The pageant is a non-profit enterprise whose original budget of $2,500 in 1923 has risen to $110,000 this year. The Ramona Pageant Association, made up of directors of the chambers of commerce of Hemet and San Jacinto, holds in trust for the two cities 160 acres of land and improvements worth more than $500,000 — all paid for by receipts from the outdoor play.

Each production involves 350 performers and that many more people in costuming, makeup, ushering, transportation, parking and hundreds of other necessary tasks. The cast and stage crew are drawn from the two cities and neighboring areas. Only two — the stars, Ramona and Allessandro — are paid.

This year's Ramona is Pomona-born Susan Carol Hunter, professional actress and singer, currently a student at Occidental College.

Alessandro is played by Frank Sorell, star of stage and television, who played the role from 1967 to 1971 and now returns. Directing the production are professional actor Maurice Jara, who was raised in Pomona, and his wife, Hilda, former director of the now defunct Padua Hills Theater in Claremont. (Jara played Alessandro for 15 years.)

The Ramona Pageant is a labor of love for the people of Hemet and San Jacinto, an annual community enterprise that brings them fun, satisfaction and pride in recapturing an important segment of early American history. The events of "Ramona" actually took place in this area. The Camulos hacienda stood nearby; a well-known store and corral were featured in the novel; the murder of Juan Diego (Alessandro in the play) is recorded in the docket of the San Jacinto township court (now part of the Hemet-San Jacinto Municipal Court).

For the people of the two desert communities, each spring is "pageant time," and the customary sellout crowds at all six presentations testify to the claim that "Ramona" is California's greatest outdoor play.

Story by Joseph H. Firman

ON THE COVER

In a natural amphitheater in a canyon south of Hemet, the 49th season of the Ramona Outdoor Play will be presented at 2:30 this afternoon and Saturdays and Sundays for three weekends. The events of Helen Hunt Jackson's "Ramona" actually took place in this area. At top, Father Salvadierra (Robert Taylor) counsels Senora Moreno (Judy Oltman). Below, Father Gaspara (Dale Brusewitz) protects the Indian, Ysidro (John La Chappa) from cowboys Farrar (Dusty Bowen, with gun) and Jake (Tom Morlan).

Maurice Jara directs the Ramona pageant. His wife, Hilda, co-director, was formerly director of Padua Hills Theater.

Create own ideas with egg shells

By STEVE ELLINGSON

Now here's a way to recycle egg shells and make them beautiful conversation pieces for year-round display. Simply adding baubles, bangles, beads — even fabric and small pictures — can give you exciting "boutique" eggs that will enhance any decor. Our plans call for glittery (but economical) spangles that are easily attached.

Over 100 pictures in our step-by-step patterns take you through the entire process from emptying the egg to mounting it — like those creations shown here with actress Susan Brown. Along with the complete materials lists, our pattern even shows you how to create Christmas ornaments—plus hot air balloon mobiles. So if you've always admired egg ornaments but felt they would take more time and talent than you possess, let us "egg" you on to try it. We've made it so easy!

Stamps in the news

By SYD KRONISH
AP Newsfeatures

The U.S. Bicentennial theme is still making philatelic history as nations throughout the world continue to issue stamps honoring the 200th anniversary of our independence.

The latest commemorative set comes from the Caribbean island of Antigua and it consists of seven new stamps and a souvenir sheet. The set portrays ships of the Revolutionary era, military men and equipment, and flags of the period.

The lowest value shows two privates in Clark's Regiment while the next highest depicts riflemen in the Pennsylvania militia. Other stamps illustrate an engraved American powder horn used by the riflemen during the Revolutionary War, a Maryland troop issue water bottle, flags with the Rattlesnake and Liberty Tree designs, the American ship "Montgomery" and the Continental Navy sloop "Ranger."

Each stamp bears the inscription "U.S. Independence Bi-Centennial" at the bottom beneath the name Antigua. The souvenir sheet displays the official Congress flag.

When the U.S. Postal Service recently issued the sheet of 50 commemorative stamps honoring each state of the U.S. as part of the Bicentennial celebration, the adhesive for the state of Tennessee depicted the state flag upside down! Thus, last month, the Tennessee Legislature petitioned the Postal Service to correct the error and

By 1779 the British navy suffered from a dwindling supply of tall masts for its ships, previously cut from pine forests in Maine. British General MacLean was sent to Penobscot Bay to collect timber. An expedition of 1,000 patriot troops under General Lovell left Boston in July to attack the British, but Lovell lacked sufficient strength and the attack never came off. After a 47-day stalemate, the Americans were frightened off by British reinforcements and a few were eventually court martialed for their negligence. The World Almanac relates.

Tune In SATURDAY NIGHT

Get ready — you're going to hear a lot about the Bay City Rollers. This group has the best chance to take over where the Beatles left off. They come from Edinburgh instead of Liverpool, and there are five of them instead of four, but mark our words, the hysteria is going to be the same. The Rollers are already a smash in Great Britain, Europe, and Australia, and it's just time now, and a few more hits like today's, before they're the biggest thing in U.S.Rock. Another major factor is that they've got Sid Bernstein, who promoted the Beatles when they first came here and who said recently, "The first time I saw them I knew these boys were gold." Some critics say the Roller sound is too bubble gum, but Tom Paton, the group's manager and also from Scotland, points out that the Beatles were pretty bubbly themselves at the beginning. Paton says the Rollers will grow musically just the way the Beatles did.

recall all such stamps already issued. The official resolution requested a new series of stamps be issued with the Tennessee state flag portrayed properly.

Will Postmaster General Benjamin Bailor do the Tennessee Waltz and order the recall with a new (and correct) illustration, thus making the mistaken stamps a valuable item? Maybe the mail is late in arriving and he hasn't received the petition yet.

Three important anniversaries — the Bicentennial this year, the Centennial of 1876, and the 100th anniversary of the telephone — are linked on cancelled commemorative covers issued at Stamp Expo '76 by the International Stamp Collectors Society. The hand cancellation franking the 13-cent Telephone Centennial commemorative depicts a telephone. Superimposed on its earpiece is a Liberty Bell and the slogan "The enduring message is freedom."

The cachet on one of the covers is a reproduction of a painting which features Independence Hall — also the site of the Centennial Exposition where Alexander Graham Bell first showed his invention. The cachet on the other cover is a full color rendering of the enlarged pictorial cancellation.

The set of the two covers is available for $3.50 postpaid from: Bicentennial, International Stamp Collectors Society, P.O. Box 1693, Hollywood, Calif., 90028. Allow four to six weeks for delivery.

DID YOU KNOW THAT ... the first postage stamp to honor the Olympic Games was issued by the U.S. for the 1932 Winter Games held at Lake Placid, N.Y. (Feb. 4-13). It was a 2-center depicting a skier in action ... Great Britain does not print its name on any of its stamps.

It's the Bicentennial, so the sign stays up

MODESTO (AP) — Confronted by women clutching miniature American flags, the city council agreed to waive a ban on temporary signs so businesses can put up Bicentennial displays.

The women crowded the council chamber to protest a citation issued against their beauty operator for draping a 25-foot banner in front of his business.

The red, white and blue banner proclaimed "Happy Birthday America" with the lettering flanked by American flags.

But someone complained that it violated Modesto's sign ordinance. A citation followed which beauty shop owner Kenneth Sutherland appealed.

"I love my country, my city and I'd like to leave the sign up," Sutherland told the council this week.

The council decided to waive the rules through July so businesses can have patriotic displays during the nation's 200th birthday celebration.

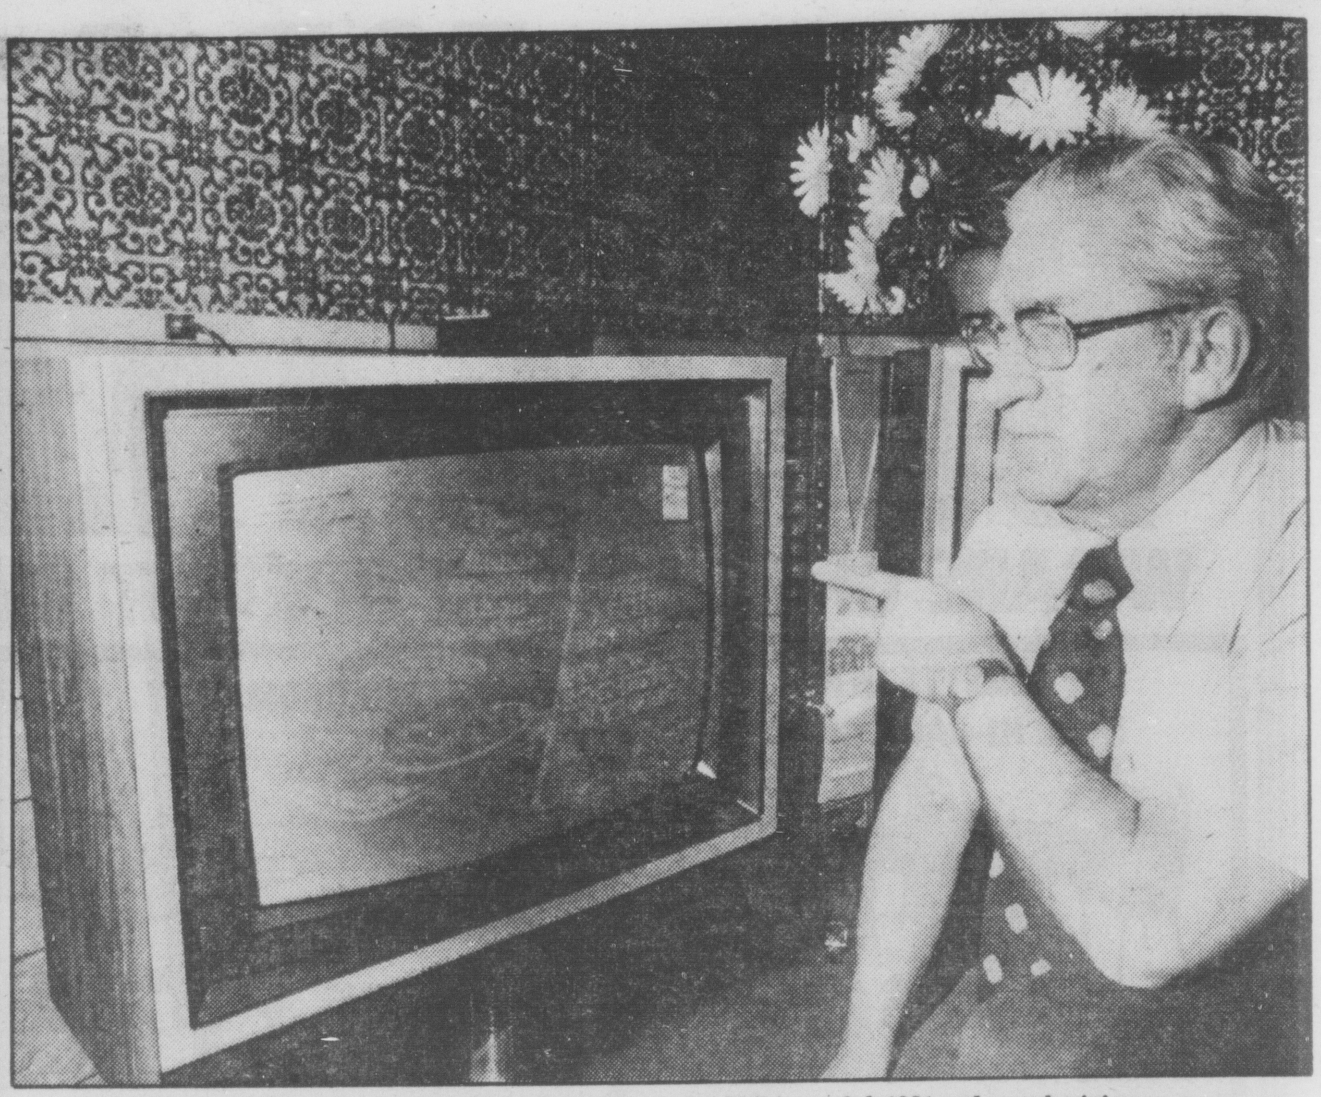
Sales manager John Hamilton in the MGA display section.



Vic Hamilton, owner of Bill's TV, shows the MGA model 1981 color television.

Family operation celebrates 20th anniversary

Bill's TV in Pomona is celebrating its 20th anniversary this year by maintaining its tradition as a family-operated business interested in full service to the customer.

"Friends, customers and friends again," is the way sales manager John Hamilton, son of owner Vic Hamilton, explains it.

"We want people to come in, have a cup of coffee and tell us what their problems are — what they're looking for," said Vic Hamilton.

Whatever the customer wants he can expect to find at Bill's TV, which is located at 183 W. Holt Ave.

The shop sells new and used television sets, rents out sets and has a repair shop.

"It's four businesses in one," said Vic Hamilton. "The big factor is that we do our own work. We repair everything we sell ourselves."

Brand name television sets offered at Bill's TV are Zenith, MGA and General Electric. The store also carries stereo equipment, radios and accessories, and will soon be offering citizens' band radios.

The store was opened 20 years ago by Bill Jaep, who operated it until two years ago when Vic Hamilton and his wife, Lila, purchased it.

At the time of the purchase, Vic Hamilton had worked in the store for eight years with Jaep.

In addition to the Hamiltons, other employes of the shop are Marie Coe, bookkeeper; Bob Peterson, outside service representative; Art Gonzales, repair shop foreman; Ed McDaniel, repairman; and Bill Southworth.

The store's repair shop has a policy of offering free inspection and estimate of repair costs on all television sets. The customer need only bring the set in for this service.

Store hours at Bill's TV are 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday, until 8 p.m. on Fridays and until 4:30 p.m. on Saturdays.

"This has always been a family operation and still is," said Vic Hamilton. "We do the best we can for all our customers."

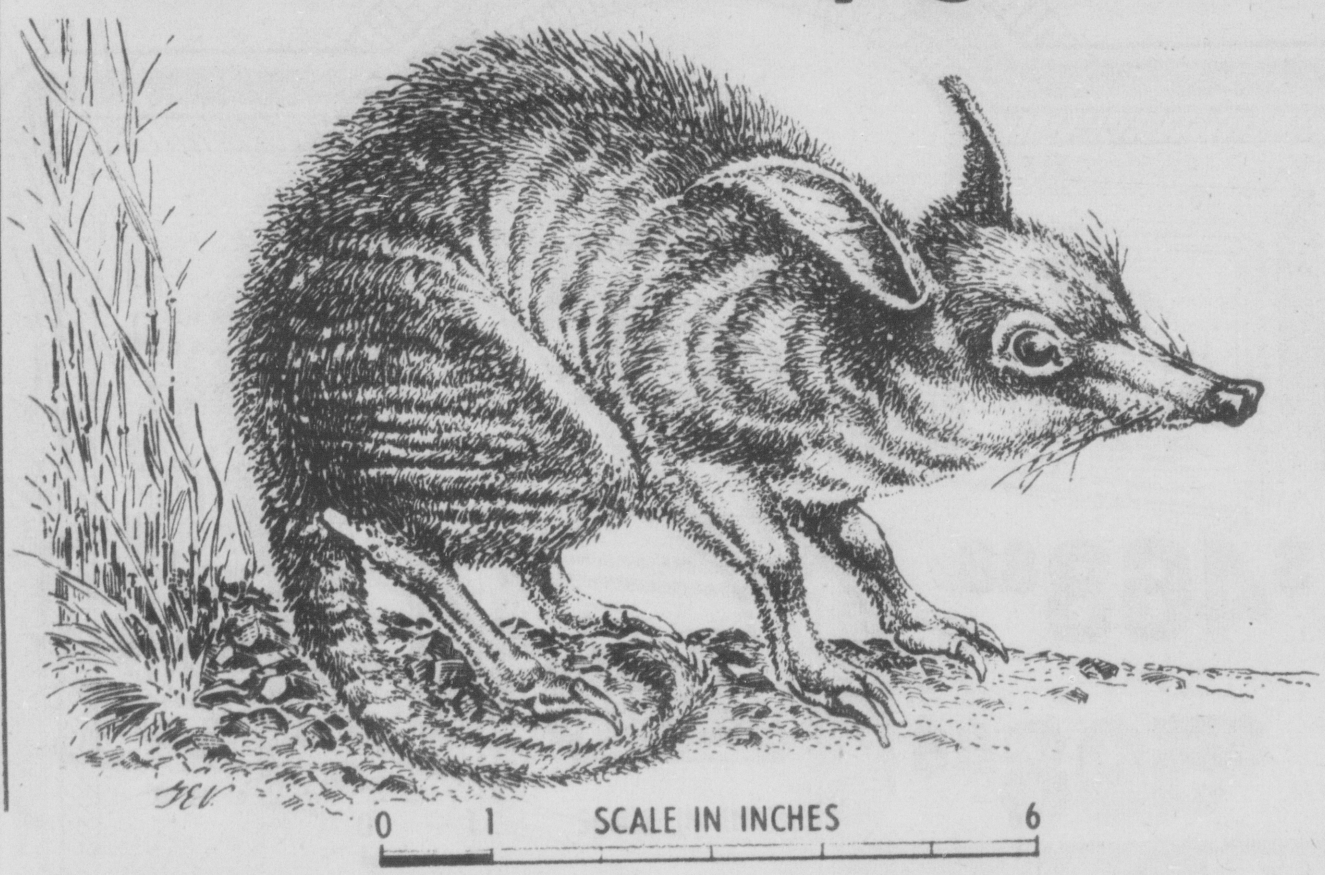
The tale of the pig-footed bandicoot



Was there really such a creature?

By JOHN BARBOUR
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Its footprints — wherever they are — are like those of a small deer. Yet is is no larger than a rabbit, if indeed it exists at all.

It lives, or used to, in Australia. Or parts of Australia. It was last seen some 65 years ago — perhaps.

If ever there was a maybe-creature, it is the pig-footed bandicoot, a gentle marsupial which carries its wee young in its wee pouch, like the kangaroo.

It occupies less than one page in the Red Data Book on Mammals, the world listing of rare and endangered species.

The catalog freely admits that almost everything known about the pig-foot is hearsay and probably not admissible in court.

Its status is "indeterminate," which means that not enough is known about its presence to be sure that it has one.

The pig-footed bandicoot first appeared to the scientific mind when General Major Mitchell spotted the creature on his expedition to the Darling and Murray Rivers of New South Wales in 1836. It's been in trouble ever since.

The frightened, if historic, creature fled into a hollow tree, and when Mitchell's native guides retrieved it, it probably lost its tail in the process. It was thus presented to zoologists who dubbed it Chaeropus ecaudatus which means "tailless" pig-footed bandicoot.

In fact, one scientist in the Australian wilds drew a picture of the pig-footed bandicoot from memory, omitting the tail, and gave it to natives in an attempt to gather more specimens. The natives dutifully went into the woods and caught other, similar bandicoots — not the pig-footed variety — and to make them conform to the drawing, dutifully lopped off their tails.

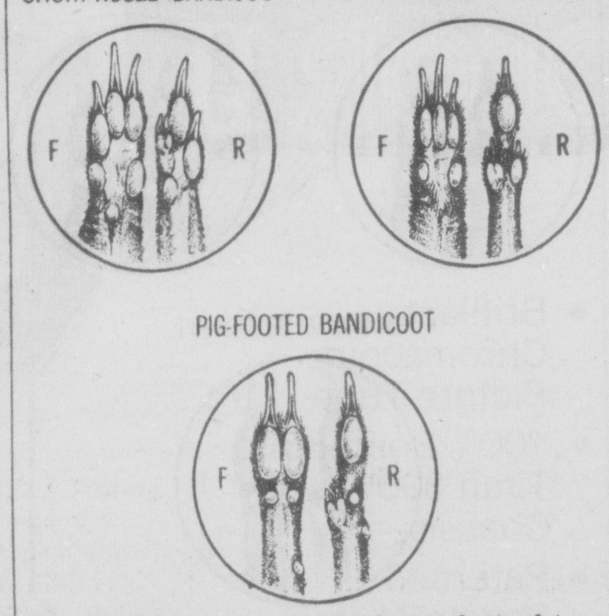
The pig-foot is one of some 17 species and subspecies of bandicoots in Australia and New Guinea. It has a trunk-like nose, pointed ears and long, slender limbs.

Its pouch opens to the rear, and the young climb in and out posterially.

It lives on vegetation — onions, roots and so forth — and insects.

In response to an inquiry, W.P. Crowcroft, director of the Taronga Zoo in New South Wales, writes:

"I have made inquiries of the most knowledgeable mammal people here and they all confirm that the animal has not been seen since about 1910. There is a story that aborigines saw it in the late 1920s but it is of course dubious and not supported by a specimen. This is because they eat anything they catch, of course."



Illustrated are the fore and rear feet of two common species of bandicoot, above, and, below, of the pig-footed bandicoot -- with the distinctive cloven forefoot for which the elusive little marsupial is named.

Family's addiction to collecting cars, antiques a problem

BICKLETON, Wash. (AP) — Two-car and three-car garages aren't all that rare in affluent America, but what is the 75-car family to do?

A few years back Laurence Whitmore built a 5,000-square-foot building to house the best of his automobile collection, but he acquires cars at such a pace that the structure was filled before he finished it.

Whitmore's wheat ranch filled with cars and his 26-room house filled with antiques are less a symbol of affluence and more a symptom of addiction to collecting.

"Every time a relative passed away we'd end up with another house full of furniture. You can't sell something you've been given, so we'd just make room for it," he says.

Whitmore is partial to Studebakers, which he's been gathering since the line went out of production in 1961. He and his oldest son, Jack, have a model made every year after 1947 but still suffer "a few gaps" from 1923 to 1947.

They even collected an old school bus, which is loaned once a year to the local high school students for their "senior sneak."

Meanwhile, as the autos accumulated in the yard, Ada Ruth Whitmore was filling the house, preserving the history of the prosperous dryland wheat farming area that was first settled early in the 1900s.

The collection includes rolltop desks, marble-topped dressers, clocks and an entire room filled with stained-glass windows.

"We had to do something," she said. "We had all those rooms upstairs filled with stuff and four kids sleeping in one room."

Whitmore then built a 960-square-foot concrete structure dubbed the "Whoop and Holler" museum, and again the collecting outpaced the construction.

"You wouldn't believe the stuff people give us," Laurence says. Not long ago someone left an antique cobbler's bench in the back of his pickup while it was parked in town.

"Never did figure out who brought us that," he said.

"Laurence wanted the bell from the Mabton Church several years ago, and he had to tear down the whole building to get it," says Mrs. Whitmore.

But bargain hunters beware. The Whitmore rule is look, but don't try to buy.

"We have a lot of stuff we're proud of and enjoy letting people see it," says Whitmore.

Enough is enough, however, and one of these days the Whitmores are going to stop collecting.

One of these days.

"We've got two trucks, an old wood stove and a bunch of furniture people are waiting for us to come and pick up," says Mrs. Whitmore.

Divorces still climb

WASHINGTON (AP) — The divorce rate in the United States continues to climb, but the rise is not as steep.

The National Center for Health Statistics said Monday that more than one million marriages ended in divorce in 1975, up 4.3 per cent from 1974.

Girls less fit at 16 than at eight

The average 16-year-old girl is not nearly as strong as she was at eight, relative to her body size, and she is even considerably less fit than she was at 14.

The reason for her physical deterioration is lack of body use, or exercise, according to an article by Laurence E. Morehouse and Leonard Gross, authors of the current best-selling book, "Total Fitness in 30 Minutes a Week."

It is only a myth that women are inherently weaklings, the authors say. Girls' muscles are as trainable as boys', and "use makes the organ" applies to the entire body. When it's used it gains strength, suppleness and endurance. When the body is not used it stiffens, weakens and eteriorates.

But the condition is not irreversible. Girls can almost immediately achieve physical fitness and become more successfuly athletes, feel peppier for hours longer during the day and have reserves of energy for social hours, according to the authors.

They outline a plan that targets the three expressions of fitness that concern most teen-age girls: carriage, weight and level of energy.

Carriage (posture) is the simplest to maintain: Concentrate on two points, your breastbone and your pelvis, the large hip bones you feel just below your waist. Raise your breastbone ever so slightly and your head will sit in its proper position, your shoulders will fall gracefully to the side.

Level your pelvis by carrying your navel as high off the ground as it will comfortably go and tightening your stomach and buttock muscles.

Weight: The only way to convert a fat body to a lean one is to exchange fat for muscular tissue.

Residents, interns in L.A. vote to go back to work

But talks to improve patient care continue

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Residents and interns of the Los Angeles County hospital system voted overwhelmingly Friday to return to work while continuing negotiations to improve patient care.

Doctors met at three county hospitals Friday morning to vote on the back-to-work resolution.

"At all three hospitals there was an overwhelming majority who voted in favor of going back to work, showing good faith and continuing negotiations with the county," said Dr. James MacIntyre, vice president of the Joint Council of Interns and Residents. Doctors were advised to return to their posts as of 4 p.m. Friday, MacIntyre said.

A marathon negotiating session with a state mediator Thursday night produced what county spokesmen called some progress on both sides. About 250 interns and residents paid an unscheduled visit to county supervisors Thursday, waiting three hours before supervisors would let them air their grievances.

Spokesman for the county health services reported that 411 of 1,023 interns and residents scheduled were not on duty Friday. USC-County Medical center was again the hardest hit with 385 of 699 doctors scheduled to work out on strike. Doctors were also out at Martin Luther King, Harbor General hospitals and Rancho Los Amigos facility.

Another negotiating session has been scheduled by the county for May 3, provided the doctors return to work, a county spokesman said. The 11-hour meeting Thursday resulted in both sides making "some reasonable concessions," the spokesman said. "We're hopeful that the membership will agree that we have made sufficient movement to continue with the negotiatins process."

County officials still maintain they will follow standard county procedures to fire any doctors who remain on strike for more than three days, but doctors say any settlement must contain a provision for striker amnesty.

Talks between the county and doctors broke down earlier this week. Doctors say patient care and loss of benefits are major issues

The interns and residents want the county to put $5 million into a patient care fund set up as an experiment last year, but so far the county has offered $100,000. The fund, which was bankrolled at about $1 million this year, was used to purchase equipment for the hospitals. Spokesman for the doctors say they hope to use the fund for hiring personnel and purchasing other equipment this year.

Loss of traditional benefits, such as meal privileges, is also at issue in the strike.

THE PEACEFUL PARADE

Thousands of Bostonians marched in Boston Friday deploring violance and urging peace. This crowd of marchers gathered at Boston Common where prayers by leaders of all faiths were given after a week of racial beatings. The march was led by Sens. Edward M. Kennedy and Edward W. Brooke, Gov. Michael Dukakis and Mayor Keven H. White.

Californians criticize austerity program,

Postmen picket, hope to upgrade service

By The Associated Press

Pickets went up at post offices throughout California Friday as mail carriers protested what they claim is a conspiracy to destroy public control of the U.S. Postal Service.

Union spokesmen stressed the action is not a strike and that all picketing is being done by off-duty workers.

Workers say the campaign has been organized to explain why service deteriorates as the cost of postage increases.

Postal union officials said Friday was chosen for the demonstration because it is expected that the postal subsidy bill would be out of the U.S. Senate by the end of April. The union also said postal management in the Western Region, primarily California, is planning a 12 per cent cutback in services which includes elimination of Saturday delivery by May 31.

"We want the public to know the postal employes want to give better service to the people," said Los Angeles Letter Carriers Union vice president Carleton Tyler. "But because of the austerity program that the post office is undertaking, we're not able to give the level of service that we believe every American citizen is entitled to."

The union ran an item in Thursday's Fresno Bee which charged "It's management that has been cutting downtown business deliveries and now talks of cutting home deliveries to three days a week."

One picket arrived at the main post office in Fresno wearing a Revolutionary War era costume.

Spence Burton, vice president of the San Francisco Letter Carriers Local, said postal workers are not protesting for their own benefit.

A GREETING FOR MOTHER

Victoria Fyodorova Pouy, right, greets her mother Zoya Fyodorova with a kiss at New York's Kennedy Airport Friday evening. Zoya Fyodorova, whose daughter was born after a World War II romance with an American naval officer, received her exit visa from the U.S.S.R. in time for the birth of her grandchild.

Anti-busing rally to draw 40,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — Anti-busing groups from around the country are assembling in the nation's capital for a march and rally that organizers say could draw up to 40,000 persons.

The protest, to include a 1½-mile-long parade today from the Washington Monument to the Capitol where a rally will be staged on the west steps, is being sponsored by a Louisville, Ky., antibusing group.

But a spokesman for that group — Union Labor Against Busing — said Friday night that members of antibusing groups in as many as 20 other states are also participating.

The demonstration is aimed at persuading Congress to pass laws to ban the use of forced busing to achieve school desegregation, but the rally is more likely to be seen by thousands of Bicentennial tourists than by members of Congress who are still on their Easter vacation.

The demonstration comes a day after a crowd estimated at 100,000 marched through Boston streets to protest a week-long spree of racial beatings and stonings.

Both Boston and Louisville have been torn by racial tension since court-ordered school desegregation plans requiring extensive cross-busing were put in force last fall.

The ULAB, the largest of a number of Louisville antibusing groups, staged a similar protest in Washington last October, drawing about 8,000 persons.

Jack Shore, president of the group and chief organizer for today's march, said this demonstration is better organized than the first.

He said it has been three or four months in planning, while "last time we only planned three weeks ahead of time."

Shore said the Washington rally was planned because "we've been told by the politicians at the local level that there wasn't anything they could possibly do to stop court-ordered busing."

Racial beatings in Boston

100,000 marchers protest violent week

BOSTON (AP) — A crowd estimated at 100,000 marched through downtown Boston on Friday to protest a week of racial beatings and stonings, but the poor whites and blacks responsible for much of the trouble were noticeably absent.

The mile-long procession, led by politicians and clergymen, ended with a prayer session on the steps of City Hall. The marchers, almost exclusively white, were mostly well-dressed workers who had been given time off from their jobs in government and business office buildings.

While they walked, two victims of the violence remained hospitalized. One, a man, had severe brain damage, and the other, a girl, a skull fracture. Both are white and were attacked by gangs of blacks in separate incidents during the past week.

The current wave of unrest began two weeks ago when a black lawyer was beaten during a white antibusing demonstration and escalated in recent days with racial beatings and stonings in poor black and white neighborhoods. It was the latest outburst in a city wracked by racial tension since busing for integration began two years ago.

Friday's "Procession Against Violence" came one day after 22 people were hurt in a bomb blast at the Suffolk County Courthouse. That incident has not been linked with the racial trouble.

White antibusing groups boycotted the rally, and few blacks showed up, either.

Early to bed but set clock

WASHINGTON (AP) — You should be going to bed an hour earlier than usual tonight — at least according to your clock.

That's because, when you hit the sack tonight, it will be time to set your clock ahead an hour, marking the arrival of Daylight Saving Time.

The change gives you more hours of light in the afternoon and evening to enjoy the summer weather outdoors and it officially takes effect at 2 a.m. Sunday, continuing until 2 a.m. Oct. 31.

The Senate approved a bill to extend daylight time to seven months this year and next, from mid-March to mid-October. But inaction in the House kept the plan from becoming law.

Weather

Night and morning low clouds becoming mostly sunny in the afternoon today and Sunday. Highs both days near 70; overnight lows in the mid-50s. Sunrise Sunday 6:08 a.m. Sunset Sunday 7:30 p.m.

Russian actress finds her daughter again

NEW YORK (AP) — Russian actress Zoya Fyodorova arrived here Friday night for a tearful but joyous reunion with her only child, a daughter born of a World War II romance with an American naval officer.

The 64-year-old Miss Fyodorova and her daughter Victoria fell into each other's arms at Kennedy Airport when the older woman arrived from the Soviet Union to await the birth of her first grandchild. The mother wore fur-trimmed brown coat and hat.

"I have a lovely daughter and am so happy to be here," Miss Fyodorova told newsmen, in an interview partly in English and partly in Russian, which was translated by an employe of Aeroflot, the Soviet airline.

Asked whether she would see her wartime lover, retired Adm. Jackson R. Tate, Miss Fodorova said she hoped it might be possible.

"It is a little to early to answer that question" her son-in-law said.

"I love my father but I cannot go through my mother's heart," added Victoria. "That is a private matter between them."

Nixon's future bright, says younger brother

SEATTLE (AP) — Ed Nixon, younger brother of the former president, says Richard Nixon has recovered from phlebitis, probably will publish a book in about a year, and "his future is bright."

Ed Nixon, at 46, 17 years younger than Richard, said in an interview with KING television news here Friday, "I'm hopeful that in the next few years, as the years proceed now, he will be able to get back into the kind of statesman-like work that he's been so good at."

Nixon did not say what such work might involve.

The younger Nixon said the entire family had generally recovered from the Watergate trauma that was capped by Nixon's August 1974 resignation.

"We Nixons are fairly resiliant when it comes to emotional distress," he said. He added that his biggest problem during that period was answering questions "from people who don't understand the underlying facts."

He did not explain the comment further.

He also said his two children, both in high school now, weathered the experience well.

"I haven't had to explain very much (to them)," he said.

Want black woman president

Students free 14 college trustees

ATLANTA (AP) — Spelman College students released 14 college trustees they had locked in a room for 26 hours after the trustees agreed Friday to discuss student demands for a black woman president.

Faculty member Millicent Dobbs Jordan, a spokeswoman for protesting students, teachers and alumnae at the predominantly black woman's college, said the trustees agreed to meet with four students and two representatives each from the administrative staff, faculty and alumnae.

Mrs. Jordan, aunt of Atlanta Mayor Maynard Jackson, said the board would discuss the possibility of organizing a new search committee and rescinding its appointment Thursday of Dr. Donald Stewart, a black who is now a dean at the University of Pennsylvania.

The lockin began Thursday when the trustees named Stewart to succeed Dr. Albert Manley, also a black. The protesters lashed the board room doors shut with a rope after learning that the board had ignored demands for a black woman president.

An estimated 500 to 600 students at the 1,200-student campus spent the night in the halls outside the room.

"We're going to make the trustees believe that Spelman women mean business," vowed Jeta Edwards, a senior majoring in philosophy.

Some faculty members and alumnae brought food to the students. The captive trustees — seven men and seven women — apparently sustained themselves on snack food they had brought to the board meeting. The demonstrators supplied trustees with drinking water, bedsheets, toilet paper and trash cans intended for use as toilets.

On Friday morning, the students allowed Manley and Board Chairman Francis B. Rogers to re-enter the board room and negotiate with trustees. Both had been allowed to leave Thursday because of poor health.

Manley is retiring at age 68 after 23 years as president. He was preceded by four white women presidents.

SKATEBOARD MARATHON — Noel Lebron, 14, center, and Nicky Lebron, 12, muscular dystrophy patients watch Walnut High School students kickoff their second annual Hang Ten Skateboard Marathon to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association. The event began Friday at 4 p.m. in the school gym and will end Sunday at 6 p.m. for a total of 50 hours of skateboarding. Sponsors are paying students by the hour for their participation in the event. Mark Martinez is chairman.

Striking rubber workers to apply for food stamps

CLEVELAND (AP) — Negotiations recessed for the weekend Friday while most of the 60,000 striking United Rubber Workers drew their last full paychecks and many began applying for food stamps.

Before the bargaining rooms here emptied Friday, federal mediator Gayle Weinriter said, "We made some progress."

Peter Bommarito, URW international president, agreed it was "a healthy discussion" but added that if Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. didn't come closer to meeting what the URW has sought, the URW was likely to start raising its demands.

At many union headquarters among the Big Four's 47 U.S. plants, URW teams were preparing to help members seek food stamps.

Strike benefit payments of $35 a week were not to begin until the first week of May but would continue for two weeks after the strike ends.

With $6 million in reserve that would be used up in three weeks, the union already has planned a special convention to replenish its funds and also hopes to borrow, perhaps from such other unions as the United Auto Workers, which has given such help in the past.

The strike began with Tuesday's midnight expiration of master contracts with Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., B.F. Goodrich Co. and Uniroyal Inc. The URW concentrated its efforts on Firestone in the belief it was most likely to produce a pact that would set the pattern for the rest.

Soliah story backed

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — A masseuse testified Friday that Steven Soliah was with her in San Francisco the night before and the night after a Sacramento bank robbery in which he is charged, but said she couldn't remember the morning of the robbery.

"I don't have a specific recollection of that morning — of that period," Emily Toback testified at Soliah's trial in U.S. District Court.

Soliah had testified he was at Miss Toback's house, 95 miles from Sacramento, when the Crocker National Bank branch in suburban Carmichael was robbed the morning of April 21, 1975. A woman customer was killed by a shotgun blast during the robbery.

Both sides rested shortly after Miss Toback's testimony. The case, which has lasted seven weeks, could go to the jury on Monday after closing arguments. If convicted, the blond, 27-year-old housepainter could get life in prison.

His testimony Thursday had included a description of his life with Patricia Hearst.

Miss Toback, a brunette wearing a pants suit, described her job as "corrective massage." U.S. Atty. Dwayne Keyes asked her if she worked at a massage parlor.

"The title of the place is Body and Mind Clinic," she replied.

ROUNDUP TIME — Leaders in Diamond Bar's 10th annual Round-up, now underway, are Silvia Bishop, left, parade chairman; game show host Regis Philbin, grand marshall of today's parade; and Sharon Tanzar, chairman of the Diamond Bar Bicentennial Committee.

Philbin to lead parade in D.B.

Television host Regis Philbin is grand marshall of Diamond Bar's 10th annual Roundup parade set to step off at 10 a.m. today.

Parade chairman Silvia Bishop, who is preident of the Diamond Bar Junior Woman's Club, said the line of march will begin on Pathfinder Road and proceed north along Diamond Bar Boulevard to Grand Avenue where the parade will disband.

An award ceremony will follow at the festival site, Grand Avenue and Diamond Bar Boulevard.

More than 100 units will participate in the parade, Mrs. Bishop said, including 16 bands, 21 equestrian units, floats and novelty acts.

He's going for a walk—2 years around the U.S.

By JON MORRIS
PB Staff Writer

Rick Ronshausen figured his mother was "crazy" when she suggested that he walk to New York.

But today, Ronshausen doesn't feel it was such a bad idea.

The 22-year-old San Dimas man is leaving this morning on a 6,000-mile backpacking journey across the country that he estimates will take about two years.

"It's no publicity stunt," said Ronhausen. "I felt this was a good way to travel, and the United States is the best country to travel in."

Carrying a 90-pound backpack on his trip, Ronshausen plans to keep a daily journal while traveling and to later write a book.

He will take a bus today to Eureka and begin his backpacking from there. Ronshausen hopes to reach Loring Air Force Base in Maine, his final destination, by May 1, 1978.

Ronshausen will visit 48 states, but very few main roads or highways. He plans to travel along various rivers, staying 20 miles from a main road to avoid being robbed or attacked.

His heavy backpack includes two-month food supply, clothing, maps, binoculars, sleeping bag and tent.

Ronshausen plans to visit relatives along the way, and his mother and sister will join him for a few weeks in Utah this summer.

Basically, Ronshausen, former janitor at San Dimas Community Hospital, had the itch to travel and that's why he's going. "I talked casually about backpacking and my mother said, why not walk to New York?"

Ronshausen thought about it for a year, and finally decided to make the journey.

After the trip, he plans to write a book. "I think I'll call it the 6,000-mile man."

Candidates

Who's facing whom in state primary, general elections?

By L. T. ROGERS
Asst. City Editor

Area voters will have a "feast or famine" in selecting political party nominees for state and federal offices at the June primary elections.

Some ballots will contain multiple party choices while others list only one party nominee.

Those candidates winning their party's nomination will then face opposing party selections at the November general election.

One area candidate will go through both the primary and general elections without opposition. He is Rep. John Rousselot, a Republican who represents the 26th Congressional District. No Democratic candidates had filed for the office.

Other districts where candidates will have no party opposition in the primary but will meet in the general election are:

— 35th Congressional District where Rep. Jim Lloyd, a Democrat and incumbent, is challenged by Covina Mayor Louis Brutocao, a Republican.

— 25th State Senatorial District where state Sen. H. L. Richardson, a Republican now representing the 19th Senatorial District, is challenged by Ronald Barbatoe, a Democrat and West Covina attorney for the reapportioned district.

— 62nd Assembly District where Assemblyman William Lancaster, a Republican and incumbent, is challenged by Sandy Baldonado, a Democrat and Covina economic analyst.

In the 33rd Congressional District, however, Democrats will have to select a candidate from three party hopefuls. They are Dr. Philip Megdal, a Norwalk dentist, Merl T. Doty, a Downey educator, and Ted Snyder of Whittier, a community college administrator.

The Republicans have only one candidate, Rep. Del Clawson, the incumbent.

Both Democrats and Republicans will have multiple choices in the 33rd state Senatorial District where three Democrats and four Republicans are seeking their parties endorsements.

The Democratic candidates are Norwalk Councilman Cecil Green, Santa Fe Springs Council member Betty Wilson and Gerald Olivet of Whittier, a governmental affairs adviser.

Seeking the Republican nomination are Phil Ortiz, a Downey business executive; Andy Harrison, a Whittier tour bus driver; Assemblyman William Campbell of Hacienda Heights now represents the 64th District; and Angel L. Soto of Cerritos, an aircraft maintenance mechanic.

In the 64th Assembly District, three Democrats, four Republicans and one member of the American Independent Party are seeking the seat being vacated by Campbell.

The Democrats are George Aames, Rowland Heights, an attorney; Stan Carroll, Whittier, community college teacher; and James E. Gonsalves, La Mirada, a county supervisor's deputy.

The Republicans are Sue Ellen Blevens, Whittier, educational counselor; Councilman Wayne Grisham, La Mirada; M. David Stirling, Hacienda Heights, counselor-at-law; and Jarrold Lawson Jr., Hacienda Heights, sales consultant.

Lone candidate for the American Independent Party is Larry A. Breazeale, Rowland Heights, a welder and ironworker.

In the 65th Assembly District, two candidates will vie for the Republican Party nomination. They are Clyde R. Stephens, Pomona, a quality control engineer, and Don Donnelly, Pomona, a fireman and employe relations representative.

Assemblyman Bill McVittie of Upland, the Democratic 65th District incumbent, is without party opponents.

However, Assemblyman Terry Goggin, Democratic incumbent in the 66th Assembly District, must face councilman John M. Bareno of Rialto, an educator and philosopher, in the June primary.

The winner will then meet Tamara J. Wolfingarger, a Fontana businesswoman, the only Republican candidate, in the November general election.

Sheriff stations to be modified

Two local sheriff's stations will undergo modifications this spring and summer to control temperatures in microwave rooms that house sensitive electronic equipment in dispatch systems.

The substations at Industry and San Dimas are among 16 throughout Los Angeles County slated for the improvements.

First District Supervisor Peter Schabarum says present environmental conditions at the stations are detrimental to the costly equipment and jeopardize the system's efficiency.

The county is expected to call for bids next month.

Time to spring —ahead

Spring forward!

Daylight Savings Time comes to the valley at 2 a.m. Sunday and residents are advised to set their watches and clocks forward one hour if they want to stay within the system.

Morning will come an hour sooner but the sun will stay around an hour longer in the evening. Daylight time will stay around until next October, when Americans will set their time back one hour for standard time.

Death on beach

CORONA DEL MAR (AP) — A 52-year-old Newport Beach man has shot and killed a fellow worker during a stroll on the beach, then turned the gun on himself, police said.

Authorities said both men were dead on arrival at a local hospital. Walter Andrew Ebert fired two shots into the face and body of William A. Bement, 51, of Anaheim, before firing his .38-caliber revolver once at his own head.

Masons laud work of special ed teachers

Thirty special education teachers in Pomona's public schools — those who teach children who have physical, emotional and mental impairments — were honored this week by two Masonic lodges.

As spokesman for the lodges — Pomona Masonic Lodge 246 and Compass Lodge 590 — Glenn A. Dellenbach praised the men and women as being "very special and very dovoted, with understanding, energy and dedication."

"These people dedicate their lives to make other lives richer and more meaningful," said Dellenbach. "Today special education teachers help young persons with problems find jobs. This is a wonderful thing."

As their names were read, the teachers stood and were applauded by the capacity audience at the school board meeting. They were Donna Stevenson, Mary Breiner, Richard Richardson, Alma Rogers, Jane Estupinian, Dorothy Heard, Yolanda Segura, John McCahan, Delaine Sanders, Woodrow Davis, Ron D'Alessando, Joe Corey, Lynn Underwood, Ann Goulding, Sonya Davis, Jerry Duffy, Elinor Hamilton, Collette Felder, Marlee McWain, Julie Ritchev, Rita Isaacson, Mitzie Mayer, Dorothy Walker, John Hauk, Stephanie Timms, Charles Porto, Nancy Anderson, Bonnie Thompson, Bob Wojahn and Al Henry.

Rubylee Gracy, coordinator of special education in the district, also was honored.

Dellenbach said certificates of appreciation would be mailed to each one by the Masons.

The occasion was the Masons' annual observance of Public Schools Month. Officers of both lodges were present and were introduced. Dellenbach read a proclamation issued by Pomona City Council claiming this week as Public Schools Week in Pomona.

During April all 21 elementary schools, 10 secondary schools and the adult school in the district are holding open houses.

Valley briefs

Slaying suspect to take stand

Samuel Jones, accused of slaying an Ontario drug counselor on Nov. 25, is expected to take the witness stand in his own defense Monday in West Valley Superior Court.

In opening the defense Thursday, Jones's attorney, Ted Hewett, said that only two defense witnesses would appear, one Jones himself. He said that Jones will explain what happened on Nov. 25 and the preceding dates that should clarify the questions raised in the case.

Jones is accused of slaying Raymond Meras, an Ontario drug counselor. Meras was found dead on Nov. 26 of what was described in the trial as a gunshot wound of the head. Police arrested Jones and another Ontario man, Francis Anthony, for investigation of murder in the case.

Since their arrest, Anthony pleaded guilty to being an accessory after the fact in the murder and became the key prosecution witness. The prosecution alleges that Jones killed Meras in the course of a robbery.

The jury was recessed by Judge Clifton L. Allen Thursday afternoon, explaining that he and the attorneys would be working on jury instructions until Monday when they would be recalled.

CIM inmate stabbed twice

A 20-year-old California Institution for Men inmate was listed in good condition in the prison hospital Friday after being attacked and stabbed twice Thursday afternoon.

Inmate David M. Guillen, who was convicted of second degree burglary in Los Angeles and arrived at CIM only Tuesday, suffered a stab wound of the neck and hip, prison authorities said.

Guillen, said authorities, was unable to give correctional officers a description of his assailants.

Correctional officers moving the inmates back into their cells following an afternoon headcount were unaware of the incident until Guillen walked up to them and asked for medical treatment.

Authorities said no weapons were found in a special "shakedown" inspection at the hall.

Building record in Chino

Building activity in Chino continues to set a record pace, with nearly $10 million in valuations recorded for March, the biggest month in the city's history.

A total of $9,927,590 was recorded last month for 941 permits, pushing valuations for the first three months of 1976 to $18,066,819. That total is more than $12 million higher than the same period of 1975, which was a record year.

As usual, single family homes accounted for the major part of valuations for March. Permits for 240 homes were given, for $8,876,937 in valuations, according to city building official Ben F. Joy.

"Our record building shows no signs of slacking off," said Joy. "Permits were given in March for homes which will make up eight new housing tracts in the city."

Other valuations were for two commercial buildings, $129,169; an agricultural building, $3,798; swimming pools, signs and miscellaneous, and additions and repairs. The commercial structures include a new optometry building at 12536 10th St., for $93,169; and the interior of the Dos Pesos restaurant at 12027 Central Ave., for $36,000.

Perhaps you have had the fun of holding an empty seashell close to your ear and imagining that you heard the roaring of the sea.

Of course, the sounds you hear in a seashell are not really the sound of the crashing waves or the roaring of the sea. This is just a pretty notion.

The sounds that you hear are really the many sounds that are always being made around you.

The hollow body of a seashell, like the body of a violin or guitar, acts like a resonator — something that makes noises resound or echo back and forth.

The seashell picks up the many sounds around you. Some of these sounds are so faint that you may not hear them at all without the seashell.

The smooth inner surfaces of the hollow shell cause the sounds to resound, or echo, within the shell. This amplifies, or strengthens, the many sounds, so that, altogether, they make a sound that reminds us of the roaring of the ocean.

A pocket radio, camera, World Almanac globe or other fine prize will be awarded to the first youngster sending in a question used here. Send your question and your age to Johnny Wonder, (c/o this newspaper), Box 1335 (DA), Santa Cruz, CA 95061.

Juries giving doctors better break

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California juries are being kinder to doctors this year than in the past, giving them favorable verdicts in nearly four out of five malpractice cases, a study says.

The report last week by Jury Verdicts Weekly magazine said doctors won 66 per cent of malpractice trials in 1974, 73 per cent in 1975 and 79 per cent in the first three months of this year.

The figures don't show the disposition of many large malpractice suits, which are settled out of court. But some lawyers say settlements are becoming fewer and harder to get.

Rodney Klein, a Sacramento attorney who handles malpractice cases, says insurance companies are being told by their lawyers "to go to trial where liability will be difficult to prove.

"On a close case, they won't settle," Klein says. "They are forcing the cases to trial."

The survey said doctors won 142 of 215 malpractice trials in California two years ago, 157 of 215 last year, and 38 of 48 in the first three months of this year.

The figures may reflect jurors' reactions to publicity about the hardships doctors are suffering because of soaring malpractice insurance rates.

"There are cases which were lost because jurors were taken in by the alleged crisis," says Ralph Drayton, another Sacramento lawyer who handles malpractice cases.

Klein says he has encountered many a juror who feels "that if he brings a verdict against one doctor, it will cause hardship against the whole medical profession by raising their insurance premiums."

The legislature, meanwhile, is pondering several malpractice bills which would cut doctors' premiums to an average of $4,000 a year but raise them in the future.

Other proposals would take malpractice cases out of the courts altogether, sending them to an arbitration panel.

Some doctors reportedly are now requiring patients to sign a form before treatment agreeing to arbitration in case of a malpractice complaint.

But some doctors apparently are having second thoughts about arbitration.

Dr. David Rubsamen of Berkeley, a lawyer and physician who writes a monthly newsletter about malpractice, says recent trends in jury trials justify a "wait-and-see attitude (about arbitration) for another year or two."

"Physicians have been receiving much better treatment from juries in the past year," he writes.

"This has been seen in the very large number of marginal cases which the defense has won and in the comparatively lower verdicts awarded in cases which are lost."

Predicter of quake wouldn't be afraid

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Caltech scientist who cautiously predicts Southern California is due for a major earthquake within the next year said he would not be afraid to live near the projected epicenter of the projected quake.

Only common-sense personal precautions should be taken, Dr. James Whitcomb of the California Institute of Technology said, as he stressed the experimental nature of his method in making the quake prediction.

He said his only precaution was to remove hi-fi loudspeakers from the walls of his home and place them on the floor.

"Given the uncertainity of the method, I don't think we can call upon more drastic action than that," the geophysicist said at a news conference.

Whitcomb also noted that his forecasting method, having to to with the changes in speed of sound waves traveling through the potential quake area, seems to be losing favor in Russia — where it was developed some 10 years ago.

But a sociologist who headed a National Academy of Sciences study of earthquake prediction and public policy last year said Whitcomb's prediction should spur a number of actions.

"There is no way at this stage of the state of quake forecasting that we will have a 100 per cent certain tag," said Dr. Ralph Turner, a professor at UCLA.

"We have to go ahead and start acting."

Turner said the most immediate concern should be updating or demolishing vulnerable buildings constructed before anti-earthquake codes were instituted in 1933.

He claimed efforts to do so by the city Building and Safety Department has been slowed by a lack of legal muscle and money.

"Most of the people who will be killed will be killed in buildings that collapse, and most of them will be ones we've known for years are not safe."

Whitcomb was asked at the news conference why he made his prediction public if he could not be more certain about its reliability.

"Our field is so visible to the public that even if we wanted to, we could not keep these tests quiet," he replied. "Therefore we must live with the fact that this test is going to be visible and we must label it as such...it is only a test and that's all I'm saying."

Pays high price for his vodka

MOSCOW (AP) — A drunken tractor driver who slammed his machine three times into a store that wouldn't sell him vodka has been sentenced to four years in jail in the city of Kirov southwest of Moscow, Izvestia has reported.

The government newspaper said the tractor first sheared off the store's front steps, then took a corner off the building and finally became wedged in its front door.

"This saved the terrified customers and the resolute salesman," Izvestia said.

Records fall at Relays as local athletes shine

By MIKE BROSSART
PB Staff Writer

One national junior college record fell along with several meet standards Friday in the first day of the three-day Mt. San Antonio Relays.

Action will continue today beginning at 8 a.m. with the marathon and will end at about 5:15 p.m.

The invitational events will highlight today's schedule, with such featured performers as Don Quarrie and Dave Taylor in the sprints,other Dave Roberts in the pole vault, Tom Woods and Rory Kotenik in the high jump, Bill Schmidt and Kathy Schmidt in the javelin, Willie Banks and Arnie Robinson in the long jump and Mac Wilkins in the discus. A host of track clubs and university track powers will compete, including the latest addition to the field, San Jose State.

Fullerton Junior College trimmed two-tenths of a second from the national JC distance medley record with Barry Hyde, Phil Wingard, Armando Cendejas and Jose Saavedra covering the 440, 880, 1320 and mile in 9:50.8. The foursome finished one second behind UC Irvine in an Open Division race.

MSAC's Marcus Gordien broke his own meet record in the junior college discus and just missed surpassing Steve Brown's national standard of 194 feet, 10 inches. Gordien, who held the national record himself earlier in the year, hurled the discus 194-8½ Friday to surpass the Relays record of 184-7½ which he set last year as a San Bernardino Valley College student.

Brown, from Fullerton JC, posted a 190-9½ to finish second to Gordien. The two are expected to continue their year-long record-setting duel today in the invitational discus.

Gordien saw another of his Relays records broken Friday when Mark Malone of El Cajon Valley High hurled the discus 55.80 meters, the equivalent of 183 feet, 1 inch. Gordien set the old mark prep of 182-3 while at Claremont High in 1973.

Another JC meet record was erased when Keith Taylor of Harbor went 51½ in the triple jump and Jim Knaub of Cal State Long Beach set the only college division record of the day with a pole vault of 5.20 meters (17-1).

Three local athletes besides Gordien — MSAC's Andre Hall and Steve Miller and Ganesha High's Lloyd Jones — won invitational events. Hall captured the JC 110-meter high hurdles with a wind-aided 14.3 while Jones won the same event in the prep division in 14.4 seconds. Miller won the JC high jump by clearing 6-8½.

Jones' win came in a good race. Al Sanford of Loyola also clocked a 14.4, Tom Lewis of Muir finished in 14.6 and Pomona's Ernest Jarnigan and Fontana's Paul Wilson both ran 14.7.

Pomona High won Friday's invitational 880-yard relay in 43.2 seconds with a foursome of Terry Andrews, Charles Cole, Jim Donaldson and Karsem James.

The Red Devils won five relays or relay heats besides that one. Jim Middleton, Marty Johnson, Darnell Shaw and Jarnigan won their heat of the 480 high hurdles shuttles in 1:01.6; Anthony Miley, Michael Jones, Cole and Andrews combined to win a mile relay race in 3:26.5; Andrews, Cole, Donaldson and James captured the 440-meter relay in 43.2, and Sharon Miller, Monique Gregoire, Pam Green and Barney Carral combined for wins in the girls' sprint medley and mile relays.

Ganesha's Floyd Eddings, Richard Harry, Carl Bailey and Jones won a mile relay in 3:22.6 and Garey's Tori Shepard, Larry Jones, Stan Webster and Morris Cole combined for a 3:23.6 to win yet another four-lap relay.

Montclair's foursome of Tony Valverde, Arnold Mello, Danny Valge and Mike Roza won a heat of the sprint medley relay in 3:36.0, edging runnerup Pomona.

Webster finished second in the invitational long jump to Fontana's Wilson, the defending state champ. Their wind-aided marks were 23-¾ and 24-5, respectively.

A meet record was set in the JC invitational long jump, strangely, by the fourth-place finisher. Ned Armour of San Diego Mesa went 24-4½ with allowable wind while three better marks were wind-aided and could not replace the meet record. Bruce Smith of Ventura won at 25-3½ and Citrus' Harold Carter was second at 24-7¾.

Carter, Mike Damiels, Calvan Dupleasis and Dave Sharp won a heat of the JC sprint medley relay in 3:19.3 while MSAC's Steve Zak, Edgar Orange, Don Reeves and Raymond Reeb won a 400-meter relay in 42.1. Mark Booth of the Mounties placed second in the javelin at 200-8.

Pomona-Pitzer's Steve Smith won a heat of the college division 110 high hurdles in 14.4 and Cal Poly's Paul Nelson won the 400 intermediates in 54.5, through Pomona-Pitzer's Dan Orr was third in another heat in a slightly better 54.4. Poly placed second in both the 440 and 880 relays and Pomona-Pitzer won the distance medley and was runnerup in the mile relay.

Pomona High's Hank Zibell was a disappointing fourth in the invitational shot put behind John McKenzie's 64-¼. Notre Dame's Kevin Hall won the high jump at 6-6¾.

Cubs nip punchless Dodgers

By BILL LANGLEY
PB Sports Editor

LOS ANGELES—The frustrated Dodgers wasted several golden opportunities Friday night in suffering a 4-3 loss to the Chicago Cubs in 11 innings.

But it was nothing compared to what the Cubs wasted in what should have been an easy victory for the visitors.

Chicago pounded out 13 hits against four Dodger pitchers and had six walks but stranded 15 men on base. L.A. "only" left 10.

The Cubs used three back-to-back singles after two outs in top of the 11th to pull out the win against loser Al Downing, who was making only his second appearance of the season.

After Downing retired the first two batters in the 11th, Jerry Morales beat out an infield single. Andy Thornton followed a single to left to advance Morales to third and Manny Trillo brought Morales home with the winning run with a bloop hit to left.

Paul Reuschel retired the Dodgers in order in the bottom of the 11th to pick up his first victory of the season.

It was a rough night for the Dodgers before another big crowd (41,231 on Ball Night). L.A. is 0-3 at home and 3-9 for the season.

Dodger starter Burt Hooton didn't have it again Friday for his third subpar performance. The Cubs pounded their former teammate for three runs and eight hits in his five innings. If anything, Hooton was fortunate not to allow more runs.

Rick Monday opened the game with a double and scored on an infield out by Bill Madlock. Andy Thornton quickly made it 2-0 when he belted Hooton's first pitch of the second inning into the leftfield seats.

The Dodgers cut it to 2-1 in the bottom of the fourth after Chicago starter Rav Burris walked Ted Sizemore and Dusty Baker to open the frame. Joe Ferguson's single eventually scored Baker.

Chicago got its two-run lead back in the fifth when Thornton scored on Ferguson's error when the Dodger catcher couldn't hang on to John Hale's throw after Steve Swisher singled. The throw was at the plate in plenty of time but Fergy didn't have the ball when he tagged Thornton.

The Dodgers got a gift run in the sixth thanks to a pair of walks plus a balk call of reliever Oscar Zamora to bring Steve Garvey home.

An error by shortstop Dave Rosello led to the tying run in the seventh when Steve Yeager singled and continued to third when Rosello booted Sizemore's grounder. Yeager scored on Baker's ground out.

The Dodgers wasted a big chance in the ninth against Mike Garman. With one out, Bill Buckner and Sizemore hit back-to-back singles. Buckner then stole third but Garman stuck out Baker and got Garvey on an easy grounder.

DODGER DATA — Don Sutton (0-3) will face Bill Bonham (1-1) in this evening's 7 p.m. contest while Rick Rhoden (1-0) will face Steve Stone (0-0) at 1 p.m. Sunday. Pittsburgh and St. Louis come in next week.

The Cubs have a team earned run average of 6.50. Chicago pitchers have allowed 81 runs and 143 hits in 12 games.

L.A. Rams sign 2 free agents

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Wide receiver Glen Cotton of Fresno State and defensive back Pat Manus of Cal Poly San Luis Obispo were signed Friday as free agents by the Los Angeles Rams.

Cotton, 24, stands 6-foot-2 and weights 200. He caught 53 passes the past two seasons at Fresno State.

Manus, 6-2 and 195 is 22. He was a second team all California Collegiate Athletic Association player last season.

MSAC's Pokorski heads for Fullerton

Tom Pokorski, a star forward for two years at Mt. San Antonio College, has signed a letter of intent to Cal State Fullerton.

Pokorski, a 6-foot-7, 215-pounder, is expected to step into a starting role at CSF, according to Titan coach Bobby Dye. Pokorski was a two-time All-South Coast Conference pick while at MSAC, and helped the Mounties to a share of the SCC cage crown this past season.

The Edgewood High graduate is also a pitcher in the Boston Red Sox farm system.

Mountie coach Gene Victor also announced that the other four graduating sophomores on the MSAC squad are being highly sought after by four-year schools.

Center Duaine Harding is expected to go to either San Jose St. or UC Irvine, while forward Kirk Christ (a Walnut High product) is considering either UCI or Cal Poly San Luis Obispo. Guard Jeff Nelson (from San Dimas High) will probably attend either UC San Diego, Redlands or La Verne.

Giants reset Dodger rain out

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco Giants announced Wednesday that a rained out game with the Los Angeles Dodgers will be made up Aug. 1 as part of a Candlestick Park doubleheader.

Cavs outlast Spartans

By SEAN SULLIVAN
PB Correspondent

Senior shortstop Ron Candelaria singled in the tenth inning and eventually scored as Montclair High retained its share of the top spot in the San Antonio League with its 5-4 victory over the Damien Spartans Friday afternoon.

The multi-inning thriller was highlighted by the fine pitching performances of Cavalier lefthander Rich LaBarge and Spartan hurler Todd Bell.

Both pitchers played relief roles as Bell took over from sophomore Rich Bustos (who looked impressive in his 4 1/3 innings of work) and LaBarge replaced Art Salazar in the sixth.

LaBarge, who started the game in centerfield, doubled in the fifth and scored on sophomore catcher Kent Gurney's single. Spartan skipper Matt Kolodge then looked to Bell for assistance.

But the Cavs picked up two more runs in the frame to make it 4-3 Montclair. Mike Corbo ripped a double down the leftfield line enabling Gurney to score and he eventually crossed the plate himself with the go-ahead run on an error by Spartan shortstop Bob Alexander.

Rightfielder Ken Normington led-off the sixth with a three-bagger off the fence in centerfield and scored on a wild pitch to even up the score.

Bell blanked the Cavs for the next four innings on six strikeouts and only gave up three walks, while his counterpart, LaBarge, let his defense do the work for him as the host's infield accounted for ten put-outs, including two timely double plays, in the final four frames.

After Candelaria singled in the tenth, third baseman Kelly Cardin moved him to second with a sacrifice bunt. LaBarge then followed by grounding out to Ed Enriquez at third base with Candelaria holding at second.

Second baseman Rick Adams then tapped a fly to shallow rightfield where second baseman Ricky Gonzales could not find the handle, enabling Candelaria to cross the plate with the winning run.

The initial tally came in the third frame as Enriquez singled, stole second, and scored on Ruben Lopez' basehit.

The hosts countered in their half of the frame as Cardin singled, went to second and third on two fastballs and scored on Adams' single.

Adams collected three hits in the contest as well as hitting the fly ball that enabled Candelaria to score.

The visitors picked up two more in the fourth as designated hitter Tony Cimino walked, Mark Schlesinger singled, and catcher Pete Fox ripped a single to score them both to put the Spartans in front 3-1.

Next Tuesday the Cavs host Garey and Damien travels to Ganesha. Both games are slated for 3:15 p.m. starts.

Mustangs move into first

By TIM CLARK
PB Correspondent

Walnut head coach Terry Murphy is confident. He should be. His Mustangs are coming on strong.

Murph's high-powered Walnut club moved into first place Friday afternoon at the Mustang diamond by suffocating Hacienda leader Bonita 2-0. Both teams now own identical 8-3 marks in league action.

It took only one inning (the fifth) for Walnut to polish off the Bearcats and their toughluck hurler Dave Drury. The Mustangs scored the games' only two runs on three hits and a costly throwing error.

Drury pretty well kept things under control through the first four innings, silencing the Mustang attack with only 49 pitches. But Rick Hunt, who struck out in his first appearance at the plate, led off the fifth by smashing Drury's first offering deep to right, good enough for a triple.

Following an out on a short fly ball, Keith McDermott (Walnut's No. 9 batter) singled crisply up the middle, scoring Hunt for a 1-0 lead. Drury then proceeded to load the bases by giving up a double to Ed Kimura and walking Jim Ziegler intentionally. Dave Olivas then hit a bouncer down the third base line, which the Bearcats' Bill Bumstead fielded easily and three home to catcher Scott Johnson.

But Bumsteads' throw was wild, skidding across the plate and rolling to the backstop. McDermott slid in home for run No. 2, and that was all she wrote (Bob Cordova ended the inning with an ground out).

McDermott was the game's only performer to collect two hits, and has been coming through in the clutch for the past three weeks (The senior center-fielder was the big spark in Walnut's unbelievable upset win over Chaffey in the Pomona Elks tournament last week.

The Mustangs Butch Long (5-3) was very impressive on the mound for the hosts, allowing only two hits (a clean single by Johnson in the third and a questionable infield hit by Steve Benoit in the fifth), recording four strikeouts and tossing only 89 pitches.

"We are exactly in the position that I thought we would be in by now," said Murphy. "We've been getting stronger and stronger with each outing, and out confidence is building progressively too. The winning attitude on this team is just super, these guys really wanted this one and decided that they were just going to bear down and execute."

"I'm glad I've stuck it out with Keith (McDermott) this year. There's no question about his defensive and base-running abilities, and now he's finally putting it together at the plate . . . he's really come alive the last couple of weeks. It's also nice to have a leader with an excelent attitude. Keith supplies this, he's a real leader and a real winner."

While Walnut is red-hot, Bonita continues to be a review in inconsistency. The Bearcats have now dropped five of their last seven games. Senior Drury deserves a better fate. The All-League outfielder has now dropped three decisions in a row on the mound (from 3-1 to 3-4), yet his ERA remains an excellent 1.14!

Johnson's safety gave him a four-for-five (.800) week, to go along with two walks, four stolen bases and an RBI. The 6-2, 190 lb senior is now batting .436 on the year, with 15 RBI and 18 stolen bases (four short of the school record). Johnson also gunned down a Mustang attempted steal.

Walnut will invade San Dimas Tuesday at 3:15 p.m. Curt Burkhart and the Saints shut out the Mustangs, 1-0, the first time around, noted Murphy with a glint in his eye. Bonita will battle it out with Sierra Vista at the Bearcat diamond on Tuesday, at 3:15 p.m.

Angels find error costly in 4-2 loss

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Brewers rallied for three runs in the eighth inning, two of them unearned on a two-out throwing error by California shortstop Orlando Ramirez, and defeated the Angels 4-2 Friday night.

Don Money opened the inning with a double. One out later George Scott singled Money to third and he scored the tying run on Darrell Porter's sacrifice fly. After Sixto Lezcano singled, Kurt Bevacqua grounded to Ramirez but his throw to first was wild as two runs crossed.

The Angels had gone ahead in the top of the eighth when Bobby Bonds ripped a Jim Slaton pitch into the bullpen in right-center for his first home run of the season.

The Brewers took a 1-0 lead in the first inning on Scott's home run over the center field fence.

The Angels tied the score in the third on a single by Ramirez that scored Dave Chalk.

Angel pitcher Gary Ross took the loss despite 10 strikeouts.

The Brewers threatened in the second inning on one-out singles by Hank Aaron and Bobby Darwin. The threat was quelled on a double play as Charlie Moore struck out and Aaron was thrown out attempting to steal third.

The Angels threatened on Chalk's leadoff double in the fifth but Slaton retired the next three men on two grounders and a fly.

In the bottom of the fifth, Aaron collected his second hit, a leadoff single, and advanced to second when right fielder Bonds dropped Moore's high fly. Ross struck out Pedro Garcia and retired Money on a ground ball.

Slaton began to have control problems in the sixth, issuing consecutive walks to Bonds and Bill Melton, but Joe Lahoud flied out on a 3-0 pitch with runners on first and third to end the inning.

Broncs' Scolinos reaches milestone

By BRENT SHYER
PB Correspondent

Cal Poly Pomona baseball coach John Scolinos reached a major milestone in his collegiate coaching career Friday afternoon at Pomona's Kellogg Field.

The Broncos handed skipper Scolinos his 700th victory in style, with a come-from-behind 5-4 win over rival Cal Poly San Luis Obispo.

"It never even dawned on me about this 700 deal," said the mild-mannered manager. "Really, I'm representing all the ball players I have had over the years — it is a tribute to them."

Trailing 4-2 going into the bottom of the ninth, the Broncos didn't give up and came back to tie the contest.

With one out in the frame, Ken Hellyer lined a shot off of the Mustangs' starting pitcher Sam Solis for a base hit. Kevin Jenkins followed with a single to left field advancing Hellyer one base.

Bob Fehrenbach went in to run for Jenkins, and San Luis Obispo brought in relief pitcher Doug O'Brien (2-1). O'Brien walked pinch-hitter Dale Biggs to fill the bases.

Pomona product Ray Pekarcik hit a hot grounder to third, where third baseman Tom Mosich took his eyes off the ball and the play resulted in a two-base error to knot the score.

O'Brien got out of the ninth-inning jam, but got right back into trouble in the decisive tenth stanza.

The Broncos top hitter, Dennis Sherow (.376), started things off with a walk. He advanced to second on a fielder's choice and came home with the winning tally on a blooper to left field by Hellyer (his third single of the game).

The Broncos, who are just one game behind UC Riverside and Cal St. Northridge 16-4), will host a key doubleheader today starting at noon at Kellogg Field. Pomona is 5-5 in California Collegiate Athletic Association play, while San Luis Obispo has a 3-7 mark. Overall, the Broncs have upped their record to 25-22-1. UCR downed the Matadors 4-3 in the other CCAA contest Friday.

The first game will pit San Luis Obispo's Dave Pencile (1-4) against Poly's Gil Molina (2-2). The nightcap will feature Mike Regus (6-4) and Bruce Freeberg on the mound.

Bruce MacPherson went the distance for the Broncos in picking up his eighth victory (8-6). He allowed 12 hits and all four runs but showed great determination because he did not have his best stuff.

The Mustangs took a 4-1 margin in the sixth inning. Consecutive singles by Denny Martindale and Ozzie Smith got the rally going. Paul Desjarlais ripped a double down the first base line scoring Martindale. A sacrifice fly by Joe Budiselich, his second of the game, plated Smith. Mike Ongarato's single tallied one more.

A sacrifice fly by Clay Harris tied the game in the last of the sixth.

Skipper Scolinos' successes started some years back at Pepperdine. During his 14-year tenure there, he compiled 325 victories. Now he has racked up 375 triumphs in his 15 years at Cal Poly (700-530).

Only Rod Dedeaux of USC has more wins as an active coach.

"This was a real memorable win — 700th, 10 innings, come-from-behind, and all that," commented Scolinos. "It has been this team's trademark not to give in and come back."

Scolinos would love to pick up two more wins today in the twinbill and move toward his 800th!

Thompson true Nugget

DENVER (AP) — David Thompson's super-human feats sometimes belie the fact that he's a rookie, subject to the same self-doubts and uncertainties as other mortals.

The 6-foot-4 Thompson, one of basketball's most exciting talents, tossed in 34 points to lead the Denver Nuggets over the Kentucky Colonels 127-117 Thursday night.

The triumph gave Denver a 3-2 edge in their best-of-seven American Basketball Association playoff series, with Game Six scheduled Sunday in Louisville. A seventh game, if necessary, would be played here Wednesday night.

Thompson was the ABA's Rookie of the Year this season and won Most Valuable Player honors in the league's All-Star game. He averaged 26 points a game during the regular season, third best in the league, and the spectacular leaper seemed to come up with a new dunk every game.

But he also was subject to periods of intense self-scrutiny when he may have questioned his remarkable talents. Such apparently was the case when the Nuggets dropped behind in this series 2-1. Thompson, in tears, left the dressing room early still in his uniform and changed in his hotel.

If his confidence was shaken, it was restored in the fourth game, won by Denver 108-106 on a last-second basket by guard Chuck Williams.

Although saddled with six fouls, Thompson stayed in the game in the late stages and was supposed to be the man to get the ball for the game's final shot. When he couldn't get open, he passed off to Williams, setting up the winner.

"Any time you win a close game like that, it has to give you confidence, a psychological lift," he said following his 34-point effort the next night. "It carried over to tonight's game."

While Thompson was entertaining the 17,088 spectators Thursday night, Denver was getting strong bench play from forwards Gus Gerard and Byron Beck, who scored 14 and 13 points, respectively, and were key factors in the Nuggets' third-period explosion.

Denver hit 73 per cent from the floor in the period, including its last nine shots that helped stretch a two-point lead to a 12-point advantage. Many of the baskets came on breakaways, and the Colonels didn't recover.

"Denver just blew us out in the third quarter," said Kentucky Coach Hubie Brown. "We let the tempo of the game get away from us."

But Brown remained confident of his team's chances.

"There's not that much difference between these two teams," he said, noting that two of Denver's victories have come by margins of two and three points. "We're anxiously looking forward to Sunday, and we feel we'll be back here Wednesday night."

Artis Gilmore had 26 points and 12 rebounds to lead the Colonels, but guard Bird Averitt's production was missing. Averitt, bothered by an aggravated tonsilitis condition, played only 26 minutes and scored eight points. He had been averaging 23.5 points per game in the series.

DISTANCE THREAT — John Gregorio is shown competing for MSAC in 1971, when he won the state JC mile title. He will be featured in today's 5,000-meter run at MSAC Relays.

Gregorio back in Relays

By MIKE BROSSART
PB Staff Writer

John Gregorio last competed in the Mt. San Antonio Relays in 1971, the year he won California's junior college mile championship.

He'll be back in the Relays today as the featured attraction in the first invitational event of the day, the 5,000-meter run at noon.

Gregorio, a former distance star at Ganesha High, where he graduated in 1969, and at MSAC, where he won the state title, is hoping to use today's race as a stepping stone to the United States Olympic Team for the Montreal Games this summer.

He will try to make the American squad in both the 5,000 and 10,000. That means he may have to run each race twice within eight days — beginning with the 5,000 prelims Saturday, June 19, and ending with the 10,000 finals the following Saturday — against the top distance men in the country.

"I like to double," said Gregorio. "It's not as bad as it sounds.

"I feel that my chances of making the team are very good. I'm in the best shape I've ever been in and my training's coming along nicely. I hope to peak just in time for the 5,000 prelims. The only problem is that there are so many other guys trying to make the team and only three of us will."

Gregorio is glad the trials will be held in Eugene, Ore.

"I've run several times up there and I've done pretty well," he said. "I ran the Pan Am trials and the AAU finals there. I'm pretty superstitious about that — I feel I can't go wrong on that track."

Gregorio went to the University of Colorado at Boulder after he left MSAC, and he graduated, after taking an extra year to earn a teaching credential in physical education, in 1975. He's been affiliated with the Colorado Track Club since 1973, when he finished his eligibility at the university, but he's returned to MSAC this spring to run under the supervision of John Norton, the Mounties' head track coach.

"I ran under Coach Norton at MSAC," said Gregorio, "and he knows me. He can tell when I'm really tired and when I'm just sluggish or lazy. I have complete confidence in him."

The respect is mutual. "John is a super guy and a pleasure to coach," said Norton. "He's one of those guys who is making a lot of sacrifices to make it to the Olympics."

One of the sacrifices Gregorio has made is leaving his wife Nancy in Boulder while he trains in Walnut.

"I just decided that since I've always wanted to make the Olympics, I'd have to give it everything I could, and that includes coming out here to train," Gregorio said. "She couldn't come because she has a contract to teach physical education in Denver, but the separation will only be for a couple months. Fortunately, she knows how I feel about running because she's involved in athletics, too.

"At least when I'm 50 I'll be able to look back and know that I either made the Olympics or there were three guys better than me. I'm giving it everything I can."

Gregorio has competed at the Drake Relays rather than the MSAC meet since he left Walnut in 1971.

"It's a different experience at Drake," he said. "The whole town is really behind the meet. They close school on Friday and send all the kids to the track.

"I guess it's different here because there are so many professional sports teams around. But I like the MSAC Relays and you don't have to worry about snow like you do in Drake.

"Usually, for distance running, you go to Drake," Gregorio continued. "But this year they have some great competition at MSAC."

The 19-member field for today's 5,000 includes Ted Castenada, Gary Tuttle of the Beverly Hills Striders and Domingo Tibaduiza of the University of Nevada at Reno, who has already been selected as a member of the Columbian Olympic Team.

"I've been running with Castenada since 1971," Gregorio said. "He was at the University of Colorado and now he's with the Colorado Track Club. I run better with Ted in a race."

Last year at the AAU championships in Eugene, Castenada covered 5,000 meters in 13:33 to edge Gregorio, who finished in 13:38. Those times represent lifetime bests for both runners.

"Ted and I are right around 50-50," said Gregorio. "We each win about half the time when we compete."

While he is hoping to make the Olympic team at 5,000 meters, Gregorio figures his best show is actually the 10,000. His best time in that event is 28:35.

He switched from the mile to the longer races soon after his arrival in Colorado.

"I won the state JC title with a 4:07 and got it down to 4:01 at Colorado," he said. "That's about the time that 3:55 started coming in sixth so I figured it was time to get out of the mile."

Gregorio is looking forward to today's stiff competition. "I hope to really be pressed," he said. "I'd like to run a good 5,000 before the trials.

"But like Tibaduiza said, we all want to win and only one of us will."

La Verne can take two steps to title

La Verne College can take two more steps today toward clinching its fourth SCIAC baseball title in five years.

The Leos, 10-2 in conference play and 16-14 overall, host Caltech, 1-11, in a noon doubleheader. If the Leopards can sweep the series, two games today and another Tuesday, they will clinch the championship no matter what second place Claremont-Mudd and Whittier do in their remaining games.

In other games, Pomona-Pitzer, 3-12, travels to Occidental, 7-5, for a pair and the other teams all play non conference foes.

Claremont-Mudd, 17-10 overall, is at UC Irvine for a twinbill. Whittier is at LIFE Bible for two and Redlands travels to the University of San Diego for a pair.

At La Verne, coach Ben Hines will send Jim Vallone (6-6) and Long Joe McLaughlin (3-0) against Caltech. McLaughlin will be making his first appearance since April 3.

The big (6-6, 215 pounds) righthander has had a "tender" throwing arm. The long layoff probably didn't help his control any. In 50 innings this season, McLaughlin has allowed 50 hits and 31 walks which explains his 5.07 earned run average.

Vallone, a lefthander, has the best pickoff move on display in small college baseball. The slim MSAC transfer picked off four base runners in his last outing against C-M.

Catcher Tim Burzette will try to extend his hitting streak to 26 today. Burzette hasn't been blanked since the fourth game of the season.

At Irvine, coach Bill Arce will use Joe Maiberger (9-3) and Mitch Katlin (1-0) against UCI. Wynn Moore (.470), Gregg Thompson (.379) and Jon Begerow (.347) lead the Stags although Begerow's average has plummeted of late.

Begerow was hitting a sizzling .412 as of April 3. His average has dropped 65 points in the last seven games.

Pomona-Pitzer will be playing its first game since April 9 when the Sagehens won two games from LIFE. The 'Hens got together for their first practice Tuesday.

Coach Mike Riskas will start Nick Dialynas (1-5) and Ken Creager (4-5) against the Tigers.

Lawn bowlers set tourney

The Claremont Lawn Bowls Club will be celebrating its Golden Jubilee on Thursday, April 29. Fifteen teams from clubs throughout Southern California will take part in a tournament at the Larkin Park Lawn Bowling Greens located at 763 W. Harrison Avenue in Claremont. The public is invited to view the festivities, which will take place from 10:00 a.m. until 3:00 p.m.

Also as a part of the club's jubilee, a match will take place between the Pomona College Alumni and teams of students from the Claremont Colleges. That match will be held at 10:00 a.m. on saturday, May 1.

Rankin tops golf leaders

NEW YORK (AP) — Judy Rankin's victory last weekened in Phoenix, Ariz., was worth $14,000 and contributed to her domination of the LPGA money winning's list released Thursday.

Miss Rankin leads the top 10 with $56,891 and is followed by Betty Burfeindt, $24,511; Jan Stephenson, $24,470; Sandra Haynie, $19,191; Jane Blalock, $18,460; Kathy Whitworth, $18,425; JoAnne Carner, $17,624; Sandra Post, $14,112; Sandra Palmer, $13,914, and Pat Bradley, $11,693.

Gullett slow coming around

CINCINNATI (AP) — Ready or not, here comes Don Gullett.

Cincinnati Reds Manager Sparky Anderson has grown impatient watching Gullett along the sidelines trying to get himself ready to resume his role as the club's pitching ace.

He has finally decided to throw Gullett into the starting role, ready or not, at Montreal on Sunday.

"We opened on April 8. That's 17 days. It's a matter now that you got to get him in there, period," Anderson said. "You got to do something."

Anderson is extremely upset with the young lefthander. Gullett did not throw over the winter and reported to spring training late.

His arm has been slow coming around and, with pitching problems the Reds have had, it has been a point of major concern.

Gullett made his 1976 debut Wednesday. He wasn't impressive. The fast ball he threw was slow. He pitched an inning and started another one. He gave up two singles and a walk and was bailed out by Rawly Eastwick.

"I felt strange," admitted Gullett, who despite being sidelined for two months with an injury, finished last season with a 15-4 record.

Anderson can wait no longer. His pitching staff has been inconsistent, despite the continued presence of the Reds offense which has carried over from last year.

Even the Reds' bullpen has not been its "old reliable" self.

"I'm feeling my way around, I admit it," said Anderson.

He has also announced that rookie Pat Zachry, who has been used as a relief pitcher so far, will be making a start against the Expos.

The Reds' front office is also concerned about Gullett for another reason. He remains unsigned.

For a quiet country boy who never has caused any trouble, he is now a figure of controversy.

Through it all, Gullett said all he wants to do is pitch.

"It's always my desire, whether the team is up or down, to go out and do the job to the best of my ability," he said.

He added that he is not thinking about his contract problems, the negotiations are being handled by attorney Jerry Kapstein.

He admitted he has not thought about what he would do if he ended up playing out his option with the Reds.

"Whatever happens, happens," he answered.

Now, with a fast ball that isn't fast, he is being shoved into a start.

And what happens, happens.

MIAMI (AP) — No adults allowed.

That's the policy of a girls' softball league which uses teenage coaches, umpires and even scorekeepers in an attempt at eliminating the problems parents often cause baseball's Little Leaguers.

"This is for recreation, not competition," says Bob Koltnow, an attorney who serves as commissioner of the eight-team operation.

Koltnow said he organized the league four years ago after his daughter, Karen, now 14, started playing softball. One afternoon, Karen received a call from her adult coach, and her mother, Carol, happened to catch part of the conversation.

"The coach was a Marine," Mrs. Koltnow said, "and he was yelling at a 9-year-old girl like a drill sergeant."

The next year, Koltnow started a new league. Now, it's a family operation, with Karen and her 13-year-old sister, Sara, serving as umpires, and 16-year-old brother Billy serving as league statistician and official scorer.

Mrs. Koltnow acts as her husband's assistant, checking out the teams and numerous details if her husband is late arriving at the field.

"I think the boys' leagues should be run the same way — no adults," said Koltnow. "But that will never happen. The adults are involved in that program. They never would give it up.

"When I retire as commissioner over here, I know they'll go adult. But I think it's the wrong way."

The bleachers at one diamond recently were moved from the left field foul line to a place almost directly behind home plate, but Koltnow had another site in mind.

BEST OF THE AZTECS — George Best bounces a ball on his knee during a practice session with the Los Angeles Aztecs recently. The British star turns 30 next month.

George Best turns 30

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Soccer's "bad boy" turns 30 next month, but George Best isn't worried about it.

"I've got at least three good seasons left," he said as he finished a practice session with the Los Angeles Aztecs of the North American Soccer League.

He came to the Aztecs after a starring but stormy career with England's Manchester United team, leaving with detractors calling him "over the hill."

Best shrugs off the criticism.

"I don't care what anyone says," he retorts. "I know I can play."

He's confident he'll be able to perform at top form well into his 30s. "I like to play as an attacking player, up front, but if I'm reasonably fit after three (in the NASL) I could play a few more years at midfield."

Best got his "bad boy" tag from the British press, who religiously reported his on and the field and his affairs off.

"My temper is my biggest weakness," concedes Best. "That's what's gotten me into more trouble on and off the field."

He left Manchester United after disputes with the coach and other players. Best says he made suggestions the others didn't like.

"I thought they were buying bad players. I told them; I missed a few games..."

Best ended up a free agent and signed with the Aztecs, a team co-owned by rock star Elton John.

George doesn't mind clowning around with Elton or the hoopla surrounding sports events in the United States, but says, "I'd rather just play."

The style of play here and in Europe is similar, he said, and he expects soccer to "take off" at the box office over the next decade.

"The signs are there now," he said. "Already there were 50,000 at one game.

"One reason I came here is I'm interested in promoting the game. It's exciting, a bit of a challenge."

He says more American boys are learning the game, which will provide a homegrown talent pool—and will ease some of today's language barriers.

"When a Mexican starts yelling at an Englishman in Spanish, it's a little difficult," he said with a wry grin.

Best was a natural at soccer, and was such a standout in his native Belfast that he was recruited by Manchester at 15 and turned pro at 17 "for nothing, about $80 a week."

Neither he nor Aztec officials will disclose his current contract, but it's enough to finance a new home in Manchester for his parents, twin sisters and brother. Best says he was never involved in the turbulent Irish political scene, but wanted his family to move.

Best lives in a Hermosa Beach house with fellow Aztec Bobby McAlinden, an ex-member of Manchester's city team. Both turn 30 on May 22 and plan a big party to celebrate.

Running on sand outside his beachfront home is one antidote to his Irish temper, Best says. Another is tennis.

He also escapes to movies— the interview was terminated when he dashed off to see "Lipstick"—and true-life crime thrillers.

"I must've read 'The Boston Strangler' three times," Best said, listing other favorites as "In Cold Blood" and "Helter-Skelter."

"I love any sort of quiz show, IQ tests. I'm fascinated by it," says Best, who left school at 15 and says he'll never return.

He believes great soccer players are born, not made, and says the sport doesn't require that much mental acumen.

"Soccer is really a very simple sport," Best says.

But it's easy to spot the other naturals, he says.

"I can watch a game for five minutes and see them thinking that much quicker," he said.

Best said he used to scoff at the notion he'd one day coach, but he's changed his mind.

Right now he contributes plays and ideas to the Aztecs and says he has a great rapport with coach Terry Fisher, who, at 26, is younger than the mentors Best was used to in England.

"I'm given a free role to do as I please." Best said, crediting his balance and ambidexterity with part of his ability.

"I can use both feet equally," he said. "I'm naturally rightfooted, but I practiced so much when I was young that I can now kick harder with my left."

He's also been remarkably injury-free for the aggressive forward position he's played throughout his career, having had only one operation, for torn cartilage.

"I was lucky to be born with a gift," Best says. "I've never been coached properly, but I think it is a gift, a skill, something that never leaves you."

Best also has a reputation as a ladies' man, but he says that notorieity was largely a creation of English journalists.

"The British press got me into more trouble with girls," he complained. "Some enjoyed it, of course, but I was taking an Irish actress out who hated publicity and the press finished it for us."

In England, he said, ever since Manchester won the European Competition Cup in 1968, his face has been well-known and he attracts attention wherever he goes.

On the day of the interview, Best's chin was covered with beard stubble and his dark hair was mussed by the wind. Only his long-lashed grey-green eyes gave a hint of his reputed sex appeal.

"It's a lot different over here," he mused. "The fact that I can walk down the street without people recognizing me.

"The nice part about LA," he said, "is that people accept me for myself here."

St. Louis loses A.D.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Larry Albus, athletic director at St. Louis University, resigned Thursday to become full-time commissioner of the young Metro Six Conference.

The six league schools, Cincinnati, Georgia Tech, Louisville, Memphis State, St. Louis and Tulane, voted unanimously to appoint the 35-year-old Albus as the first full-time conference commissioner after he served as part-time commissioner the past year — the league's first.

Roster completed for California team

INGLEWOOD — Darrell Allums of Lynwood High School, Doug Widtfeldt of La Mirada High School, and Francois Wise of Balboa High School (San Francisco) are the final players selected to the California All-American's roster that will play the Soviet Union Junior National team in Los Angeles for the Farrell's Basketball Classic II.

The game is set for Sunday evening, May 2, at The Forum. Tip-off time is scheduled for 7 p.m.

Darrell Allums, 6-foot-8, was considered to be one of the strongest players in the CIF this past season. A punishing performer on the boards, Allums led Lynwood High School in Lynwood to the 3-A CIF title and a 29-3 seasonal mark. The 230-pound center averaged 18.4 points and 17 rebounds per outing. Allums was also a 3-A CIF first-team choice.

Doug Widtfeldt, 6-foot-8, of La Mirada High School in La Mirada was one of the least publicized players in the CIF this past season, but ranked as one of the area's finest. The slender forward led La Mirada to a number one ranking in the 3-A division through part of the season before being edged out by eventual champion Lynwood in the San Gabriel Valley League. A 3-A first-team selection, Widtfeldt averaged 25.2 points.

Francoise Wise, 6-foot-6, of Balboa High School in San Francisco is considered by many scouts to be the next Adrian Dantley. The muscular 220-pound forward propelled Balboa to the very prestigious championship of the San Francisco section of the CIF. Wise, the brother of all-pro great Willie Wise, is called by his older brother "the best of the Wise brothers. Certainly much better than me at the same stage of our careers." Francois averaged 26 points per outing and was named the San Francisco CIF Player of the Year. In addition, he was an honorable-mention All-America.

These players finalize a roster that includes Johnny Nash and Michael Wiley of Long Beach Poly, Kurt Rambie of Cupertino, James Wilkes and Ron Baxter of Dorsey, Kiki Vandeweghe of Palisades, Rich Branning of Marina, Gig Sims of Redondo Beach, and Marcus Hamilton of Verbum Dei.

Tickets for the Farrell's Basketball Classic II may be purchased at The Forum, Ticketron, and all Mutual Ticket Agencies.

Phil Rizzuto quits show

NEW YORK (AP) — Phil Rizzuto, one-time star shortstop for the New York Yankees, will conclude his CBS radio network sports show Friday, the network announced Thursday.

The reasons gven for the action were Rizzuto's heavy schedule as a member of the Yankees play-by-play broadcast team and personal business committments.

Cubs make changes

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cubs Thursday recalled pitchers Oscar Zamora and Ken Crosby from their Wichita farm club.

Ralston sees close races

LOS ANGELES — Dennis Ralston, player-coach of the Los Angeles Strings, predicts closer races in both divisions of World Team Tennis in 1976.

"The competition will be so much better than in the previous two seasons," said the former U.S. Davis Cup coach. "Every team in the league has improved from a talent standpoint and I certainly feel the Strings will be one of the top teams in the league."

Ralston's optimism stems from the recent play of his front-line players.

"Rosie Casals is playing very well and she'll have an extremely important role for us this year," said Ralston. Casals finished third in last week's Virginia Slims championships with wins over Terry Holladay, Sue Baker, Virginia Wade and Martina Navratilova. Her only loss was to runnerup Chris Evert.

"Dianne Fromholtz will also be a key for us," continued Ralston. "She has split her last six sets with Evert which will be a big boost for us when we play Phoenix (the Strings' home opener May 12 at The Forum)."

On the men's side, Ralston has two of the biggest hitters in the world in Vijay Amritraj, the young star from India; and Bob Lutz, who has already qualified for the WCT finals in Dallas this year.

"Vijay and Bob are both capable of playing singles and blowing an opponent off, 6-1 or 6-2. I'll use the player who is hot and has a good record against the other team's singles player that night."

Lutz, Amritraj and Ralston are all world-class doubles players, giving the coach a pleasant problem.

"We'll be constantly striving to put the best doubles team on the court," said the coach. "I figure Rosie will play mixed doubles with any of the three of us."

Despite his confidence in his own team's ability, Ralston realizes winning the Western Division will be no easy task.

"It will be difficult. I think on paper you have to favor Phoenix and the Golden Gaters."

Phoenix, of course, has added Evert and returns solid veterans Tony Roche, Andrew Pattison and Kristien Shaw. Collegians Butch Walts (USC) and Stephanie Tolleson round out the team.

The Golden Gaters are the defending division champions and they have improved themselves with the acquisition of Francoise Durr. Betty Stove will team with Durr on the female side while Tom Okker and player-coach Frew McMillan will handle the men's side. Jeff Borowiak and Raquel Giscarfe are solid backup players.

"San Diego has one of the strongest men's team in WTT, but they'll need some help from their women to win," evaluated Ralston.

The Friars have the incomparable Rod Laver, South African Cliff Drysdale and Australian Ross Case. Player-coach Drysdale has but one female signed to date, the highly touted 19-year-old, Terry Holladay.

The Hawaii Leis have Ilie Nastase, the gifted and controversial Romanian. Player-coach Butch Buchholz also has the great Australian doubles player, Owen Davidson, and two steady females in Helen Gourlay and Marcie Louie.

"The Eastern Division should be just as rough as the West," said Ralston. "I'd have to favor Pittsburgh and New York on the strength of their women, but the other teams are all capable."

The Triangles are the defending World Team Tennis Champions and have the same powerhouse team that won the playoffs a year ago.

Led by the flawless Evonne Goolagong and aided by a solid men's team of Mark Cox and Vitas Gerulaitis, the Triangles should be formidable every night of the 44-match season.

Billie Jean King returns for what might be her final season with the New York Sets and her supporting cast is the best she's had in WTT. Virginia Wade will team with BJK in doubles and player-coach Fred Stolle has two good, young men in Sandy Mayer and Phil Dent.

Cleveland's Nets have improved themselves with the addition of Martina Navratilova. She figures to be the key for player-coach Marty Riessen's squad. Riessen also has Haroon Rahim, Bob Biltinan, Wendy Overton and Rayni Fox.

STRINGS NOTES — Ralston recently won a singles tournament in New Mexico by defeating Sherwood Stewart in the finals . . . "it's been so long since I won a singles championship, I can't even remember the last time," joked the String's coach.

The Strings have now sold more than 1,500 season tickets, a huge increase over a year ago . . . "We're extremely excited about the season and are thrilled the fans have taken such an interest," said General Manager Bart Christensen.

The Strings' first four home matches (Phoenix, Golden Gaters, New York and Pittsburgh) figure to generate plenty of interest with such stars as Evert, Okker, King and Goolagong arriving at The Forum.

Group ticket information for Strings' matches ($1 off per ticket for 20 or more people) is available by calling the Strings' office at 829-5391.

Rams highlight film available to groups

LOS ANGELES — In 1975 the Rams won their third straight NFC Western Division Championship, thus etching the title of the club's current highlight film, "Hat Trick in the West," now available for showing to groups in Southern California.

Service clubs, church, fraternal and youth organizations wishing to borrow the 30-minute, all-color motion picture may reserve it by calling the Rams office (277-4700) or by writing to The Los Angeles Rams Football Co., 10271 W. Pico Blvd., Los Angeles, 90064. There is no charge for 24-hour loan of the film.

After recapturing a few memorable moments from the 12-2 title-winning team of 1973 and the 10-4 division champion '74 squad, the NFL Films-produced movie concentrates on coach Chuck Knox' '75 Rams that completed the "Hat Trick" by finishing with still another 12-2 record.

Featured in the film is an exciting live sound segment in the 35-23 playoff win over St. Louis, spiced by narrator Dick Enberg's actual KMPC play-by-play calls and on-the-field chatter of players and coaches.

In addition to the big victory over the Cardinals, the film also highlights the club's spirited 10-3 night-game victory over the World Champion Pittsburgh Steelers.

Other features in the film include footage showing the brilliant running style of Lawrence McCutcheon, the brutal defensive play led by MVP Jack Youngblood, the precision passing combination of James Harris to Ron Jessie and Harold Jackson, the lateseason heroics of reserve quarterback Ron Jaworski, the all-around play of running back Jim Bertelsen and the heads-up ball-hawking of the improving Ram Secondary.

Rise in church vitality since early America

NEW YORK (AP) — Although present-day Christians are inclined to romanticize fondly about church vitality in early America and to bemoan the increasing secularization of modern culture, religious affiliation today is far greater than in the period of the nation's origins.

Historians point out that church membership has gone upward almost steadily through the 200 years of U.S. history, not down, and that it now constitutes a proportion of the population six times greater than in the country's early years.

The idea that American church activity once flourished and has "subsequently declined is false and the historical perspective involved is unsound," says the Rev. Dr. Franklin H. Littell, a religious historian of Philadelphia's Temple University.

America in its early years "was overwhelmingly unchurched and heathen, regardless of pretensions and public claims," he writes in his book, "From State Church to Pluralism." However, he also notes that requirements for church membership then were much stiffer than now.

This is the sort of probing, factual look at the nation's religious heritage that is scheduled next week, April 25-30, in Philadelphia at an ecumenical Bicentennial conference on religious liberty, sponsored by Protestant, Orthodox, Roman Catholic and Jewish bodies.

The program involves historians and religious liberty experts from across the country.

A church historian of New York's Union Theological Seminary, the Rev. Dr. Robert T. Handy, says that no more than 10 per cent of the U.S. population belonged to churches in the post-Revolution period, although greater disciplines for church membership then meant participants doubtlessly exceeded formal membership.

Nevertheless, the present-day religious affiliation involves about 62 per cent of the population, showing an immense growth compared with the small minority included in the earlier period.

From 16 per cent of the population in 1850, religious affiliation has grown almost steadily, with only brief lags, hitting 36 per cent in 1900, 49 per cent in 1940, 60 per cent in 1954 and an all-time high of 64 per cent in 1963. Although 62 per cent now, the slight dip is no more than previous brief sags in the steady climb.

From 1800 to 1976, "more people joined the Christian church than ever before in her history," Dr. Littell says. The late great church historian, Kenneth Scott Latourette, says of the separation of church from state:

"The fashion in which millions of Christians have voluntarily contributed financially to the propagating of their faith at home and abroad has in magnitude been without precedent in the history of Christianity or of any other religion or set of ideas."

RODENA PRESTON

Metters Singers in concert

The Metters Singers of Pomona will present a gospel concert Sunday at 3 p.m. at the New Gethsemane Church, Pomona.

The concert will feature Rodena Preston and The Voices of Deliverance of Los Angeles.

Special guests will be The Patterson Trio from BeeGee Recording Studio, Inc.

The Jinnings and Martin Sisters of Pomona will be introduced.

Brother Bob Metters, pastor and teacher, will be the host. Admission is free.

Sky Pilots to perform

The Sky Pilot Choir will perform Tuesday night at the "Believer's Service" of Marvin Schmidt Ministries in Pomona.

The service will be held at Garey Avenue and Tenth Street in Pomona.

Critical of mandatory retirement

CHICAGO (AP) — The United Methodist Board of Global Ministries has gone on record in opposition to mandatory retirement, calling it "an unjust system which discriminates against older persons strictly on the basis of chronological age."

There should be a flexible retirement system, the board said, "based on performance capability and desire to work."

Methodist women to join in Trinity centennial rite

The United Methodist Women will join the celebration of the Trinity Church's centennial year by presenting a special worship service Sunday at 10:30 a.m.

The speaker will be Mrs. Marilyn Mabee, conference president of the United Methodist Women. Her topic will be "Where in the World Are the Women?"

Mrs. Mabee is from the United Methodist Church in Oxnard. She has been director of music there 5½ years. She has served in many positions on the district and conference levels.

Mrs. Ruth Lenz, president of the United Methodist Women in Pomona, Mrs. Adele Allen, Mrs. Bonnie Fuhrman and Mrs. Alice Naugle will assist in the order of worship. All past presidents will be honored. A patio reception will follow the service. Members of the Mary Friendship group will serve.

MARILYNN MABEE

Since 1893, women of the Methodist church have been a part of an organization committed to work, prayer, study and missionary service.

The first Women's Foreign Missionary Society was organized in Boston in March of 1869 by eight women. This group was responsible for sending Isabella Thoburn to India. She established the first school for girls in Lucknow. Growing along with the missionary societies was the Ladies Aid Society, whose function was to aid the local church.

In 1907 in Pomona, Mrs. Ferdinand Davis organized 10 women to assist in the church. Out of this group emerged a Ladies Aid, and Home and Foreign Missionary societies. Through the years the groups have grown. In 1939 a union of five women's groups was combined into the Women's Society of Christian Service with the Wesleyan Service Guild meeting evenings for employed women.

In 1968, the union of the Methodist Church with the Evangelical United Brethren Church took place, strengthening both groups.

The years 1971-72 were history-making years in the life of the women's mission movement. The Women's Division voted there would be "one new inclusive organization for women, with a new name."

It combined the Women's Society of Christian Service and the Wesleyan Service Guild.

In June 1973, Trinity WSCS had a special service celebrating the past, and an observance for the future, affirming the belief in unity of purpose.

As always, the women were encouraged to be interested in mission, locally and worldwide, to assume leadership in various areas of the church and the society, and to be interested in women and their concerns throughout the world.

They now are United Methodist Women, one new inclusive organization for women in mission.

The last president of the Home Missionary Society was Mrs. Gertrude Genung. Mrs. Lorraine Rickenberg was the 1st president of the Women's Society of Christian Service. Mrs. Lois Williams was the first United Methodist Women's president.

Mrs. Lois Williams, United Methodist woman representative to the Centennial Committee, coordinated Sunday's program.

Church council offers Bicentennial musical

The Pomona Valley Council of Churches is participating in the Bicentennial by presenting a musical drama, "Song for a New World" to all interested churches in the valley.

The production, written by Don Mueller, will be presented May 2 at 7:30 p.m. in the First Baptist Church of Ontario.

The drama tells the story of Roger Williams and his wife, Mary. Through music and dialogue, the drama follows Williams as he decides to leave England in search of religious freedom. The story tells of the Puritans and their understanding of the meaning of freedom.

Participants in the drama include Ted Soto, who plays the leading role of Roger Williams. Cynthia Walker is his wife, Mary. Others sharing both musical and speaking roles include: Allene and Jess Clay, Laura and John Davidson, Tammy and Arthur Woodman, Otto Janca, Delwin Harbour, Barbara Totman, Greg Brendel, Dorothy Harbour and Michael Emmons.

The play is co-directed by Linda Walker Irby and Audrey Lightbody. Assisting with the production will be Al Grainger and Dorothy Roberson.

The performance is open to the public with a free will offering.

Campus chorale to sing

The Rolling Hills Covenant Campus Chorale will present its new musical, "Sonlife," on Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the sanctuary of the First United Methodist Church of Ontario.

The appearance is sponsored by the Junior High Fellowship of the church.

The singing group is composed of 40 college-age men and women who have traveled extensively in the past five years presenting musical programs around the country.

In addition to special performances, the chorale performs regularly in the Sunday morning services at the Rolling Hill Covenant Church.

Chaffey singers

The Chamber Singers at Chaffey High School in Ontario will perform April 29 at 8 p.m. in Lyman Hall of the Thatcher Music building at Pomona College in Claremont.

Seating is reserved and may be obtained by calling the school's music department at 986-2711, Ext. 248.

Change in Catholic spirit

NEW YORK (AP) — Noting that the words, "minister" and "ministry" are used increasingly in the Roman Catholic Church, the national Jesuit magazine, Amercia, says it reflects a "transformed experience" of church service.

It used to be that "priests did the important ministry" and others simply aided the priests, the magazine says editorially, but now Catholics have begun recapturing the "call of all Christians to a spirit-led ministry of service."

Valley churches

Pomona First Presbyterian

First Presbyterian Church in Pomona will celebrate its 93rd anniversary on Sunday, May 2, when the guest preacher will be the Rev. Ralph Waite, who portrays the father on the television show "The Waltons."

He will speak at the church's 10:30 a.m. worship service.

Union Missionary Baptist

An installation service for the Rev. Samuel W. Jarnagin will be held Sunday at 3 p.m. at the First Union Missionary Baptist Church in Pomona.

The message for the service will be given by the Rev. Louis Perkins of Los Angeles.

Christ the King Lutheran

The Rev. Ed Grothe of Christ the King Lutheran Church in Walnut will be the guest speaker at the 9 a.m. worship service of the Peace Lutheran Church in Pomona.

Rev. Grothe will be substituting for the Rev. Ed Krueger, pastor, who will be the guest speaker at the Zion Lutheran Church in Glendale.

First Lutheran Church

Baptisms will be performed and new members received at the 9 a.m. service Sunday at the First Lutheran Church in Pomona.

Six adults and children are to be baptized, according to Pastor Norbert J. Boer. A group of individuals is to be received into membership.

James Hamilton will be vocal soloist for the service. Pastor Boer's sermon topic will be "The Continuing Victory."

"To Russia With Love," a film, will be shown in Fellowship Hall at 7 p.m. by a group of Underground Evangelism.

Some members of the church's couples club are on retreat this weekend at Vail Lake.

Top students to receive honors

Five outstanding high school seniors will be honored at the Sunday worship service of the Good Shepherd Lutheran Church in Claremont.

Lutheran Student Commitment Award certificates from California Lutheran College in Thousand Oaks will be presented at the 11 a.m. service to congregation members Cindy Myers, Paul Beasom, Philip Datner, Craig Hildebrand and Scott Magee.

Each award includes $100 which can be applied on tuition at the Lutheran college.

After a barbecue potluck dinner at 5:30 p.m., the Rev. and Mrs. Merrill Lenox of Claremont will show slides and report on the recent World Council of Churches Assembly in Africa.

The church pastor, the Rev. Lloyd E. Jacobson, and the congregation's lay delegate, Russell Collins, will attend the 15th annual convention of the Pacific Southwest Synod of the Lutheran Church of America in Los Angeles from Thursday to May 2.

WHEREAS, the real property hereinafter described and located at 905 Harvard Avenue, City of Claremoht, County of Los Angeles, California is not needed as a school site or part of a school site, therefore be it

BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED, that it is the intention of this Board to sell the said property in accordance with the provisions of the Education Code of the State of California, and upon the following terms:

1. The minimum bid acceptable is $25,000.
2. Acceptance and award shall be on the basis of the highest amount paid to the district exclusive of interest paid if terms are requested by the bidder. This amount shall be determined by deducting commission, if any, from the gross bid. The Board reserves the right to reject any and all bids.
3. Bids shall be made on a form prescribed by the District available at the Education Center, Claremont Unified School District, 2080 North Mountain Avenue, Claremont, California 91711.
4. A broker's commission may be paid in an amount not to exceed 6% of the highest acceptable bid, and as outlined in Sections 16057, 16061 and 16062 of the Education Code.
5. If a broker's commission is involved in the sale, the District shall be liable to pay the commission only after the close of escrow.

7. Each bidder smitting a written or oral bid shall supply with his bid a certified or cashier's check in the amount of $2,500. The checks of unsuccessful bidders will be returned, but the check of the successful bidder shall be retained until escrow instructions are executed by the Claremont Unified School District and the successful bidder. The check shall then be deposited into escrow as part of the purchase price of the property along with an additional check to bring the total down payment to 10% of the successful bid. In the event the successful bidder refuses or fails to enter into an escrow, the bid deposit shall be retained by the Claremont Unified School District.
8. The Board shall have the right, within five (5) days of execution of an "Agreement to Buy and Sell", to demand of Buyer evidence of financial responsibility which evidence shall be delivered to the Board within five (5) days of demand. If Buyer should fail to deliver satisfactory evidence of responsibility or (if the Board shall determine upon such evidence and any other information within fourteen (14) days of delivery that Buyer is not responsible, the Board shall have the right, in its discretion, to reject the bid and cancel the Agreement to Buy and Sell and will return the bid security.

10. The sale shall be consummated by the signing, at the time the Board of Education accepts the bid, of an "Agreement to Buy and Sell", by the Claremont Unified School District, as "Seller", and by the bidder who submits the highest acceptable bid, as "Buyer", which form of agreement is on file in the district administration office.
11. A preliminary Title Report will be available for inspection of interested parties prior to the date for the opening of bids in the Education Center, Claremont Unified School District, 2080 North Mountain Avenue, Claremont, California 91711.
12. The Agreement to Buy and Sell shall contain the following terms and conditions. The Buyer may add other terms and conditions or may substitute other terms and conditions as may be mutually agreeable provided that the Board shall determine that the Agreement to Buy and Sell is not rendered less favorable to the District thereby.

I ESCROW
(a) Within twenty (20) days after execution of the Agreement to Buy and Sell an escrow shall be opened at a mutually acceptable bonded escrow company.
(b) Within five (5) days of opening of escrow, the Seller shall deposit Buyer's bid security.
(c) The term of the escrow shall be sixty (60) days. If at the end of such period Buyer requests Seller for an extension, Seller may, if satisfied that Buyer has proceeded in good faith and that an extension would probably enable the escrow to close, grant an extension or extensions totaling not more than sixty (60) days.
(d) Buyer shall pay for recording of the Deed and one-half of the escrow fee. Seller shall pay for one-half of the escrow fee and for all of the Policy of Title insurance and for Revenue Stamps.
(e) Upon failure of the escrow to close, as specified in (c) above, the Seller may cancel the Agreement to Buy and Sell.
(f) In the event of Buyer's failure to comply with these conditions, Seller shall be entitled to rescind the Agreement to Buy and Sell and the deposit less all costs of escrow and advertising incurred by the Seller shall be returned to the Buyer.

II TERMS
Should the acceptable bid provide for an installment purchase the following shall constitute the terms and conditions:
(a) The down payment shall be the bid deposit of $2,500 plus an additional amount to bring the total deposited to 10% of the successful bid.
(b) Buyer shall deliver to Seller through escrow its negotiable instrument consisting of a Note and Deed of Trust for the remaining principal balance.
(c) The balance of the purchase price shall be paid within three (3) years from the date of the close of escrow as follows:
(1) Buyer shall make at least three (3) equal annual payments on the principal plus accrued interest on the unpaid balance of the purchase price. The first payment shall be made on the first anniversary of the close of escrow. Interest shall accrue on the unpaid balance of the purchase price at the rate of 8% per annum commencing with the close of escrow.
(2) Buyer shall have the right to prepay any amount without penalty. Any payment shall be credited first to payment of accrued interest.
(d) Buyer shall agree to and indemnify and hold harmless the district, its officers, agents and employees from every claim or demand made and every liability loss, damage or expense of any nature whatsoever which may be incurred by reason of liability for damages for (1) death or bodily injuries to persons, (2) injury to or loss or theft of property, (3) design defects, or (4) any other loss, damage or expense sustained by the Buyer or any other person upon the property or in connection with remodeling or improvements to the property.

Ramona Pageant: where the desert is its stage

Shelby Lyman on chess

A letter to Bobby Fischer

Dear Bobby,

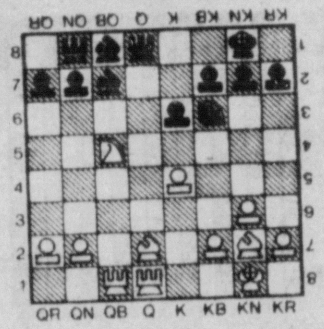
Life is short and time's a-fleeting. A great chess-player who does not play chess becomes a phantom of himself.

History leaves no man unscathed. Nor is there absolute protection for anyone from unfair slurs and exploitation by others. But these annoyances should run off your back like water.

The play is the thing. Bring your great fighting spirit back to the chessboard. Millions will cheer you on, game by game, win lose or draw.

Sincerely yours,
Shelby Lyman

ALBERT



GULKO

WHITE WINS A PIECE

(Solution below)

BEGINNER'S CORNER — Hint and explanation: Albert's last rank is weak and the defending black bishop itself vulnerable.

A chicken comes home to roost

Immediately after the World Championship match of 1972, "Church's Fried Chicken First Chess Tournament" was held in San Antonio, Texas. Anatoly Karpov, Tigran Petrosian, and Lajos Portisch shared first place.

Bobby Fischer who attended briefly as a spectator derisively referred to the play of his fellow chess professionals as "chicken chess".

Since then, ironically, Fischer, a great fighter when he does play, has not himself made a single move over the chessboard. And Karpov has gone on from triumph to triumph-unto the world championship itself.

Here is Anatoly's first round win over countryman Raphael Vaganian in the recent tournament in Skopje Yugoslavia. Karpov played a brilliant game with a beautifully conceived pawn sacrifice and a wonderfully executed attack on Vaganian's king.

Karpov is one chicken with something to crow about!

It happened in Pomona

In trying times such as we are now experiencing, wouldn't it be nice if improving the welfare of Pomona could be as easily accomplished as it was in 1892? That was the year, according to an editorial in The Pomona Weekly Times, when this city's greatest problem was a lack of concern on the part of local citizens about how our community might appear to strangers. Never one to beat around the bush, the Times' Editor not only announced the problem but also presented the cure all in the very first sentence of his article.

"Every person interested in the welfare of this Valley and City should become a committee of one to improve the Pomona exhibit at the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce," he wrote. "Nearly everything there has an ancient look — so ancient as to be unattractive in every sense. The exhibits on display from other localities are better, and thus ours is made to appear to the worst advantage. Our exhibit of fruits is limited in variety and not bright and fresh; and we have no corn, wheat, pumpkins, vegetables, alfalfa, etc., as most others have. In so far as the exhibits in the Chamber of Commerce influence the movements of home seekers, any one of the many displays there would get their attention before that of Pomona."

But in all justice to our pioneer forefathers, there is some reason to suppose that maybe they weren't as lacking in civic pride as that 1892 Times editorial would seem to indicate. In fact, you have only to check the same day's newspaper and you will find that in certain areas Pomona's civic leaders were going all out to improve this city's image.

"Pomona has a brand new street sprinkler," the item reads, "a $400 one. It throws water in all directions but backwards."

Antique wise Q. and A.

By DOROTHY HAMMOND

QUESTION: Can you tell me what these hanging scales were used for and their value? We found the scales among some of my grandfather's keepsakes. Their overall length is 11½ inches, and the large oval center measures 3x3½ inches. With the exception of the halfmoon brass portion attached to the center oval which indicates the poundage, all parts are iron. The wieght range is from 20 pounds up to 400 pounds, and the only marking is the world "Germany." Your help in identifying these scales will be appreciated. C.A.L.

ANSWER: You have an interesting example of "hider's" scales, used on the Western frontier for weighing animal skins — usually buffalo. The hides were in great demand during the last century for blankets, robes and clothing. Today, hider's scales are an extremely popular Western collectible with prices ranging from $35 up to the $50 figure in the Western states.

QUESTION: I would like information about my old wooden Schoenhut doll (girl) which has sleepy eyes and is 16 inches tall, and dressed. I would like to know what such dolls are selling for and anything you can tell me about it. Mrs. M.M.D. (Northeast)

ANSWER: Schoenhut dolls like you describe in excellent condition are being priced around the $300 figure.

Albert Schoenhut — a German emigrant — began producing wooden toys and dolls at his Philadelphia factory in 1872. According to family tradition, Albert's grandfather, Anton, had been a carver of wooden dolls in Wurttemberg at the end of the 18th century and was succeeded in the business by Albert's father, Frederick Schoenhut.

Albert, born in 1850, came to America when he was 17 years old. After working for others here, he established his own toy factory, and his first order was from Strasburger, Pfeiffer & Co. It is believed that the first dolls produced by Schoenhut were the circus clowns for the Humpty Dumpty Circus.

Although Albert filed the application for his swivel, spring-jointed dolls in 1909, the patent was not granted until 1911. Labeled "All-Wood Perfection Art Dolls," his dolls were advertised to be the strongest and most indestructible dolls ever made. Their wooden parts were painted in enamel oil colors, and were guaranteed washable.

By 1912, many new models were added to the line, and by 1913 infant dolls with curved limbs — called natural arms and legs — appeared for the first time.

Albert Schoenhut died in 1912, and was succeeded by his six sons. During the depression of the '20s, the quality of the Schoenhut dolls declined, when steel joints replaced rubber cord for stringing, and later the dolls had cloth bodies instead of wooden; however, wooden heads were retained. The business was discontinued in 1925.

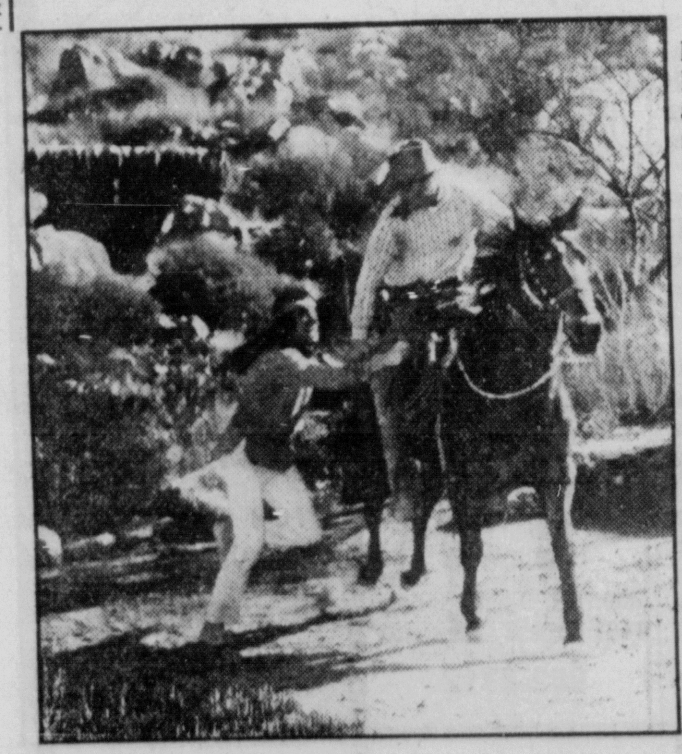
RAMONA PAGEANT . . . a traditional attraction as spectacular as ever

Ramona (Susan Hunter) pleads with Senora Moreno (Judy Oltman), while Felipe (Charlie Riendeau) watches the scene.



Early California lives again in the Ramona play. Here Alessandro (Frank Sorell) leaps at the Sheriff (White McColery).

"My story begins over 100 years ago," says the peppery, white-haired Spaniard, Juan Canito, overseer of the Camulos Rancho, peering at the 6,000 people seated on the side of a mountain near Hemet.

Thus opens the Ramona Outdoor Play, sometimes known as the Ramona Pageant, a two-city theater piece whose tragic love story, historical authenticity and spectacular pageantry have made its name known throughout the world.

The dramatic presentation opens in the amphitheater at 2:30 this afternoon, to play at that hour Saturdays and Sundays for three weekends.

The story of the pageant began in 1920, when the late Burdette Raynor was named secretary of the Hemet Chamber of Commerce and sought a way to attract people to the tiny community. Long an admirer of Helen Hunt Jackson's sentimental novel, "Ramona," he obtained dramatization rights, contracted with pageant expert and writer Garnet Holme to adapt it to the stage, and saw the first presentation in 1923. Since then more than 1.2 million people have viewed the production.

It is quite a production. The pageant is staged on the side of a small canyon, with astonishing acoustical properties, south of Hemet. The acre of stage is studded with the boulders, cactus, vines, scrub oak and brush of the California desert. Across the "stage" gallop mounted horsemen; a flock of sheep is sent baa-ing down the "aisle" in clouds of dust. A Spanish fiesta held at the reconstructed ranch house involves dozens of costumed actors, singers, dancers and musicians.

The pageant is a non-profit enterprise whose original budget of $2,500 in 1923 has risen to $110,000 this year. The Ramona Pageant Association, made up of directors of the chambers of commerce of Hemet and San Jacinto, holds in trust for the two cities 160 acres of land and improvements worth more than $500,000 — all paid for by receipts from the outdoor play.

Each production involves 350 performers and that many more people in costuming, makeup, ushering, transportation, parking and hundreds of other necessary tasks. The cast and stage crew are drawn from the two cities and neighboring areas. Only two — the stars, Ramona and Allessandro — are paid.

This year's Ramona is Pomona-born Susan Carol Hunter, professional actress and singer, currently a student at Occidental College.

Alessandro is played by Frank Sorell, star of stage and television, who played the role from 1967 to 1971 and now returns. Directing the production are professional actor Maurice Jara, who was raised in Pomona, and his wife, Hilda, former director of the now defunct Padua Hills Theater in Claremont. (Jara played Alessandro for 15 years.)

The Ramona Pageant is a labor of love for the people of Hemet and San Jacinto, an annual community enterprise that brings them fun, satisfaction and pride in recapturing an important segment of early American history. The events of "Ramona" actually took place in this area. The Camulos hacienda stood nearby; a well-known store and corral were featured in the novel; the murder of Juan Diego (Alessandro in the play) is recorded in the docket of the San Jacinto township court (now part of the Hemet-San Jacinto Municipal Court).

For the people of the two desert communities, each spring is "pageant time," and the customary sellout crowds at all six presentations testify to the claim that "Ramona" is California's greatest outdoor play.

Alessandro (Frank Sorell) questions Juan (Watson Gilmore Jr.) in a scene from the Ramona Outdoor play.

ON THE COVER

In a natural amphitheater in a canyon south of Hemet, the 49th season of the Ramona Outdoor Play will be presented at 2:30 this afternoon and Saturdays and Sundays for three weekends. The events of Helen Hunt Jackson's "Ramona" actually took place in this area. At top, Father Salvadierra (Robert Taylor) counsels Senora Moreno (Judy Oltman). Below, Father Gaspara (Dale Brusewitz) protects the Indian, Ysidro (John La Chappa) from cowboys Farrar (Dusty Bowen, with gun) and Jake (Tom Morlan).

Maurice Jara directs the Ramona pageant. His wife, Hilda, co-director, was formerly director of Padua Hills Theater.

By STEVE ELLINGSON

Now here's a way to recycle egg shells and make them beautiful conversation pieces for year-round display. Simply adding baubles, bangles, beads — even fabric and small pictures — can give you exciting "boutique" eggs that will enhance any decor. Our plans call for glittery (but economical) spangles that are easily attached.

Over 100 pictures in our step-by-step patterns take you through the entire process from emptying the egg to mounting it — like those creations shown here with actress Susan Brown. Along with the complete materials lists, our pattern even shows you how to create Christmas ornaments—plus hot air balloon mobiles. So if you've always admired egg ornaments but felt they would take more time and talent than you possess, let us "egg" you on to try it. We've made it so easy!

To obtain the Egg Decorating and Ornaments Pattern, 524, send $2.50 (includes first class postage and handling) by cash, check or money order to Steve Ellingson, c/o:

By 1779 the British navy suffered from a dwindling supply of tall masts for its ships, previously cut from pine forests in Maine. British General MacLean was sent to Penobscot Bay to collect timber. An expedition of 1,000 patriot troops under General Lovell left Boston in July to attack the British, but Lovell lacked sufficient strength and the attack never came off. After a 47-day stalemate, the Americans were frightened off by British reinforcements and a few were eventually court martialed for their negligence, The World Almanac relates.

Stamps in the news

By SYD KRONISH
AP Newsfeatures

The U.S. Bicentennial theme is still making philatelic history as nations throughout the world continue to issue stamps honoring the 200th anniversary of our independence.

The latest commemorative set comes from the Caribbean island of Antigua and it consists of seven new stamps and a souvenir sheet. The set portrays ships of the Revolutionary era, military men and equipment, and flags of the period.

The lowest value shows two privates in Clark's Regiment while the next highest depicts riflemen in the Pennsylvania militia. Other stamps illustrate an engraved American powder horn used by the riflemen during the Revolutionary War, a Maryland troop issue water bottle, flags with the Rattlesnake and Liberty Tree designs, the American ship "Montgomery" and the Continental Navy sloop "Ranger."

Each stamp bears the inscription "U.S. Independence Bi-Centennial" at the bottom beneath the name Antigua. The souvenir sheet displays the official Congress flag.

When the U.S. Postal Service recently issued the sheet of 50 commemorative stamps honoring each state of the U.S. as part of the Bicentennial celebration, the adhesive for the state of Tennessee depicted the state flag upside down! Thus, last month, the Tennessee Legislature petitioned the Postal Service to correct the error and

Tune In SATURDAY NIGHT

Get ready — you're going to hear a lot about the Bay City Rollers. This group has the best chance to take over where the Beatles left off. They come from Edinburgh instead of Liverpool, and there are five of them instead of four, but mark our words, the hysteria is going to be the same. The Rollers are already a smash in Great Britain, Europe, and Australia, and it's just time now, and a few more hits like today's, before they're the biggest thing in U.S.Rock. Another major factor is that they've got Sid Bernstein, who promoted the Beatles when they first came here and who said recently, "The first time I saw them I knew these boys were gold." Some critics say the Roller sound is too bubble gum, but Tom Paton, the group's manager and also from Scotland, points out that the Beatles were pretty bubbly themselves at the beginning. Paton says the Rollers will grow musically just the way the Beatles did.

recall all such stamps already issued. The official resolution requested a new series of stamps be issued with the Tennessee state flag portrayed properly.

Will Postmaster General Benjamin Bailor do the Tennessee Waltz and order the recall with a new (and correct) illustration, thus making the mistaken stamps a valuable item? Maybe the mail is late in arriving and he hasn't received the petition yet.

Three important anniversaries — the Bicentennial this year, the Centennial of 1876, and the 100th anniversary of the telephone — are linked on cancelled commemorative covers issued at Stamp Expo '76 by the International Stamp Collectors Society. The hand cancellation franking the 13-cent Telephone Centennial commemorative depicts a telephone. Superimposed on its earpiece is a Liberty Bell and the slogan "The enduring message is freedom."

The cachet on one of the covers is a reproduction of a painting which features Independence Hall — also the site of the Centennial Exposition where Alexander Graham Bell first showed his invention. The cachet on the other cover is a full color rendering of the enlarged pictorial cancellation.

The set of the two covers is available for $3.50 postpaid from: Bicentennial, International Stamp Collectors Society, P.O. Box 1693, Hollywood, Calif., 90028. Allow four to six weeks for delivery.

DID YOU KNOW THAT ... the first postage stamp to honor the Olympic Games was issued by the U.S. for the 1932 Winter Games held at Lake Placid, N.Y. (Feb. 4-13). It was a 2-center depicting a skier in action ... Great Britain does not print its name on any of its stamps.

It's the Bicentennial, so the sign stays up

MODESTO (AP) — Confronted by women clutching miniature American flags, the city council agreed to waive a ban on temporary signs so businesses can put up Bicentennial displays.

The women crowded the council chamber to protest a citation issued against their beauty operator for draping a 25-foot banner in front of his business.

The red, white and blue banner proclaimed "Happy Birthday America" with the lettering flanked by American flags.

But someone complained that it violated Modesto's sign ordinance. A citation followed which beauty shop owner Kenneth Sutherland appealed.

"I love my country, my city and I'd like to leave the sign up," Sutherland told the council this week.

The council decided to waive the rules through July so businesses can have patriotic displays during the nation's 200th birthday celebration.

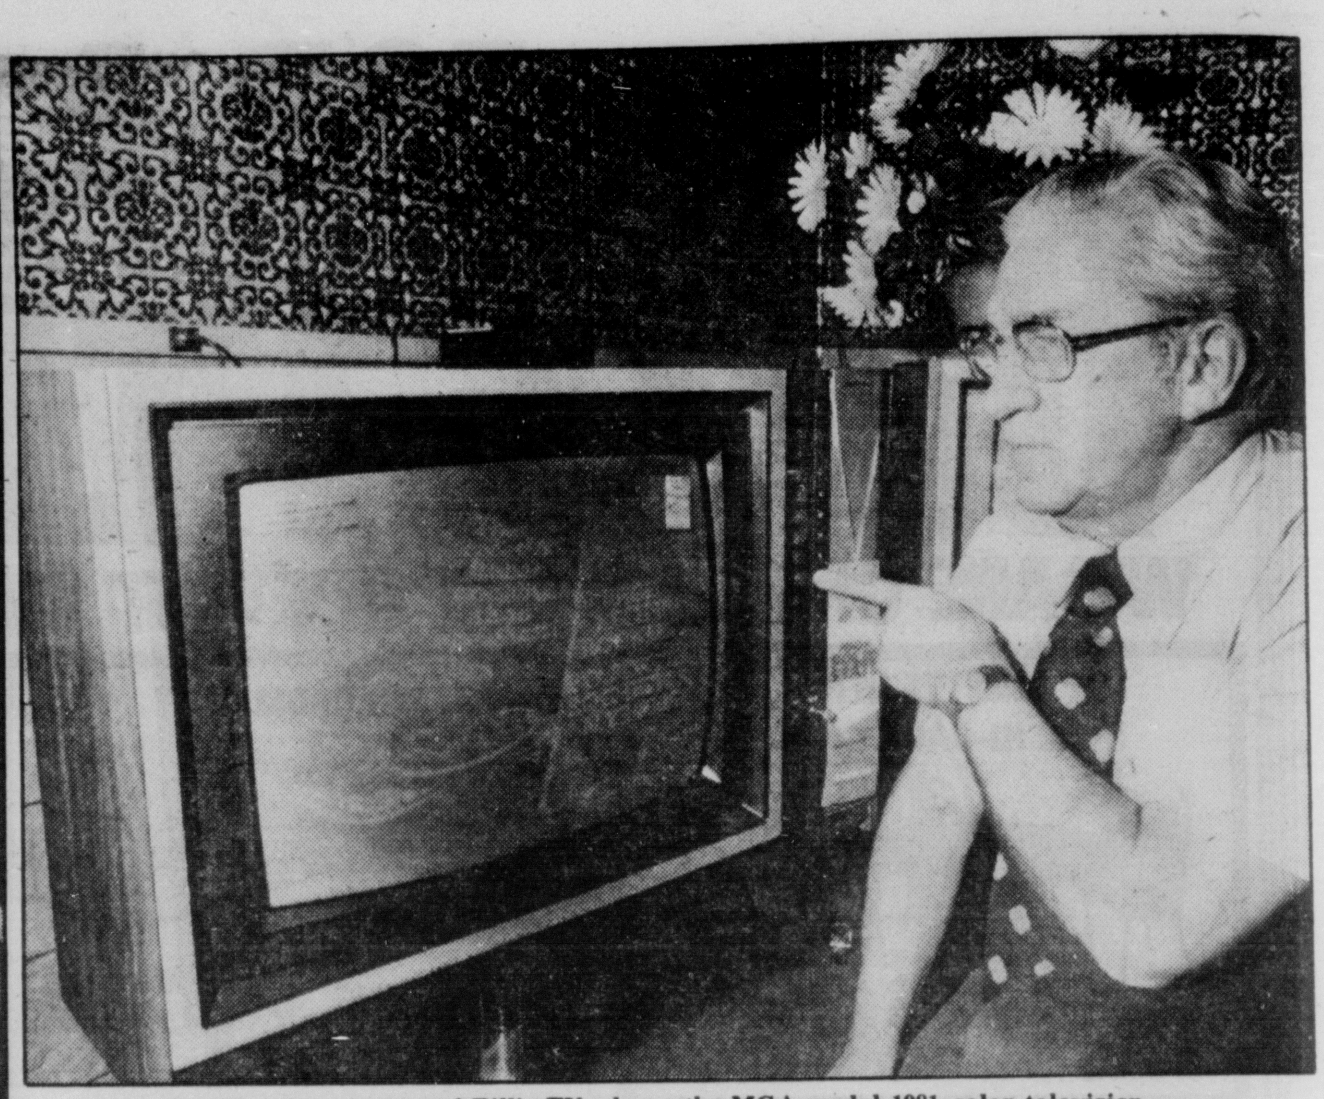
Sales manager John Hamilton in the MGA display section.



Vic Hamilton, owner of Bill's TV, shows the MGA model 1981 color television.

Family operation celebrates 20th anniversary

Bill's TV in Pomona is celebrating its 20th anniversary this year by maintaining its tradition as a family-operated business interested in full service to the customer.

"Friends, customers and friends again," is the way sales manager John Hamilton, son of owner Vic Hamilton, explains it.

"We want people to come in, have a cup of coffee and tell us what their problems are — what they're looking for," said Vic Hamilton.

Whatever the customer wants he can expect to find at Bill's TV, which is located at 183 W. Holt Ave.

The shop sells new and used television sets, rents out sets and has a repair shop.

"It's four businesses in one," said Vic Hamilton. "The big factor is that we do our own work. We repair everything we sell ourselves."

Brand name television sets offered at Bill's TV are Zenith, MGA and General Electric. The store also carries stereo equipment, radios and accessories, and will soon be offering citizens' band radios.

The store was opened 20 years ago by Bill Jaep, who operated it until two years ago when Vic Hamilton and his wife, Lila, purchased it.

At the time of the purchase, Vic Hamilton had worked in the store for eight years with Jaep.

In addition to the Hamiltons, other employes of the shop are Marie Coe, bookkeeper; Bob Peterson, outside service representative; Art Gonzales, repair shop foreman; Ed McDaniel, repairman; and Bill Southworth.

The store's repair shop has a policy of offering free inspection and estimate of repair costs on all television sets. The customer need only bring the set in for this service.

Store hours at Bill's TV are 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday, until 8 p.m. on Fridays and until 4:30 p.m. on Saturdays.

"This has always been a family operation and still is," said Vic Hamilton. "We do the best we can for all our customers."

The tale of the pig-footed bandicoot

Was there really such a creature?

By JOHN BARBOUR
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Its footprints — wherever they are — are like those of a small deer. Yet is is no larger than a rabbit, if indeed it exists at all.

It lives, or used to, in Australia. Or parts of Australia. It was last seen some 65 years ago — perhaps.

If ever there was a maybe-creature, it is the pig-footed bandicoot, a gentle marsupial which carries its wee young in its wee pouch, like the kangaroo.

It occupies less than one page in the Red Data Book on Mammals, the world listing of rare and endangered species.

The catalog freely admits that almost everything known about the pig-foot is hearsay and probably not admissible in court.

Its status is "indeterminate," which means that not enough is known about its presence to be sure that it has one.

The pig-footed bandicoot first appeared to the scientific mind when General Major Mitchell spotted the creature on his expedition to the Darling and Murray Rivers of New South Wales in 1836. It's been in trouble ever since.

The frightened, if historic, creature fled into a hollow tree, and when Mitchell's native guides retrieved it, it probably lost its tail in the process. It was thus presented to zoologists who dubbed it Chaeropus ecaudatus which means "tailless" pig-footed bandicoot.

In fact, one scientist in the Australian wilds drew a picture of the pig-footed bandicoot from memory, omitting the tail, and gave it to natives in an attempt to gather more specimens. The natives dutifully went into the woods and caught other, similar bandicoots — not the pig-footed variety — and to make them conform to the drawing, dutifully lopped off their tails.

The pig-foot is one of some 17 species and subspecies of bandicoots in Australia and New Guinea. It has a trunk-like nose, pointed ears and long, slender limbs.

Its pouch opens to the rear, and the young climb in and out posterially.

It lives on vegetation — onions, roots and so forth — and insects.

In response to an inquiry, W.P. Crowcroft, director of the Taronga Zoo in New South Wales, writes:

"I have made inquiries of the most knowledgeable mammal people here and they all confirm that the animal has not been seen since about 1910. There is a story that aborigines saw it in the late 1920s but it is of course dubious and not supported by a specimen. This is because they eat anything they catch, of course."

Family's addiction to collecting cars, antiques a problem

BICKLETON, Wash. (AP) — Two-car and three-car garages aren't all that rare in affluent America, but what is the 75-car family to do?

A few years back Laurence Whitmore built a 5,000-square-foot building to house the best of his automobile collection, but he acquires cars at such a pace that the structure was filled before he finished it.

Whitmore's wheat ranch filled with cars and his 26-room house filled with antiques are less a symbol of affluence and more a symptom of addiction to collecting.

"Every time a relative passed away we'd end up with another house full of furniture. You can't sell something you've been given, so we'd just make room for it," he says.

Whitmore is partial to Studebakers, which he's been gathering since the line went out of production in 1961. He and his oldest son, Jack, have a model made every year after 1947 but still suffer "a few gaps" from 1923 to 1947.

They even collected an old school bus, which is loaned once a year to the local high school students for their "senior sneak."

Meanwhile, as the autos accumulated in the yard, Ada Ruth Whitmore was filling the house, preserving the history of the prosperous dryland wheat farming area that was first settled early in the 1900s.

The collection includes rolltop desks, marble-topped dressers, clocks and an entire room filled with stained-glass windows.

"We had to do something," she said. "We had all those rooms upstairs filled with stuff and four kids sleeping in one room."

Whitmore then built a 960-square-foot concrete structure dubbed the "Whoop and Holler" museum, and again the collecting outpaced the construction.

"You wouldn't believe the stuff people give us," Laurence says. Not long ago someone left an antique cobbler's bench in the back of his pickup while it was parked in town.

"Never did figure out who brought us that," he said.

"Laurence wanted the bell from the Mabton Church several years ago, and he had to tear down the whole building to get it," says Mrs. Whitmore.

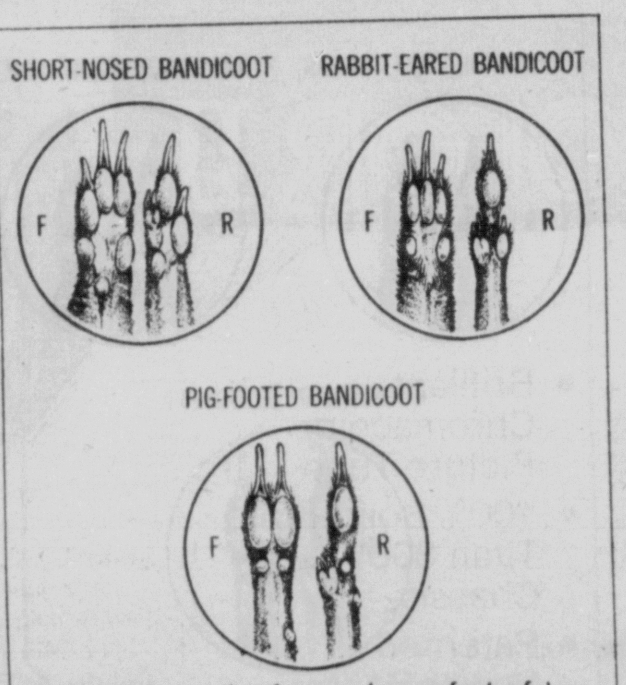
But bargain hunters beware. The Whitmore rule is look, but don't try to buy.

"We have a lot of stuff we're proud of and enjoy letting people see it," says Whitmore.

Enough is enough, however, and one of these days the Whitmores are going to stop collecting.

One of these days.

"We've got two trucks, an old wood stove and a bunch of furniture people are waiting for us to come and pick up," says Mrs. Whitmore.



Illustrated are the fore and rear feet of two common species of bandicoot, above, and, below, of the pig-footed bandicoot – with the distinctive cloven forefoot for which the elusive little marsupial is named.

Divorces still climb

The National Center for Health Statistics said Monday that more than one million marriages ended in divorce in 1975, up 4.3 per cent from 1974.

CHS to hold open house

By DEBBIE ANSELL
Claremont Correspondent

Claremont High School will hold its annual Open House Tuesday from 7 to 9 p.m.

The activities will include many demonstrations by students, as well as an opportunity for classroom visitation. A special highlight will be the presentation of the Parent-Faculty Association Teacher of the Year and Scholarship awards.

The CHS gym will be the site of gymnastic, badminton and volleyball demonstration. Other athletic demonstrations on the campus will include wrestling and weightlifting.

Many CHS student groups have scheduled performances throughout the evening. Programs will be presented by the band, Jazzettes, rally squad and folk dance groups, as well as several choral groups.

The annual science fair will also be held. During the past few months, CHS students have prepared science projects for display and judging. These projects covering a wide array of scientific topics will be open for inspection to all interested persons.

A new telephone system was recently installed on the CHS campus. Persons wishing to call the school office may do so by dialing 624-9053.

Girls less fit at 16 than at eight

The average 16-year-old girl is not nearly as strong as she was at eight, relative to her body size, and she is even considerably less fit than she was at 14.

The reason for her physical deterioration is lack of body use, or exercise, according to an article by Laurence E. Morehouse and Leonard Gross, authors of the current best-selling book, "Total Fitness in 30 Minutes a Week."

It is only a myth that women are inherently weaklings, the authors say. Girls' muscles are as trainable as boys', and "use makes the organ" applies to the entire body. When it's used it gains strength, suppleness and endurance. When the body is not used it stiffens, weakens and eteriorates.

But the condition is not irreversible. Girls can almost immediately achieve physical fitness and become more successfuly athletes, feel peppier for hours longer during the day and have reserves of energy for social hours, according to the authors.

They outline a plan that targets the three expressions of fitness that concern most teen-age girls: carriage, weight and level of energy.

Carriage (posture) is the simplest to maintain: Concentrate on two points, your breastbone and your pelvis, the large hip bones you feel just below your waist. Raise your breastbone ever so slightly and your head will sit in its proper position, your shoulders will fall gracefully to the side.

Level your pelvis by carrying your navel as high off the ground as it will comfortably go and tightening your stomach and buttock muscles.

Weight: The only way to convert a fat body to a lean one is to exchange fat for muscular tissue.
